Jane Addams, 70, Still The Ruler Of Hull House

CHICAGO (AP)—Time has dealt kindly with Jane Addams, who, September 6, will reach the biblical span of life, three score and ten years.

Less active, yes, much less active, and not so smooth of brow and cheek as when she founded Hull House, her hand is no less firm in the affairs of that famous social center nor her enthusiasm dimmed for the welfare work to which she dedicated a lifetime.

Miss Addams will observe her 70th birthday at Hull's Cove, Me., where she spends her summers.

It will be simple as has been her life, although among those who felicitate her will be many of the great of the world.

There will be messages from President Hoover, Premier MacDonald, who visited Hull House with his bride more than a score of years ago, Julius Lathrop and from Walter Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and William L. Cheney, editor of Collier's, who lived at Hull House in their youthful days.

A frail, sensitive girl of gentle breeding and refined education she was when Hull House formed in her active mind.

The serendipity, the sinister vice and depravity, the ignorance and poverty, she was to battle were unknown in Cedarville, Ill., where she was born.

John Addams was a banker and member of the state senate. Jane went to an exclusive and somewhat puritanical school for young women.

Miss Addams studied further in Europe. In the crooked streets of old Paris and in London's Limehouse she glimpsed the poverty and degradation that changed her life.

At Toybee Hall, London's social center, and a pattern for the world's welfare workers, Miss Addams conceived the mechanics of a plan for making more endurable the pathway of the unfortunate.

She was 29 in 1889 when, with Ellen G. Starr, she founded Hull House at Polk and Halsted streets.

County Fair To Open On Sept. 3 At Enterprise

By Brock Tucker (Observer Correspondent) ENTERPRISE, Ore. (Special)—The Wallowa county fair will be staged Sept. 3, 4, 5, and 6 and is expected to be a great success. The program will consist of rodeo and horse racing, surprise races and many novel attractions will be put on. There will be a race between the business and professional men of the town, and a race between a car and a horse will be staged.

There will also be exhibits of all kinds. The fair is being put on this year at a period when the weather should not be too hot or too cold. There will probably be several airplanes to create excitement as well as a carnival or something equally amusing to interest the people, besides the regular program.

School will open in Enterprise Monday, Sept. 8, the week after the Wallowa county fair. This is a week later than in former years, but the delay is considered a distinct advantage because it avoids conflict with the fair.

Small children who are expected to attend their first year are asked to report to the county nurse's room Thursday, August 28, for inspection and to be weighed and measured.

R. A. "Bob" Alexander and his flying partner stopped over night in Enterprise Sunday. Mr. Alexander has a Curtiss-Robin plane, equipped with a 170 horsepower Challenger motor. He took up several passengers during his short stay. They found landing difficult, due to the air currents being driven by the wind hitting the surrounding hills and mountains.

Mr. Alexander stated he would like to stay for the fair but he had a mapping job in California and found such a long stay impossible at present. These men make their home in Portland.

A miniature golf course has recently been erected back of Hamilton's service station in Enterprise. It is the first golf course in this city. It was originated by two boys, Edwin Hamilton, 14, and Bryon Hamilton, 18, and is entirely home made which makes it all the more worthy of mention.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Tucker and son returned to Enterprise last Monday from Wallowa Lake, where they have spent most of the summer working.

Special election is being held by the city to vote on issuing $217,000 of paving refunding bonds to carry not more than 4 1/2 per cent interest. The polls in the library were to be open from 1 to 7 p. m. This move was decided on by the council after many conferences with representatives of the bond holders, who recognized that the city can not pay more than 4 per cent on its debt. A similar bond was voted on before in April but it did not carry.

Byron W. Hamilton passed away Thursday, Aug. 14 at the Wallowa hospital, where he had been taken a few days before. He had been declining in health for years. His ailment was said to have been bright's disease. Funeral services were held at the residence in Enterprise on Saturday and conducted by the Rev. Hall K. Wallis of the Methodist church.

At the grave in the Enterprise cemetery, the ritual of the Odd Fellows was given as Mr. Hamilton had been of that fraternity for many years.

Byron Wilson Hamilton was the son of A. S. Hamilton, who came to the far west in 1842. Mr. Hamilton was born Sept. 12, 1886 in Linn county and spent his boyhood there.

Joan Pidecock returned Monday to her home in La Grande after spending a couple of months in Enterprise. For some time she had been working in the Bob-Inn, local confectionary.

Miss Estevan Eggleston terminated her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eggleston Sunday. She went as far as Pendleton with her brother, Asa W. Eggle-

Silhouette Wavers As Paris Hunts Recipe for Chic

By Barbara Heinfort (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Dressmakers do not agree on the subjects of silhouettes for the coming season.

In fact the 1930-31 recipe for chic begins something like mammy's recipe for fried chicken. First catch your silhouette.

One set of stylemakers, a minority group of first class houses, moves belts upward and sponsors skirts that flare in easy stages from raised waist-line to hemline.

The other uses the snugly fitted lines of last season varied with tiers, tunics and peplums.

The higher waistlines and slightly gathered skirts are newer, but the old line is easier to wear.

Undoubtedly the trend of belts at all the important dress houses is to move upward however slowly.

At one of the most important houses of all, where hemlines dip in back and lift in front for formal wear, belts follow the same movement. They have mounted slightly in front and remained at the same level in back.

Changed styles in sleeves also influence fashionable outlines. All the dressmakers are experimenting with new sleeves.

The tendency is to enlarge them above or below the elbow and then fit them smoothly into armholes.

Cap-sleeves are favorites for youthful styles and in the evening many of the newest models have off-shoulder ruffles or dropped collars.

PARACHUTE IS USED TO BRING PLANE DOWN

DETROIT, Aug. 26 (AP)—A parachute device to bring airplanes safely to the ground in emergencies operated successfully in a test conducted here Monday.

The apparatus, carried in a tube beneath the fuselage, lowered a plane from a height of 2,000 feet over Grosse Ile airport. The plane went down easily, the pilot giving no attention to the controls. It finally dropped into a charge of the test was not in charge of the test but only contemplated. The plane was not slightly damaged and the pilot, Vance Breece, was not hurt.

The apparatus used for a small bi-plane weighs less than 100 pounds.

Here is EXTRA SAFETY and PROTECTION for Your Labor Day Trip

UNDER the non-skid tread of these famous Firestone Tires is a double breaker of two plies of cord fabric anchored in cushion rubber. This special construction absorbs road shocks—protects against punctures and blowouts—provides the foundation for the thick, tough tread with deeper grooves—giving longer non-skid wear.

OTHER makes of tires have only a single breaker of old-fashioned square woven fabric which Firestone discarded when they developed the balloon tire. Some makes do not have any breaker at all. The Firestone Tire is set apart as an "All Cord Tire".

The finest flowers are not found in a weedy garden

The finest things grow where only fine things are tolerated. Likewise, the finest things are made by those who make only fine things. Cheap things are like weeds. They are contagious. There is only one place where only fine coffee is produced. That place is the fragrant Schilling roasting room. No 2nd or 3rd grade coffees either enter or leave that place. There are no cheap blends, no dual standards of quality. Where then is the finest coffee apt to come from? There are many excellent coffees—but which one is apt to be uniformly good, day after day, week after week?
