Oregon Trail In Good Condition West of Kamela By Mrs. C. E. Thornburg (Observer Correspondent) KAMELA, Ore. (Special)— The highway from Pendleton almost to Kamela is now in wonderful condition, having been oiled recently. A few miles below Bodie have also been oiled and the road is being prepared for oiling between Bodie and Kamela. The steam shovel is being used at present to cut out the curves on the hill just above Kamela. A lot of straightening is being done there. Between Perry and La Grande the highway has been widened considerably.

The coolness brought by last week's rainy weather was not lasting for Monday and Tuesday were so hot again that another storm seemed imminent. Considering the scarcity of water everywhere Kamela is fortunate in having quite a good supply, it is said. Last year at this time it was getting low and by September had to be carried by many residents. Little Grandma's eggs, which had been infected, have almost recovered and is able to walk again.

Several Kamela people drove to the Indian camp on Saturday for the powwow. A sumptuous dinner, including barbecued beef and venison, was served at noon with many whites partaking. Games and races were enjoyed in the afternoon, though much had to be cancelled on account of the rain.

Portland visitors at the J. Baker home here last week were Roma Gilliam and John Church. Honoring them Mrs. Baker gave a family dinner on Wednesday evening. Mrs. F. Hanley, of La Grande, and Gale Hanley, of Kamela, were guests.

W. Weiss moved his furniture from Kamela to La Grande on Friday.

Clara Norris, of La Grande, is visiting her father, R. Norris, in Kamela. She is accompanied by Clyde Charlton, of La Grande, who spent several days in Kamela working during the absence of Engineer Thornburg. Mrs. Charlton also spent some time here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cochrane and daughter, Lavanna, of Portland, who have been visiting relatives in Kamela and La Grande, returned here on Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. J. Horstman, of Portland, who has also been visiting relatives and friends in Eastern Oregon.

For four years Dr. Lohr has been selecting breeds. His project is backed by scientific societies and warehouse and shipping interests, which have suffered heavy losses from rats.

American golf players are estimated to outnumber British four to one.

Factors— This was authorized. Two new improvement districts were created last night, one in the Cherry street district and the other on East Y and in that locality. Hearings will be held on Sept. 10.

The governor said that, as far as he knew, both Clifford and Clark had been competent officials, but he said he wasn't surprised at the revival of the political feud. The executive said that Klamath county sportsmen are much aroused over the ousters and that most of them demand the removal of the commissioners.

Discusses "Politicians" "Intelligent effort to enforce the state game laws and conserve the wild life of Oregon apparently does not count for much in this day of political antagonism," the governor said. "A game warden possessing high qualifications apparently is objectionable to the politicians, while a political warden is not the kind of an official that is desired by the real sportsmen."

Norblad said he had not found out how the several members of the commission voted on the ouster.

At his request Governor Norblad today received from the game commission two voluminous volumes of testimony taken at the Clifford-Clark hearings. The governor said he was going to study the evidence carefully.
