OREGON AND DRAKE TO MIX IN NIGHT FOOTBALL GAME

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago will have its first taste of night football next fall when the University of Oregon meets Drake university at Soldier field October 3.

Tests of the huge stadium's lighting system were made this summer that were satisfactory to H. E. Rosson, graduate manager at Oregon, and Ed Lytton of Drake.

Oregon's trip will be a home coming for Dr. Clarence Spears, coach, who left Minnesota last year for the coast.

From Clark Griffith, president, on down, all "bosses" of the Washington Senators are former pitchers.

For a time this season the leading two batters in both major leagues belonged to Philadelphia clubs.

MONEY TO CAUSE LEAGUE DEBATE

Several Political Questions Ripe for Argument Will be Broached.

By P. I. Lipsey, Jr.
(Associated Press Correspondent)

GENEVA (AP)—Several political questions ripe for hot debate will be broached when the "financial assistance" scheme for discouraging war comes before the assembly of the League of Nations in September.

The draft convention which the assembly will consider provides that in the event of war or in the likelihood or an international rupture, an attacked member of the league shall be given prompt financial aid in order to restore or preserve peace.

The assistance would be in the form of loans guaranteed by other states, parties to the agreement, and would be awarded by vote of the league council.

The first disagreement on this plan may arise on the question of whether the treaty shall be applied when war is threatened, or only after armed conflict has begun.

The majority of members of the league commission which prepared the draft convention favored the awarding of assistance when hostilities seemed imminent. But Germany, Canada, Italy and Japan believed that the council should not authorize a loan until war had actually broken out. This minority group has advanced the following provision:

"If in a crisis the council considers that there is a danger of war, it may notify the parties to the dispute that financial assistance will be granted to the state against which one of the parties to the dispute goes to war. At the same time, the council will take all preparatory measures in order that financial assistance may be promptly accorded directly war breaks out."

Another question which must be settled is whether the council in case of war "must" award the financial support, or only "may" do so. Some states favor leaving discretionary powers to the council, while others desire that the award shall be compulsory.

Great Britain is leader of a group which proposes that the financial aid shall not come until a general disarmament treaty has become a reality.

Other states want the convention effective without waiting for disarmament.

Other difficult questions arising out of this project include the puzzle of determining which is the agressor and which the aggrieved state. Should the aggrieved state be required to guarantee to execute the council's pacifying recommendations before it is eligible to receive the financial award and should the award be made by unanimous or majority vote of the council are further problems.

Supporters of the scheme maintain that the greatest value in the convention would be in its tendency to prevent war, rather than in its efficacy for remedying the ills of an attacked country.

The financial assistance treaty was orginally advanced by representatives of Finland, which state, according to informed persons, looks with some concern toward its huge neighbor, Soviet Russia.

BELLES AND WINES OF PACIFIC ISLE LURE TARS

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP)—The Society Islands in the Eastern Pacific, inhabited by dusky belles, and flowing with cheap wine, were much to the liking of the crew of the American motorship Arcturus.

A broken camshaft forced the Arcturus to put in for repairs. When the ship was ready to sail, many of the crew preferred the cozy grass huts beneath the palms to the bunks in the forecastle.

Officers ordered the enchanted seamen handcuffed and literally dragged them on board, and on the eve of sailing arc lights were hung over the sides of the ship to attract sharks.

The long, gray, menacing shapes circling the vessel deterred those who felt inclined to swim ashore.

MOSCOW WOULD RECLAIM ITS STREET CHARACTERS

MOSCOW (AP)—The Moscow municipal council has appropriated $180,000 for additional "homes of re-education" in which attempts are made to turn street vagrants, both men and women, into useful citizens.

The "homes" afford medical care for those who need it, and most of the inmates do. It also instructs them in trades.

For a time each inmate is put at hard, compulsory manual labor. "Graduates" from this school of work are sent to other government institutions to earn their livings.

FRANCE ADAMANT ON HEAVY WINE TARIFFS

LISBON (AP)—Diplomatic notes, protest meetings and threats or retaliation have left Paris unmoved in her attitude towards Portuguese wines, which, under the new French tariff are practically barred from France.

The home market is now trying to absorb a huge wine surplus estimated at more than 2,000,000 gallons. A vigorous campaign is being organized for increased wine consumption both in Portugal and abroad.

Wine dealers are trying to persuade restaurants and hotels to return to the practice of including wine with the fixed price meals, or to charge extra if no wine is ordered.

The fight to repeal the eighteenth amendment in the United States is watched with the greatest interest. The papers acclaim every victory of opponents of the American dry laws.

Graveling Road Between Bodie And Glover Now

By Mrs. C. E. Thornburg
(Observer Correspondent)

KAMELA, Ore. (Special)—Although the heat during the day at Kamela has been excesive recently, evenings always bring coolness and some of the nights have even been cold. Rain, which has seemed imminent, would be appreciated as the highway is getting very dusty on account of the work being done there. Graveling is progressing rapidly between Glover and Bodie. Several curves have been eliminated east of Glover and only a small detour is being used.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Barnes and family, also Mrs. E. Chelf, who is Mrs. Barnes' mother, returned on Sunday evening from Portland accompanied by Mrs. Chelf's granddaughter, Arva Dyer. Miss Dyer makes her home with her aunt, Mrs. D. Blackburn, at whose home Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Chelf visited. They all spent a pleasant day on July 4 at Jantzen beach.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Brooks returned to Kamela on Wednesday after a short visit with friends in La Grande. They drove home in a new sedan, which they had just purchased.
