Clark Wood Says

Many opera singers are said to have gone broke in the market crash; and in their case it doesn't help matters to change a note.

The Literary Digest wants to know if it is "actually possible to get what you want through prayer." All we can say is that Chicago racketeers seem to get what they want through praying.

"If you happen to be one of those who foolishly believe that women are not better shoppers than men, consider the cases of Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Grundy," remarks the Louisville Times.

New York's new dry chief says the padlock is the strongest weapon against the speakeasies. We assume that its mechanism does not respond to the whiskey.

Li Chung Yun of China is said to be 252 years old and living with his 21st wife. Oh, what a Li!

Oregon state veterinarian says that horse meat is often substituted for beef in hamburger. However, if you let your friend buy the sandwiches the horse is on him.

The 434 square miles embraced within the generous limits of Los Angeles are, according to what we conceive to be San Francisco opinion, just about the only things that are square about the place.

Big cities that have grown by leaps and bounds owe much to a pedestrian population trained in leaping and bounding.

Formerly on the free list, bricks now pay a duty of $1.25 per thousand—which will not keep Europe from tossing them.

Motorists drove into a bear on the Columbia River highway without serious consequences, although for both it must have certainly been an embarrassing moment.

"I see by the papers that a movie actress has been sued for $25,000 for slapping a man," said a sheik. "For half that amount she can kick me right in the face."

Small Son—I had a fight yesterday with the boy next door.
Parent—Yes, his father called at my office today about it.
Small Son—Well, I hope you came out as well as I did.
"Free Love" must be the kind you give when you don't get any in return.
Bill—What do you do when your deferred payments come due?
Sill—Me? I defer paying them.

"It's all right this time, but don't come down the drive at sixty miles an hour again."
"Yes, this is my farewell tour."
"Here you are, sir—two in the eighth row, please."
"Of course, madam, we will cheerfully refund your money."
"My youngster never says anything 'brilliant' or 'cute'."
"You're a dear, but I really don't dread a new coat this spring."

Proud Father—Don't you think it's about time the baby learned to say "Papa?"
Mother—Oh, no. I hadn't intended telling who you are until he becomes a little stronger.

In glancing over some automobile advertising, we found this: "Do you own yourself a new car?" Many could answer this question thusly: "No, we still owe the dealer for the old one!"

Henry Peck—Do you think you can make a good portrait of my wife?

WASHINGTON—If Wallace White, who was nominated by Maine Republicans the other day for the United States senate, clears all the hurdles, he will be no stranger on the senate side of the capitol.

It will be much like coming home to him. About 30 years ago he started out on his political career over there—as assistant clerk to the committee on commerce. Later on he was private secretary to the late Senator Frye of Maine.

On the house side, where he is serving his seventh term, White has a long background of experience.

Coming from one of the leading maritime states of the union, White probably is best known on the hill for the part he has played in legislation having to do with shipping. Schooled under Senator Frye, who was deeply interested in maritime affairs while in the senate, White has carried on in this field.

But his interest has not been confined to this alone. He is recognized in the house as an authority on radio. The radio act passed by congress in 1927 bears his name as co-author.

Most of the so-called fat reducing preparations contain either thyroid or laxatives. Thyroid is a potent substance which may bring about harmful effects if taken without proper supervision.

Cathartics are sometimes sold as fat reducers on the principle that the diarrhea resulting from their use will abstract fluids from the body and thereby produce an appreciable loss of weight. The use of such weight reducing methods if carried on for any length of time would bring on very marked weakness and profound disturbances in the body.

Still another type of fat-reducing nostrum are sold, with instructions to the user for a bath with a soap in hot water.

The perspiration produced by the hot bath and the exercise may cause the user to lose a pound or so of fluid. The tendency is for the weight to be regained just as soon as the resulting thirst is appeased.

Weight reduction is not safe except under supervision and control.

Diet and exercise are the only two dependable means known to medicine for the reduction of weight in normal cases of obesity.

REDUCERS
The federal government has issued a warning on the dangers of obesity remedies.

Since the boyish form has come into such prominence there have appeared on the market numerous so-called fat reducers.

Practically all of these remedies assert themselves harmless and effective, claim to achieve results without diet or exercise. Yet practically all of them are ineffective—and some are positively dangerous.

The bulletin of the federal government well summarizes the condition by stating that no drug or mixture of drugs at the present time known to the medical profession can be offered for the promiscuous use of the public in reducing weight without at the same time introducing a large element of danger.

FINGER PRINTS IN USE ABOUT 3,000 YEARS AGO

CHICAGO (4)—Identification by means of finger prints was used several hundred years before Christ by certain peoples of the Orient, according to Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthropology at the Field museum.

A number of clay seals from China, marked with thumb prints of people who lived about 3,000 years ago are on exhibit at the museum to prove the antiquity of the art.

The prints were made on the seals to authenticate the documents on which they were placed, Dr. Laufer believes.

135,000 BOOKS ON CHINA IN CONGRESSIONAL LIBRARY

WASHINGTON (4)—The largest collection of Chinese literature outside the orient now reposes in the library of congress.

Recent acquisitions have increased the number of volumes to 135,000.

The Chinese had paper 1,000 years before it was known to the west, and printed books at least six centuries before the art of printing came to Europe.

Museums of art and archeology find the collection almost indispensable for checking the historicity of painting, bronzes, or other objects of art.
