Bridal Shower Is Complimentary To Miss Emma Wurl

August as a month doesn't rate as well with cups as the periods both preceding and following it, for July and September are usually popular times for weddings. However August is a good press-agent month for September, with brides for the coming fall days being announced and entertained.

The wedding of Miss Emma Wurl to Ralph Kutch, to take place in September was the inspiration for a pretty bridal shower to Miss Wurl last night when Miss Tillie Olson was hostess at her home on Second street with Miss Elizabeth Wilvers assisting.

These present were: Miss Emma Wurl, Misses Mathilda Wilvers, Dorothy Wilvers, Mrs. John Wilvers, Misses Claudia Rydman, Myrtle Shultz, Mrs. Herbert Reier, Mrs. Howard Eavis, Misses Helen Jensen, Edna Jensen, Mrs. Clifton Singletary, Mrs. Frank Hoover, Mrs. Fred Mathis, Sr., Miss Helen Hughes, Mrs. Hanna Jensen, Miss Elizabeth Wilvers and Miss Tillie Olson.

Tuesday Club In Enjoyable Party

At a pleasant afternoon of bridge, Mrs. John Miller was hostess to the Tuesday club yesterday at her home with two tables at play. Snappers and plox were the flowers used in attractive decoration. Honors at bridge were won by Mrs. L. M. Hoyt. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

Make Arrangements For Annual Picnic

Final arrangements for the annual picnic of the L. S. of B. of L. F. and E. to be held Thursday at Pine Cone were made last night at the regular meeting of the lodge with Mrs. Lloyd Kilegore in charge. Other business was also considered. A basket supper will be served at 6 o'clock in the evening after an afternoon of swimming and social hours. All friends and their families are invited to attend.

Announcements

The meeting of the Good Will club of the W. R. C. has been postponed until the third Thursday in September when it will meet with Mrs. Laura Braden.

Road Widening Work Is Going Ahead Rapidly

By W. V. Connor (Observer Correspondent) UNION, Ore. (Special)—F. M. Sturgill and those connected with him in the Union Construction company are progressing rapidly on the work of widening the state highway between Hot Lake and La Grande. The grade is being extended five feet on each side making the road ten feet wider on this eight stretch.

Among the visitors who participated in the tennis playing at the city courts Sunday were Messrs. Lyle, Ray and Olive Wilson from Imbler and two young men from North Powder. The local weekly paper, The Eastern Oregon Republican, has changed its date of printing, the paper coming out on Thursday instead of Friday as formerly.

Local business houses had their flags out the three last days of the week in honor of the American Legion boys who were going through on their way to Baker on Tuesday. A contest in attendance and other points between two Sunday school classes at the Methodist church closed Sunday with the girls in Miss Susan Chadwick's class winning by a close margin.

Sleeves Run Wild Above Elbows In Fall Fashions

(Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Sleeves have departed from the straight and narrow. On many of the autumn dresses for afternoon wear sleeves bear the brunt of dressmakers' innovations.

Most of the change is above the elbow, forefingers retaining their conservative, close-fitting lines which women have found most practical for general wear.

Paris dressmakers add narrow bias tiers which recall the movement of tiered skirts. Or a flat band of fur, similar to trimming bands on the skirt, may simulate a cap-sleeve.

Occasionally bodices are broadened at the shoulder to include caps which fall just over the top of the sleeve, reminding that not so long ago capes were smarter than they are today.

These vestiges of departed cape sleeves appear also in coats, even fur coats, providing the fur is short and slick like gallas or broadtail.

Among the most sensational sleeve treatments is one which puffs above the elbow and is tight below. The fullness disappears at the shoulder where the sleeve fits smoothly without shirring or pleats.

It's News When Man Telephones To Dog, Boyse

By Robbin Coons (Associated Press Staff Writer) HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When a man telephones his dog—that's news, too. Especially when the man is a movie actor in Hollywood and the dog is back home in Norwalk, Conn., a continent's width away.

Frederick Burton, who came from the Broadway stage to play in a Hollywood talkie, got in the habit of phoning Boyse, his two-year-old Irish terrier, from the Lambs' club in New York.

When he came west he couldn't resist the urge to have more "barkie" conversations, although the high toll prohibited frequent calls as before. Mr. Burton and his wife, who remained in Norwalk during his sojourn here, adopted Boyse, a founding, just before they moved from a New York apartment to "the country" in Connecticut.

Boyse, says Burton, is not a real Irish terrier—"but he thinks he is." With Mrs. Burton as movie's assistant in telephoning back home, Burton and his pet have had many a pleasant chat. The dog, after the first few calls, soon began running to the telephone whenever it rang, making the call was for him.

Their conversation, says Burton, usually runs like this: "Hello, Boyse!" "Woof-woof!" "Been getting your rations all right, boy?" "Woof-woof!" "And how's Otachee?" "Gr-r-r-r!"

Otachee, Burton explains, is the terrier of Boyse's existence—a big police dog in the neighborhood. After more such small talk, Mrs. Burton takes the phone again. And Burton, a tall, genial fellow, admits he probably gets more fun out of it than Boyse does.

FISH EAT OUT OF HAND; BUT NOT FROM ANGLER'S HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Rainbow brook and brown trout, some of the best in the quarry known to the angler, sat out of the hands of Miss Mary Cushman.

She is caretaker of the trout ponds near Clear Spring, maintained by the state conservation department. By the hundreds they follow her as she walks on the edge of the ponds. The older ones, which wouldn't snuff at a bait-hidden hook, actually let her lift them out of the water.

The trout, 15,000 of them, got that way from Miss Cushman's habit of feeding them. She tosses mixtures of beef liver and beef hearts to them, every now and then enticing the bolder ones to nibble from her hand. "I never fished with a hook in my life and I don't expect to begin now," she said.

Tenth Suffrage Year Stirring Up Militant Memories of Year 1920

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Votes for Women" . . . the banners . . . parades . . . "Woman's place is in the home" . . . picketing the White House . . . "Votes for Women" . . . bitter speeches . . . they seem long gone, those stormy suffrage yesteryears.

Ten years now women have been marking ballots. On August 26 they will cast an eye in retrospect over their day of struggle. That day marks the tenth anniversary of the granting of suffrage, the day the proclamation was signed.

While no particular celebration will mark the day, organizations of women from one coast to the other have been observing the anniversary year since January 1. Secure now in benefits the ballot has brought, they can smile a little at the fervor of those militant groups picketing the White House, the suffragets, clad in sombre brown Pillbox hats and cloaks marching in winter snows the 250 miles from New York to Washington.

"General" Rosalie Jones, now Mrs. C. C. Dill, wife of the senator from Washington state, led that spectacular demonstration. A paper of that day describes the procession: "The plucky, disheveled band of suffrage pilgrims swung seaward around the Peace monument for the final marching for their cause. Incoming Presidents have not received more clamorous applause than did the company of brown-clad women, huddled in a little group, forced to fight their way through veritable walls of shouting humanity for more than a mile."

The organized movement for woman suffrage began in 1848. Now women are concentrating, through the league of women voters, in getting all women to use the ballot.

A cannon more than 100 years old was found near Watsonville, Cal.
