Slain In Court

Angered by the sight of the man he blames for the loss of his fortune, Frank D. Keaton, real estate dealer, shot and killed Ed H. Flint, millionaire, in a Los Angeles court.

Several foreign communists who were trying to spread propaganda in the army and navy.

In several round-ups the police dragnet caught no Brullians. The foreign propagandists were deported.

Several years ago agents of Moscow flourished for a time in the state of Parana, but one mass-meeting was their undoing. Police blocked every exit from the square where the meeting was held and threw the entire assemblage into jail.

The prisoners were packed into cells like sardines, left standing twenty-four hours, then taken out one by one and questioned. Citizens were warned to get home and pay no further heed to the agitators. The foreigners were taken in motor cars toward the frontier, and miles from habitation were turned loose and told to keep going. There has been no other communist activity in that state.

A few weeks ago Luis Carlos Prestes, an exiled revolutionary leader, issued a manifesto in Buenos Aires calling upon his followers to embrace the doctrines of Moscow. It fell flat, and all his former comrades repudiated him.

Releasing Fish In Streams And Lakes This Area

By Mrs. L. Z. Terrall (Observer Correspondent)

UNION, Ore. (Special)—Life at the fish hatchery seldom grows dull. Daily trips with truck loads of young fish are being made to neighboring streams and lakes. Many baby yanke have been returned to their spawning place at Willowa lake in the past few weeks.

Several truck loads of Rainbow trout have gone to the Grande Ronde river above La Grande and on Friday Mr. and Mrs. Bonney took a load of Eastern Brook trout to the Grande Ronde lakes west of North Powder. The Bonneys have nearly completed their watchful care over the Chirypessant chicks and most of them have been liberated to shift for themselves. They have been released in various places over the valley and near Telocaset and they adapt themselves readily to their free wild life.

Mrs. Mary Townley was called to Portland the last of the week by the illness of her granddaughter, Gale DeLay. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bonney left early Sunday morning to take her home.

D. H. Crouter is enjoying a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Geddings who arrived from Ogdish Friday evening. Mrs. Crouter, Dora and Robert are to be gone another week on their trip to the coast.

Claude Busick returned from his Utah trip Saturday night and is visiting his family and mother.

Heleen and Ardith, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hutchinson, of North Powder, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hutchinson. Jean Forstrom, of Eugene, is also a house guest at the Hutchinson home.

Mrs. Bell Wright went to La Grande Saturday to visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. McKennon for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, and daughter Peggy, of Denver, made a very pleasant call at the Terrall home Sunday while en route to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, Mrs. Martha Ford and Mrs. Maggie Mitchell drove to Willowa lake to spend Sunday with the Epworth Leaguers.

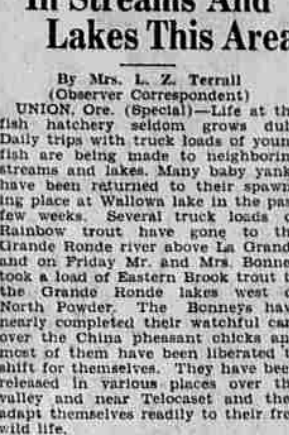

Wilma Hutchinson was a little visitor at the home of her aunt, Mrs. L. B. Moore in North Powder most of last week.

Pearl Haggerty, of Enterprise, has been visiting for a couple of weeks with her father, Frank Haggerty.

A delightful bridge tea was given at the Union hotel Saturday afternoon by Mrs. W. T. Lampkin of North Powder complimenting her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Cree of North Hollywood, Cal., and Miss Ruth Lampkin who is to be married early in August. Following the lunch at three, little Maxine McGrath passed rosebuds bearing the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ruth Lampkin to Clyde Dotson of North Powder. Twenty four ladies from North Powder participated in the event.

William B. Graupner, of the University of Pennsylvania, this season batted better than 500 in Eastern intercollegiate league.

Alleged Abuses Of Law Recited By Association

PORTLAND, Ore. (Sp.)—A Greater Oregon association bulletin, calling attention to the alleged abuses of initiative and referendum measures, stated since 1909, when the corrupt practices act took effect, $912,968 has been spent for and against measures.

How petition peddling has been conducted in Portland is familiar the bulletin says, and in regard to it: "The principal criticism is directed against the activities of professional petition circulators which have developed to a point where they are becoming burdensome and annoying. They station themselves on prominent corners in cities importuning shoppers on the public market and stopping workers going to and from offices and industrial plants with urgent requests to sign various petitions."

"Usually the information given by the circular is extremely meager and often correctness is questioned, if not constituting actual misrepresentation. Signers hurriedly affix their signatures to petitions frequently on the statement of the circulator the signature is not a vote for the bill but is merely to get the question on the ballot," the bulletin stated.

Tabulation of 14 general and seven special elections from 1902 until 1928, aside from city, county and special direct legislation, show that an average of 62 per cent of the registered voters have expressed themselves on 268 amendments and laws either by initiative, by referendum or by reference by the legislature.

Prior to 1909 there was no corrupt
