REALIZATION OF KLAMATH POWER PLANS EXPECTED

Luper also informed Reiss that the five-year limitation does not apply to power development under federal license, and that time for beginning and completion can be made to conform to the federal license.

Two More Applications
While these negotiations were going on the Klamath irrigation district today filed with the state engineer two applications for power development on Klamath river, the two proposed diversion points being about a mile apart and about 10 miles southwest of Klamath Falls.

We finish your CURTAINS Straight and square

MAIN 56
STANDARD LAUNDRY CO.

Each application calls for the appropriation of 2000 second feet. One proposes a canal 7000 feet long and the development of 16,000 horse power. The other proposes a canal 8700 feet long to develop 13,500 horsepower. It is presumed the district would use the power on the project and sell the surplus.

Since these applications propose the use of government land it will be necessary to get an act through congress before they can proceed. Approval of the department of the interior is said to be assured because of the withdrawal by the government of the Klamath Basin from water right appropriation the irrigation district has agreed that any right secured by it shall be superior to rights of the federal reclamation service pertaining to the federal Klamath project. Also the district waives any rights under the application in favor of future irrigation rights.

STAGGERED BUT NOT OUT; LELAND IN COMING MEETS

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—Cy Leland, the Rice institute speedster, may be a bit down, but he's not out.

Leland was veritably "run ragged" in the National Intercollegiate track meet at Chicago a few weeks ago, but he didn't give up, and he is going back for another crack at George Etnopson, Eddie Tolan and other speed merchants.

The Rice star will compete in track meets at Detroit Aug. 9, at Pittsburgh Aug. 23, and at Chicago Aug. 27.

Leland's followers aren't satisfied with his showing at Chicago where he ran sixth in the 100-yard dash and second in the furlong. They believe he was stale.

"The Sock" Gets Into Jam But Is Still At Large

PORTLAND, July 25 (AP)—Portland's mysterious and elusive gunman and robber, "The Sock," got himself into a jam last night but escaped. He is called "The Sock" because he has collected more than a thousand dollars in robberies in a long, brown sack resembling a woman's stocking.

Last night he entered a grocery store, drew a pistol, subdued the clerk and left with $25.70. "Thanks," he said as he left the building.

The clerk called Luther Smith, manager. Smith ran to the sidewalk to see "The Sock" get into a small brown roadster in which was a tall, dark man with a brown mustache.

A chase followed, Smith in another car.

Two miles out of town the bandit car turned into a sideroad and halted. Smith ignored the gun.

"What do you want," the robber demanded. "My money back," said Smith. "Well, then here it is," and "The Sock" handed over a $20 bill. "That isn't all," Smith protested, and the pair quibbled over the change.

"Get on back and keep your mouth shut," the bandit ordered flourishing his gun. Smith "got." He also got the license number of the car and police were searching for it today.

The women's semi-final matches were between Miss Marie McNab, Vancouver, and Miss Alice Marble, San Francisco, and Miss Charlotte Miller, Berkeley, and Miss D. Gillespie, Vancouver. Miss McNab yesterday eliminated Mrs. Golda M. Gross, Berkeley, veteran Pacific racket star, 9-7, 11-9.

on the seas. If evidence that convict labor entered into this handling is secured, members of the gang are serving life terms in the Missouri penitentiary.

Lowman said the International Paper company had purchased large amounts of Russian pulp wood through the Amtorg corporation, official Russian trading organization. The treasury made public a section of the reports which figured in the decision to bar the pulp wood.

It said the vessels were loaded by convicts and political prisoners who were marched down from their barracks to the steamer each day.

"The prisoners were poorly clothed, mainly in rags, evidently the clothing they had at the time of their arrest," the report said. "They used canvas on their hands and feet. The meals served to the prisoners consisted of black bread and warm water. Women were not employed in loading ships but they were employed in unloading cargoes of pulp wood in the yard."

Holts Conference
Coming to the capital late in the evening, Huston went into conference with James Francis Burke, counsel of the national committee. The white house visit was arranged immediately.

Burke made the following announcement on behalf of Huston at the conclusion of the conference.

The president has approved my decision to call a meeting of the executive committee of the national committee on August 7 at which time I intend to submit my resignation as chairman of the republican national committee."

The agitation against Huston became active shortly after he testified to the senate lobby committee that he had collected no funds for the Tennessee River Improvement association for use in promoting Muscle Shoals legislation and had used these funds that in event of a deadlock over two or more of the principal aspirants, a "dark horse" will be thrown into the contest.

Tom Kay and Phil Metschan are said to be claiming all the way from 10 to 17 votes apiece. Julius Meier says he is without a complimentary vote but believes he has more "absolute assurance" than any other candidate.

The vast majority of committee members came to Portland unpledged. It was revealed today. Several pointed out they are carefully considering selection of the best man in the state one who will be able to avert a blot to an independent.

No Time Limits
The state convention will be conducted along the lines of national conventions. There will be no time limit to nominating speeches, but a ten minute limit will be placed on seconding orations.

The balloting will be secret and the roll will be called by counties. After the nominations the various aspirants are permitted to address the convention in behalf of their candidacies and on their platforms.

To be nominated a candidate must receive a majority—at least 19 of the 36 votes.

Nominations will be made alphabetically, but one county may yield to another for this purpose. Thus Cocon county's delegates may yield place for the Tillamook committee to make a nomination.
