Put up some fruit NOW... when winter comes you'll be Glad

The low price of sugar today and abundance of fine fruit make home canning profitable.

CANNED fruit belongs in the diets of young and old. And when you have a wide variety on hand you can vary your menus in a pleasing way.

The present low price of sugar and the abundance of fine fruit now in market make home canning exceedingly profitable. Even though you put up only a few jars of preserves or glasses of jelly, you will feel well repaid next winter when you "help yourself" to those home-made products.

Pickles and relishes made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelon rind are also delicious and easy to make. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Don't let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and relishes. Your family will certainly thank you and you'll save money in the bargain. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Balloonists Of 5 Nations Will Race for Trophy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eight silken bags, bearing the colors of five nations, will be cast to the winds here Labor day in the nineteenth international Gordon Bennett balloon race.

It will be a silent battle in the clouds—three pilots coaxing their mounts for the fifth straight American victory while five foreigners tinker with valves and scatter sand ballast to take the classic trophy aboard.

Rivalry will be sharpest between Ward T. Van Orman, defending champion, and Ernest DeMuyter, Belgian balloonist who singlehanded the first Bennett award with three consecutive victories.

They are the lone pilots to win more than once. DeMuyter's record is the most impressive with victories in 1920, 1922, 1923, and 1924. Van Orman pits against it his record of victories in 1925 and 1929 and four consecutive firsts in the national elimination balloon race.

Van Orman will pair with Alan MacCracken, side last year when their gas bag floated 341 miles for first place, the shortest distance ever covered by a Bennett race winner.

Yemenis will match two other American entries, Edmund J. Hill and Arthur G. Schlosser, winners in 1927, and Roland J. Blair, one-time army balloonist, and P. A. Trotter, a former midshipman.

The French will pilot two balloons, guided by the pilots Dostard and Herba, while Hugo Kaulen Jr., will race for Germany for the fourth time.

Canada has filed entry papers but has not named the pilot and side who will race.

Belgium earned ownership of the first trophy, donated by James Gordon Bennett, New York publisher and sportsman, by DeMuyter's third successive victory in 1924.

It donated the second emblem, which went to the United States by Capt. W. E. Kepner's victory in 1928 after Van Orman and Hill had won in 1926 and 1927.

The third award, donated by the United States, went into competition last year, Van Orman winning the first leg for America.

Science Seeks Cross Between 2 Blackberries

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis (Special)—Wanted: A cross between the Oregon Evergreen and the Himalaya blackberries.

Any of the thousands of berry pickers reaping the rich harvest of Oregon's will blackberries this year who find what appears to be a cross between these two widespread varieties will help the progress of agricultural science by reporting such finds to Dr. George M. Darrow, pomologist in charge of small fruit investigations for the United States department of agriculture, who has been sent here for a year's work at the Oregon experiment station.

The Oregon Evergreen blackberry is the best commercial berry known, being the highest yielding and having large, firm fruit, explains Dr. Darrow. "Its flavor, however, is far below that of the Himalaya, which is of little use commercially because the fruit is so soft."

"Now, if we can just get a hybrid of the two which will keep the size, yield and texture of the Evergreen combined with the flavor of the Himalaya, we will have a berry that is of greatest value to the Pacific coast."

Dr. Darrow says the Evergreen is one of the few varieties which appear to come exactly true from seed, which explains why the wild berries are acceptable to the canner. "Hybridization is not impossible, however, as crosses have been made experimentally and a number of off-type vines have been found wild."

These off-type wild berries, whether among the Himalayas or Evergreens hold possibilities of developing such a desirable cross more quickly than can be hoped for in purely experimental way, so Dr. Darrow is appealing to the public to cooperate in notifying the college when such apparent crosses are noticed during the current berry season.

Col. Lindbergh taxied the plane to the far southeast corner of the field where he was met by a large group of officials at the races.

CITY CONSIDERS REQUEST FOR NEW FIRE EQUIPMENT

that construction of the plant must begin within 30 days after the ordinance takes effect, and gives the corporation 60 days for completion of the project. However, by motion, the commission recently extended this to 90 days.

Alleys are to be used wherever possible for gas mains, which must be 30 inches below the grade and 30 inches below the surface where no grade exists. The city reserves all rights relative to sewers, water mains, etc. In digging the gas corporation must restore the surface to good condition within a reasonable time.

Golf Courses Licensed
The commission also passed an ordinance, carrying an emergency clause making it effective immediately, to regulate and license miniature and other golf courses within the city limits. The fee was placed at $50 per annum, with a severe penalty for violation of the regulation and licensing ordinance.

as to nullify the efforts of previous American runners.

Metcalf Wins 100
Both Eddie Tolan, world record holder in the 100-yard dash, and George Simpson of Ohio State, were held out of the special 100-yard dash to save them for the one-mile medley relay. The event became an all-American affair. Ralph Metcalf, negro ace from Tilden Technical high school of Chicago, and national junior A. A. U. champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, finished first in :00.8, with Hector Dyer, Stanford university, second, and Charlie Farmer of North Carolina, third.

James De Mers, of Los Angeles, national A. A. U. javelin champion, wrenched his arm in his first throw, and was unable to try again, but the rest of the American team, Lee Bartlett of Albion college, and L. D. Weidman of Iowa, were good enough to off-set his loss and score a victory.

Herman Briz of the Los Angeles A. C. led the U. S. victory in the shot put with an effort of 50 feet, 5 inches, while Walter Parry of the Olympic club, San Francisco, led the high jumpers with 5 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Tom Warne of Northwestern university, was easily the class of the pole-vaulting field with a leap of 13 feet, 5 1/2 inches, and A. H. Mr. Brady spent most of his time with attorneys in Chicago and was gone about three weeks.
