MACON, Ga., Aug. 2 (AP)—Two men, one a prohibition informer and the other a negro and an alleged liquor runner, were killed in two battles at the same place here, a prohibition raiding party and bootleggers late last night.

The informer, Herman Warr, a figure in many liquor cases in this section, is reported to be fatally wounded in the first battle. Officers returned to the scene of the encounter, a lonely road not far from Macon, and engaged in another exchange of fire. In this second fight, the negro, identified as Sam Knight, was shot to death after he had opened fire on the officers.

A. B. Brown, another member of a prominent family, was arrested at his home in Macon, about eight miles from the swamp, and was ordered held by prohibition officers on a charge of killing Warr.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—The death squad has finished paying off Jack Zuta, gang leader.

Five men strode across the waxed floor of a dance hall in a Delafield, Wis., summer resort where a score of boys and girls were dancing last night.

Zuta stood there, smiling, feeding nickles into a mechanical piano for the dancers.

The leader of the quintet fired a revolver bullet into Zuta's body. Dancers stood aghast as this was followed by a burst of machine gun fire. The killers stood over the fallen gangster, pumped steadily round of rapid fire and pistol bullets into his body.

August 1 was his last payday. Just a month ago, the night of July 2, had been another payday for Zuta, but the account was not quite closed. A carload of killers had drawn up beside the police automobile in which the gangster was being conveyed. A score of bullets poured into the squad car, straying bullets killed a street car motorman and wounded a bystander; the detective lieutenant giving Zuta, "safe" conduct emptied his weapon at the gunmen but they escaped, and in the midst of the battle Zuta disappeared.

Nationalist authorities at Nanking, explaining establishment of martial law, said it was precautionary against possible communist activity within the capital.

First Homestead Entry The original homestead law was approved May 20, 1862, by President Abraham Lincoln, to become effective January 1, 1863. On the latter date the first homestead entry was made at the Brownville (Neb.) land office by Daniel Freeman for 160 acres. The application was numbered one. Final proof on the entry was offered January 20, 1868, and final certificate issued on the same day. The entry was patented September 1, 1869.

Better to Return to Earth D. L. Moody was noted for his practical common sense and his application of Christian principles to everyday living. He once met a well-known evangelist, just before an important election. "What do you think of the political outlook?" Moody asked. "I don't know anything about the political outlook," was the reply. "My citizenship is in heaven." "Better get it down to earth for the next sixty days," was Mr. Moody's wise answer.—The Churchman.

Harbin's Sudden Rise The story of the city of Harbin resembles that of an American mining or oil town become important overnight. For many years its place on the map was an insignificant one but with the construction of the railroad in 1896 it became a flourishing city. Because of its strategic position Harbin became an important Russian military center during the Russo-Japanese war.

Losses Caused by Weeds The Indiana experimental station some time ago made a survey of the losses occasioned by the growth of weeds on lands growing for useful crops and found the loss or reduction in yield in the case of corn to be 10 per cent; tame hay, 3 to 16 per cent; potatoes 6 to 39 per cent; spring grain, 12 to 15 per cent; and winter grain, 5 to 9 per cent.

Soviet Pulpwood Embargo Lifted

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—The lifting of the embargo on Soviet pulpwood brought an end today to the enforced holiday of three freighter crews, idling aboard their vessels in New York harbor off the Statue of Liberty.

The British freighter Grönlæ and the Norwegian boats Hektor and Christian Bors, both of the latter under charter to the Amtorg Trading corporation, arrived too late to unload their pulpwood cargoes before the embargo became effective. Today the masters of the three freighters planned to present their manifests at the customs house and, as soon as the ship's papers were approved, to proceed to piers to unload their cargoes.

Ideal Weather waited Mears and Brown on their nine hour 1175 mile journey, and ahead across the Atlantic conditions appeared to be favorable for the next 48 hours. They expect to hop off from Harbor Grace tomorrow morning for Baldonnel air-drome near Dublin, 1800 miles away, on their longest over-water hop on the circumnavigation of the globe.

Brown's wife, his sister Mary, and Mr. Mears' daughter Elizabeth were at the field to see them off.

"Goodbye, my dear," said Mears as he kissed his wife and patted her shoulder. Then he kissed his sister and climbed into the cockpit.

Miss Mears' leave taking from her father was more extended, for she and the women showed emotional strain. Not until the City of New York was fading into the distance did Mrs. Brown give way, and then only for a moment.

Telephones to Daughter Miss Mears is the only near relative of the head of the expedition, but back in Berea, Ohio, were two small boys, Henry James Jr., six months old, and Harriet Virginia, aged three. Harriet told her dad goodbye over the long distance telephone just before she went to sleep.

The fliers have a short wave radio set, operating on 34 1/2 meters and 8550 kilocycles, with which they hope to keep in touch with the world.

A large gas tank separates Mears in his cabin from the pilot's cockpit. The two compartments being connected by a speaking tube.

The fliers carried vacuum bottles filled with coffee and orange juice, chicken, ham and cheese sandwiches, fruit cake and chocolate bars. The food was prepared by Miss Mears.

Terrier Is Mascot The plane's fuselage is red, the wings silver. The registry number is NR-500-V. The name is painted on the sides in white and one side is the American flag, on the other the seal of New York City.

Last and smallest of the crew of the plane was Tallwind II, a small terrier, very much bedraggled from romping in the west grass and quite excited. He was given to Mears by Mary Pickford, to replace Tallwind I, who made the 1928 flight with the late Capt. C. B. D. Collier and who, after circumnavigating the earth, was run over and killed by a truck.

Throughout the afternoon, the planes took up passengers, with scores of persons taking to the air, many for the first time. Mrs. B. W. Grandy, who crossed the plains to La Grande 86 years ago, went up and, after landing, spoke into the microphone and told how she enjoyed the trip. With her on the trip were other members of her family, representing three generations.

Rankin Visits Friends Rankin found several friends in La Grande to say "hello" to, including members of the Harrison family. William Arrivey, young La Grande aviator.

Much interest was expressed during the day in the flights made by the women members of the tour, all of them handling their planes faultlessly.

Concessions did a rushing business throughout the day, heat and hunger combining to give the crowd a general urge to eat or drink.

Orderly crowd The crowd was orderly throughout, and many stated that the air circus was much more of a show than they had expected.

The planes stopped here longer than had been expected, some of them arriving before 11 o'clock and the last one's leaving after 4 o'clock, stretching the originally scheduled three hours into more than five.

When they left for Baker, one of them piloted by Roy Farley, formerly of La Grande—had as a passenger his wife, Mrs. Helen Gurrey Farley, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gurrey, several other local people rode to Baker with the tour.

The airmen were pleased with the La Grande stop, some of them saying they received more co-operation here than at any place on their route.

Announcement was made today by Fred Henning, of the committee in charge, that the club took in enough money to pay all expenses of the show.
