Blinding With Volcanic Ash

The state crew on the Athens-Milton section is laying sandstone of quarry rock and binding it with volcanic ash. Next year an oil top probably will be added.

Baldock said the department is constantly modernizing its work to carry on reconstruction with the least possible inconvenience for traffic, and is developing new methods each year. Oiling operations have been perfected so vehicles are rarely in contact with the newly-laid oil and practically no complaints are received from motorists.

One recent improvement is the employment of state-paid flagmen

All-Star Cast Presents "Ladies Of Leisure"

"Ladies of Leisure," the Columbia all-talking drama of New York night life which opened at the State Theatre last night with Barbara Stanwyck, Lowell Sherman and Ralph Graves in the leading roles is the liveliest, snappiest, peppiest motion picture of the year. It is scintillating with the spirit of youth and gaiety.

Held In Slaying

Mrs. Beverly P. Allen is charged with murder in the death of Anthony B. King at Columbus, Ga.

It is a simple story but in its simplicity lies its charm. An idealist—artist—becomes interested in a girl of the streets and asks her to pose for him. She falls in love with him. Without being aware of it, she becomes identical with his ideal of womanhood. He falls in love with his creation. Interference on the part of the artist's aristocratic parents, who do not accept the girl for what she has become but rather for what she has been, eventually separates the young people. The girl is led to believe that she will ruin the young artist's future if she marries him. When, through a near tragedy, the true state of affairs is revealed to the artist, he decides to do things in his own way.

Ralph Graves interprets the role of the artist with a sympathy and humaneness that is most appealing. Barbara Stanwyck, that attractive young actress who created such a sensational success in "Burlesque," plays the leading feminine role with unusual charm and capability. Lowell Sherman renders an excellent bit of acting in the part of a worldly gentleman. Others in the cast are Marie Prevost, Nance O'Neill, George Fawcett and Johnnie Walker. Frank Capra directed.

Philippines Once Ruled by Chinese

MANILA (AP)—Ancient Chinese records which indicate that the Philippines were under Chinese sway more than 500 years before the "discovery" of the islands by Magellan in 1521, have been found by Verne Dyson, professor of history at the University of the Philippines.

Dr. Dyson went to Canton and also to Hong Kong searching for evidence in the old Chinese records of the early relations between the ancient empire and the islands.

"The earliest date showing communication between the Philippines and China is 822 A. D.," said Dr. Dyson. "The Chinese chronicles state that in that year traders from Manila visited Canton. In addition there are records that the islands sent tribute to China long before the appearance of Magellan."

Prof. Dyson also found at Canton records showing that early in the Ming dynasty, beginning about 1405 A. D., several of the larger islands in the Philippines were ruled by Chinese officials. These governors held sway for fifty years or more and most of them seem to have been Cantonese.
