Babies in Summer
It is said that the most hazardous occupation in the world is being a baby, but it strikes me there is a still more dangerous occupation and that is being a little baby during the summer months.

The hot summer months seem to be especially trying on infants and children. Most sicknesses and the majority of deaths among children take place in summer.

With approach of warm weather, every experienced mother becomes a little timid and fearsome about her children, but it is not timidity or fear that will help her—it is knowing what to do that counts.

The child in summer needs special attention on a few items, not numerous or difficult. One is guarding children against flies and mosquitoes.

The fly is positively known to transmit no fewer than fourteen diseases—among them infantile diarrhea.

The mosquito, in that it is a blood-sucking insect whose head acts like a hypodermic syringe, exposes the child to diseases of a serious nature.

The baby's room should be screened, insects that make their appearance in the nursery should be destroyed.

Of course, all of this would profit little if the baby's food, eating utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., were left exposed to flies and dirt.

Dress the infant for the weather.
The small child has less skin surface per pound of bulk than does the adult. It cannot radiate its heat so readily. Mothers tend to over-dress their children. Light colored garments throw off more heat; loose-fitting garments allow more air to come in contact with the body.

The child in summer time needs less food, also.

A daily bath and three or four spongings will go far in keeping the child healthy and comfortable.
Plenty of water on the inside will also prove beneficial.

Two of the main siege guns of the Pacific Coast league last summer.
Smead Jolley and Wally Berger, have transferred their activities to major league parks this year without any loss of ability to hit the home run targets.

They have been hitting a lot of big leagues pitching harder and center than they did in the class double-A twirling. Jolley has begun to slug heavily for the White Sox after a slow start. Berger has been the sensation of whatever the Boston Braves have been accomplishing in the National league race. This pair collected 75 home runs together on the coast last summer and have already passed the 30 mark this year with the half-way mark not yet reached.

When the national open golf championship last was held in Minneapolis, over the Minnikanda course, the crack amateur of this day, Chick Evans, led the field and set record of 288 that still stands. That was back in 1916, the year in which Evans also won the national amateur championship and the spot light now is on another ace of amateurs, Bobby Jones, the ace of them all.

While he is making a year of it, abroad and at home, Jones may break the Open record of Evans or force someone else to do it in order to win.

Harvard has closed one of the best of its post-war athletic years, especially so far as conflict with the Elis of Yale is concerned. The Crimson varied quite the wash of another great Yale eight at New London but this was the only major sport setback of the 1929-30 campaign for the agile lads of Cambridge. Football honors rested with Harvard last fall and the Crimson track team beat Yale, besides furnishing the only Eastern challenge to the sweep of fast western athletes in the intercollegiate championships. In baseball and hockey, Harvard tied the Elis.
And up around the yard at Cambridge, they already are talking about what will happen next fall when Barry Wood starts ruffling the sort of passes the baffled Yale, Michigan and Army last year.

Major league clubs, most of them anxious to gain all possible strength for the big mid-summer drive, have raided the Pacific Coast league territory for talent much earlier than usual. The Giants bought up Harry Reisenburt, sensational outfielder of the Missions. The Yankees have acquired Mery Hog of Sacramento.
Several clubs have sent their scouts in search of Frank Creswell, an infielder of the Erie Seals. "Buster" Chatham, Portland third sacker, has already made the cross-country jump to the Boston Braves and is doing a lot of clean-up slugging along with Wally Berger, ex-Los Angeles home run artist.

Miss Margaret Fisher, of Hot Lake, is a guest at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. William Haefor, who recently purchased the J. F. Breshears property in the north end of town, moved here from their home in High valley this week.

L. P. Lantz installed a new grading and packing belt in the Cooperative Cherry Growers' building this week.
This belt will make it possible to put another crew at work at the height of the fruit season.

Mrs. A. G. Conklin and son, Albert, arrived home Wednesday evening.
They have been visiting their "uncle" and "brother," Philip J. Conklin, in Santa Barbara, Cal., and other relatives in Portland.

Imblerites Spend Day Hooking Salmon

By Mrs. Leitha Cleaver
(Observer Correspondent)

IMBLER, Ore. (Special)—A number of cars went from Imbler to Willows lake to celebrate the Fourth of July, while others went to Lostine to fish. A number of salmon have been caught from the Lostine creek resulting in Imbler fishermen. Some of the salmon weighed from 20 to 25 pounds.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Lydia Cleaver last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Miller of La Grande. Mrs. Miller's little grandson played the part of Cupid and presented the many lovely and useful gifts of Miss Cleaver.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and the dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tucker, of Walla Walla, motored to Imbler recently to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Tucker.

The concrete floor, where the Standard Oil tanks stood for several years, is being torn up and hauled away. Halber Rollins has taken the contract. Men have been blasting on it this week but have not completed the work.

Mr. Parker and children are visiting at the T. A. Wilson home for a few days. Mr. Parker's home is in Winthrop, Wash.

Word has been received here of the illness of the Rev. Mr. Lines but his recent word has been received to the effect that he is recovering rapidly. The Lines made their home here for several years and have a large circle of friends in this valley.

They now make their home in Ontario.

Mr. Fox, who has been under the care of a physician for some time, is believed to be improving. He is able to be around part of the time but not able to work.

J. E. Wheatley and niece, Mrs. Rose Black, stopped in Imbler Wednesday on business. They are representing the building and loan association of Salt Lake City. Mr. Wheatley made his last trip through here about three years ago.
