Tomatoes Higher; Car of Cherries Loaded At H. R.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 5 (AP)—Following the closing of trade for Fourth of July, wholesale butter and egg prices opened today at quotations unchanged. Demand for both products continued fair to good. Volume of egg receipts appears to be declining. The United States department of agriculture market news service reviewed conditions in the fruit and vegetable trade as follows: Tomatoes are higher, with light shipments from California this week, and good demand at California cities, which are taking a large proportion of the state's current production. Brokers' sales to jobbers were as high as $2.25, $2.50 for best originals yesterday and today. Hood River loaded their first straight car of cherries July 1, instead of last week as originally reported. Cove and Union, in Eastern Oregon, will soon move their crop, starting next week. The demand for cherries is not especially active at this time, either in Portland or in the east. Green corn is a bit cheaper, with moderate arrivals from Hood River and Mosier, in addition to The Dalles. California's watermelon shipments are rapidly decreasing, and higher shipping point prices are forecast by shippers. Continued cool weather at Portland prevents active consumer demand.

WHEAT PRICES LOWER

WINNIPEG, Man., July 5 (AP)—After an idle session on the Winnipeg market today, wheat prices finished with small fractions down from the previous close. Export business was limited and Russian millers reported buying cheap Russian wheat, but some fair seaboard buying stemmed a possible decline.

July was off quarter cent at 96 1/2 cents, while both October and December showed 1/2 cent losses at $1.00 1/4 to 1/2 and $1.02 1/2 to 1/2 respectively.

Cash wheat demand was light, and trading was consequently restricted to small quantities. Fair demand for low grade oats was noted in the coarse grain mart, but business was small due to lack of supply.

LISBON, July 5 (AP)—Owing to a shortage of flour the government today authorized the purchase of 48,200,000 pounds of foreign wheat for the requirements of the army. The Portuguese wheat crop has been badly damaged by storms.

Mass Education of Chinese Planned To Bring End to Country's Woes

By MORRIS J. HARRIS.

NANKING (AP)—Mass education as the best way of solving China's troubles, has been planned by the nationalist government.

A program calling for expenditure of $3,000,000,000 (gold) in 20 years has been adopted and, if things go well, it may be put into effect this year.

Whether all the principles that the scheme embodies can actually be carried out is something which even the enthusiastic educational authorities will not discuss. But they are unanimous in the opinion that the plan is the only way to bring an end to the civil wars which have wrecked the country.

Elementary education would be enforced for at least four years or its equivalent on every boy and girl. There are 40,000,000 of them in China.

The plan takes into consideration, moreover, the unhappy fact that the poorer Chinese can not always spare their children through four consecutive school years. Special classes would be arranged for such cases.

It is estimated that 1,400,000 teachers and 1,500,000 public school buildings would be needed. The existing middle schools are capable of furnishing only 200,000 teachers within the twenty year span so 1,500 normal schools are provided in the plan. Each of these would be required to turn out at least fifty qualified teachers every year.

Teachers for the normal schools would be obtained from schools of that type that already exist and from the government colleges and universities. Candidates for the places would also be given special training at teachers' institutes.

The problem of obtaining the 1,500,000 school buildings has received only secondary consideration. The government believes it would be able to transform into school rooms the numerous mansions and temples that have been closed by government decree.

If the great scheme succeeds, the returns in terms of money would be immeasurable. But beyond that would be the fact that China as a whole would begin to awaken from its 3,000 years of lethargy, an awakening which thus far has affected only the small fraction of its teeming millions who have come in contact with western ideas.

Dodges Talk of Pan-European Plan

GENEVA (AP)—While officials of the League of Nations were busy here exercising the utmost discretion in refraining from comment upon Aristide Briand's proposed federation of European states, Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary general, has found in league records something which he regards as pertinent to discussion of the scheme.

In receiving a delegation of the Federation of Nations Committee for European federation, which interested itself in M. Briand's idea, Sir Eric said it was not possible for him to express any opinion upon the French statesman's proposal. He recalled, however, that the league assembly in 1921 adopted a report which contained this passage: "Agreements between members of the league, tending to define or complete the engagements contained in the covenant for the maintenance of peace, or the promotion of international cooperation, may be regarded as of a nature likely to contribute to the progress of the league in the path of practical realization."

The secretary general in commenting diplomatically on this passage said discreetly that he regarded it as "worth very close attention."

Soviet Cleaning Up Plague Spot

BOKHARA, Uzbekistan (AP)—This ancient city, whose swamps, stagnant pools and polluted water supply made it for centuries one of the plague spots of Asia, is being cleaned up by the soviet government.

Enormous tanks, elevated on steel skeletons, are replacing the old surface reservoirs where, for a thousand years, the natives not only drew their drinking water, but bathed and washed their clothes.

A new drainage system is being installed which, it is hoped, will make the pernicious disease known as "Bokhara Button" a thing of the past.

Street sprinkling is still done by carriers who squirt water from pig skins. Eventually these relics of the past are also due to disappear.

Water is precious in this arid part of Central Asia. Housewives carry pitchers and jugs to the nearest water station and buy it by the quart or gallon as if it were milk or wine. The price is 10 kopecks per gallon, and while this figure roughly is as equivalent to a nickel, coins are none too plentiful and water is a top item in Representative budgets.

Several Union People Attend Wallowa Events

By Mrs. I. Z. Terrall (Observer Correspondent)

UNION (Special)—Unionites followed their various inclinations in celebrating Independence day. Several attended the celebrations in neighboring towns in Wallowa county while many others traveled the roads to their favorite fishing and camping haunts along the creeks. That many chose to celebrate at home was attested by the almost continuous bombardment of fire works that lasted through the day and gained in intensity as the night advanced. The day was the occasion for many family reunions and friendly gatherings.

The Fourth of July celebration did not detract from the popularity of the tennis courts. The Wilson families from Imbler held their reunion in the park adjoining the courts and there also indulged in their favorite summer diversion, tennis. Those in the party were Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Hannah Johnson of Imbler, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilson together with their families, Frank Parker and Esther and Charles of Wenatchee and Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Fox. Several outsiders joined them in the late afternoon to play tennis.

News of the death of Mrs. A. J. Selover in Portland about two weeks ago has just been reported in Union.
