Cleanliness Is Important, Sky Fliers Declare

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 (AP)—Determination, careful preparation of equipment and cleanliness are the chief factors in endurance flying as the pilots of the monoplane Greater O'Brien, "Red" and "Obbie" to their friends.

And cleanliness is by no means the least of their precepts.

"A clean face won't keep your engine running over, but if you don't shave you feel like a bum, and you don't care for a time whether the engine keeps going or not," O'Brien said shortly before he took off with Jackson in the monoplane Greater O'Brien on their present flight.

Jackson shares his companion's ideas on cleanliness, with the result that shaves, sponge baths, regular changes of clothing and general polishing of the plane are matters of routine.

Several gallons of hot water for shaving and bathing, are taken up to the fliers each day. Underwear, socks and shirts are changed every day.

Cleanliness is also carefully observed in preparation and packing of the fliers' food.

Food which is prepared at the O'Brien home by their wives. Two large meals are sent up daily to the endurance ship.

The meals, cold, consist of sandwiches—steak, chicken, chops or baked ham—vegetable and fruit salads, raw tomatoes, iced tea, and root beer. The bucket also contains tobacco.

Upon recommendation of S. S. George, department commander, and Carl R. Portland and Salem posts opposed this proposal.

Miniature Golf Course Will Be Opened Tonight

The La Grande Miniature golf course, located on a lot at Spring and Cedar, was receiving the final finishing touches today in preparation for the opening tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Fowler started work on the course some time ago and with it completed, believe it one of the most sporty courses of its kind in this section of the state.

Par for 18 holes is 47 and there is a difficult 19th hole which may be played. Holes include a cloverleaf, horseshoe, and two with water hazards on which masher shots must be played. The course is ordinarily difficult, but par is not at all impossible if one is placing his shots well.

Much natural rock work has been done, giving the course an attractive appearance combined with ferns and flowers. Benches are supplied for the convenience of both players and spectators.

Rat Test Fails To Support "Prop"

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—One of the minor props of the evolution theory, called the Lamarckian factor, is considerably weakened by experiments at the Museum of Northern Arizona.

This Lamarckian factor holds in effect that man loses what he does not use. It says: "In every animal there were not exceeded its term of development, the more frequent and sustained use of any organ, develops and enlarges it and gives it strength proportional to the length of time of such use."

"Constant lack of use imperceptibly weakens it, causing it to become reduced, and ends in its disappearance." To test this contention Harold S. Cotton impudged the forelegs of very young albino rats and their descendants for six generations.

In a report to the southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science he says there was no demonstrable change in the lost bones of the last generation over those of the first.

"Therefore," he says, "this experiment contributes no evidence supporting the Lamarckian factor in evolution."

SALE OF PREMIER HURLER BIG BOON TO TEXAS CLUB

DALLAS (AP)—The Waco club of the Texas league virtually saved its franchise by selling the team's star pitcher.

The hurler who went was Hank Therman, and the $10,000 his contract fetched was put down as the first payment for a lighting system for the park.

Patronage increased, and the balance of the team started playing inspired ball.

Now the Cubs are right at the top of the heap battling the Wichita Falls Spudders for the second half flag, and appear to have a better chance than any other team has since 1916.

Peter Morello and Joseph Perrano were killed and Gaspar Pollaro was seriously wounded by two gunmen who cornered them in Morello's office of the second floor of a building in 116th street, on the upper east side.

Morello was hit by five bullets and died instantly. Perrano jumped out of a window after being shot in the chest. He was dead when picked up. In his pocket was found a ticket and passport in preparation for his departure for Italy today.

Morello has a long police record. He was released from Atlanta penitentiary two years ago where he was serving a 25-year sentence imposed in 1909 for counterfeiting.

REDS TRIMMING CUBS

CHICAGO (AP)—Each of the past three years when the Chicago Cubs have been a factor in the national league race there has been one club that linked them.

This year it is the Cincinnati Reds. Out of 15 games, the Reds won 9.

Last year Pittsburgh took a majority of the 22 games from the pennant winners and the year before the Cubs lost enough games to the lowly Phillies to cost them the flag. Philadelphia won the 22-game series.

"YALE BEATS BROWN" MAKES K. O. PEEVISH

By Paul R. Mickelson (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO (AP)—Mention prize fighting to old "K.O." Brown and he will jump into the days 'way back when he was one of the top-notchers of the ring.

But mention football and a perceptive grin will spread over his battle-scarred face.

For it was a football game that made the famous old fighter of more than a decade ago angrier than any blow he received in his long career in the leather tossing industry.

"K.C." fought a "big shot" in Philadelphia many years ago and knocked him out. It was quite a victory for him, but the sports editors of Philadelphia papers failed to give him what he thought was a satisfactory "play."

Raging, the fighter and his manager bore down upon the sports editor of one of the leading newspapers. While the manager argued with the editor, "K.O." loitered about. Soon copies of the afternoon edition were delivered from the press room. On the first page the eye of the disgruntled fighter caught this heading:

"Yale Beats Brown"

Cursing, "K.O." rushed to his manager, saying the newspaper.

"Just look at this, will you!" he roared. "It says here 'Yale Beats Brown.' That's the way they treat me! Why, I've never seen this ring blow me out in two seconds any time."

Manager and sports editor both tried to explain to "K.O." but they had a harder time than Yale did in taming Brown.

YOUNG CLUB RUNS AWAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The Southern Association looks like a home for old men this season.

Forty-seven players are more than 30 and that may be the reason Memphis is far in the lead.

The Gicks, with a flock of young talent, have only three players who are past 30—Tony Weizer, pitcher; Manager Doc Prothro, infielder, and Sam Vick, outfielder.

Ray Caldwell, Birmingham pitcher who is 44 and grandfather, is the senior of the circuit.

Memphis has four excellent young pitchers, Harry Kelly, Roscoe Shephard, Kit May, George Beck, and young catcher, Gilly Campbell; and two youthful outfield stars, Joe Hutcheson and Frank Wadley.

In fact, the complainants told the commission one horse ran under the two names. So far the charge hasn't been proved.

Newspapers, however, liken the two-name horse to the Parisian newspaperman who wrote under two names, on different papers, and became involved in a controversy that ended with him challenging himself to a duel.

SPANISH TURN TO AMERICAN SOFT DRINKS

MADRID (AP)—American soft drinks are in open competition with alcoholic beverages served in fashionable Spanish cafes.

Intensive advertising campaigns conducted along American lines, including the use of personal endorsements by persons who figure in the day's news, have accomplished much toward increasing their sales. Two American soft drink companies have established bottling works in Madrid.

An ordinary soft drink sells for six or seven cents. This is about the price of a cup of coffee, a cup of chocolate, a glass of beer, a glass of wine, or a swig of cognac.
