Grain Markets Sharply Higher As Week Closes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — Grain markets turned decidedly firmer during the week ending August 9, influenced principally by increased drought damage throughout most of the eastern half of the United States, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Of this grain crops, corn suffered the most serious damage, although late seedings of flax and spring wheat also deteriorated materially. Prices of most grains advanced sharply, with quotations on corn showing the greatest increase. Demand for corn slackened somewhat at the advance, but a more active inquiry developed for oats, barley and grain sorghums. Wheat and rye did not follow the full advance in corn but were around 10c per bushel higher at the close of the market August 8 than a week ago. Flax strengthened with grains and influenced also by less favorable prospects for late sown fields, many of which will not be cut, according to trade reports.

Outside of the drought damage in the United States and in some areas of the Canadian prairie provinces, there were no outstanding changes in the general wheat situation. The German official estimate August 1 placed the winter wheat crop in that country slightly above average. Threshing returns in France, however, continued disappointing as a result of unfavorable weather which has lowered the quality of the crop. Harvesting was extending northward in Russia and threshing was well advanced in southern regions. Harvesting has begun in Canada and will be general in Manitoba about August 11, in Saskatchewan about August 15, and in Alberta from the 18th to the 20th, according to the Manitoba Free Press. Hot dry weather has hastened the ripening of the crop at the expense of the yield and grade in some sections. Rust has become an important factor, particularly in Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan. Early wheat will escape serious injury and average yields or better are expected. Conditions in Alberta vary in different areas, but average or better yields are expected in the northwest sections of that province. Small yields are in prospect in the central and southern sections, according to reports to the free press. Poor yields are also expected in Southern Saskatchewan.

United States wheat stocks at the first of July total 256,860,000 bushels, as compared with the previous record stocks of 225,750,000 bushels last year. These stocks include wheat on farms, in country mills and elevators, in the principal terminal markets, and in merchant mills and mill elevators. Most of the increase is accounted for in market stocks, although stocks in country mills and elevators and on farms were also slightly larger than a year ago. Merchant mill stocks were slightly smaller than on July 1, 1929, but in addition to the stocks officially reported, there were in store in merchant mills and mill elevators about 9,000,000 bushels of wheat not owned or controlled by mills, according to estimates by the Millers National Federation. Marketings of wheat decreased materially at most points during the week, but market stocks have increased rapidly since the first of July, and on August 2nd totaled 161,898,000 bushels, or 25,400,000 bushels more than a year ago.

Wheat prices made a net advance of 10c to 12c per bushel during the week ending August 8, influenced principally by an even greater advance in corn as a result of continued drought throughout most of the eastern part of the United States. Mills were good buyers of cash grain, but export inquiry slackened at the advance, and at the close of the week export bids were generally below offers from mills.

Pacific coast wheat markets strengthened, but the advance was less marked than at eastern points. Export demand continued dull, although one full cargo was reported sold at Portland to the United Kingdom, with parcels of 2,000 tons sold to Ireland, 1,000 tons to Hull, and 1,000 tons to the continent. Ocean freight space was less plentiful and rates were advanced to around 20c per long ton. Harvesting is well underway and yields are better than expected in Central Oregon and Eastern Washington, according to trade reports. Yields in the Big Bend district of Washington are low because of continued dry weather. Inquiry from mills improved during the week. At the close of the market August 8 No. 1 soft white was quoted at Portland at 94c, western red and hard winter at 91c, bagged, and 14 pct protein No. 1 northern spring from Montana in bulk at $1.07 per bushel.

Much Rejected Manuscript

The proportion of manuscripts submitted to magazines that is actually bought depends upon conditions. The editor of one national weekly states that his magazine purchases approximately .004 per cent of the manuscripts submitted to it from one year's end to year's end. He adds that from 80 to 90 per cent of fiction submissions come from people of no professional experience or training whatever.

Merely Expressions

The terms "dark of the moon" and "light of the moon" are not recognized by scientists. In some communities the dark of the moon is the time from full moon through the wane until the new moon, and the light of the moon is the rest of the time; in others the dark of the moon is the time when it is not seen at all.

Salt in Embalming

The Egyptians used salt for embalming. Doctor Helm says they first laid the body in a strong brine for three or four weeks. It was then removed and dried; herbs and spices were added, and the body was wrapped in linen. This does not, apparently, refer to the mummies which were preserved with bitumen.

Marked by Charcoal

The "Carbonari" (charcoal burners), a secret patriotic society organized in Italy in the early part of the Nineteenth century, was so-called from the custom of the members blackening their faces with charcoal as a disguise.

Influencing Others

The only way in which one human being can properly attempt to influence another is by encouraging him to think for himself, instead of endeavoring to instill ready-made opinions into his head.—Sir Leslie Stephen.

Bakers' Hard Wheat Flour Is Advanced

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11 (AP)—Bakers' hard wheat flour was advanced 20c by the Sperry Flour company today.

No changes over the recent advances were made in the other grades.

The egg market was firm with trading fairly good. A few independent dealers announced there would be an advance Monday, but no changes were reported by the Pacific Co-operative Poultry Producers.

Butter prices were steady with trading light.

EAST SIDE QUOTATIONS

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11 (AP)—The east side produce market was inclined to show more or less weakness today in the price of corn and sales were around 65-75 cents a sack. Offerings were liberal.

Oregon's first Crawford peaches appeared from Carver today and the quality was good. They were priced around 90 cents.

Potatoes were around a dollar for an orange box and in fair demand.

Turnips were eagerly bought at 75c a dozen bunches.

Apples were around a dollar a box for large fruit.

Lettuce was going strong at $1.00@$1.25 a crate.

Blackberries were $1.25 a crate; raspberries $2.03@$2.35, and loganberries $2.00@$2.25.

Tomatoes were abound 60@75c.

Cauliflower was holding at $1.25@$1.50.

Spinach ranged around a dollar an orange box for choice stuff.

Peas were around 5c and beans mostly 4c.

Other prices included:

Carrots, new, 20c dozen bunches.

Beets, new, 20-25c dozen bunches.

Cabbage, flat type, $1.00@$1.25 crate.

Binocular's Advantage

The binocular glass has an advantage over ordinary spyglasses or single lens telescopes, because it enables both eyes to focus on the same object and gives a much stronger vision than can be obtained by the use of one eye alone. The first binocular telescope, which was invented in 1608, consisted of two telescopes placed side by side.

Market Firm At The Closing Hour

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—Successive waves of short covering lifted share prices higher, only to encounter renewed selling in today's stock market.

The market made brisk upward progress for a time during the afternoon, but gains were shoved down in the final transactions as bears launched an attack on the mail order shares, depressing Sears Roebuck 2½ to 59½, a new low for the year.

Atchison closed up 3 points after making an extreme gain of 7½. U. S. Steel fluctuated between a loss of 1 point and a gain of 1⅜, and closed up ½. Eastern was up 4, American Can 2⅜, radio, General Motors and Standard of N. J., about a joint, when the closing gong sounded. Allied Chemical, which has sold off 5½, was down only 1½.

The market closed firm, sales approximated 1,900,000 shares.
