is in now simply because someone suppressed his telegram refusing to become a candidate in 1924. He has one real ambition yet to achieve, and that is to be governor of Nebraska.

Long has he dreamed of re-making the government of his state into a model for others—a government free of politics with a small single chamber legislature—a sort of state council elected non-partisanly and capable of doing business.

"Old George" cares nothing for the emoluments that go with the office of senator.

He has never sought the social position that is his for the asking by virtue of his rank.

He looks with disdain upon the so-called senatorial tea parties. He lives a simple and, to what appears to an observer, one of the loneliest lives of any member of the senate.

He has had many disappointments during his long service in the senate. Often they have made him downcast. He is a comparatively poor man.

But he forever is seeking new fields of service.

NEVER BOMBASTIC
Plain, unpretentious, in appearance, he is nothing like the man one would expect him to be. His hair is white and eyebrows dark. The little black bow tie that he always wears only accentuates the mildness of his face.

His speeches are never delivered in bombastic fashion, but rather in a conversational tone. What he says appears twice as potent when seen on paper than when heard on the floor of the senate.

His one extravagance is to make sure that he has at hand an abundance of tobacco for his beloved corn cob pipe and a plentiful supply of stogies.

The only form of diversion he remembers ever engaging in was corn shucking. Once he was the star corn shucker of his community.

the Isle of Wight and brought to shed about 100 gallons cup of doubtful beauty which has since been cherished as the greatest of all yachting trophies—the America's cup.

Through her selection last night by the American's cup committee of the New York yacht club, Westport, skippered by Harold A. Vanderbilt, was delegated to meet Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's fifth challenger, and the fourth challenger since the cup was won by the America in 1851.

Enterprise's selection came after she had won two straight races. In races sailed over various courses in various weather conditions it was on which not all of the candidates took part. Enterprise took most first places.

Announcement of the committee was accompanied by scant explanation. Enterprise kept Westport in their two match races of the official trials but Yankee twice shipped Westport and it had been expected the selection committee would send Enterprise out against Yankee before making a decision. Yankee's most recent victory, last Thursday was in those which broke previous yachting records for the thirty mile triangular course.

Presumably the committee was influenced in its choice by the presence of the Shamrock V in the harbor. Sir Thomas Lipton's sleek green sloop has been going around the harbor in Narragansett bay during the past few days and making remarkably good time in air so light the committee refrained from starting the defender candidates. Undoubtedly the Enterprise could sail circles around any other candidate in extreme light air and probably would only bow to Yankee in heavy weather.

in Goodyear Tires than ever before!

That headline is strictly true.

Two bed-rock reasons make it true.

One reason is, Goodyear Tires are better right now than they have ever been.

The other reason is, rubber is cheap and consequently Goodyear Tires are available at the lowest prices in history.

People are not slow to seize a chance like this.

They are buying Goodyear Tires at an unparalleled rate.

Their preference for Goodyears rests upon definite Goodyear superiorities in both tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to believe these statements without proof.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

And the great fact certainly is this: More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

That is true of the people who buy new cars.

It is true of people who buy replacement tires from dealers.

Now is the time to get YOURS

HIDDEN SCENERY

Billboard Advertising, objectionable in any particular, cannot be reconciled with the popular belief that advertisers are keen students of public psychology. If these outdoors advertisers were really expert in that line they would join in the movement to restore the beauty of America's wayside scenery, and thereby earn the good-will of the motorist.

Increasing public resentment against disfiguring the landscape by advertisers is an encouraging sign that the present custom will soon be a thing of the past. Future tourists, accustomed to unobstructed and unmarred highways, will gaze with amazement upon pictures of these times. They will wonder why a generation, which placed such great store by good highways and beautiful scenery, was willing to submit to the aggressions of these destroyers of wayside splendor.

The American Institute of Architects is the latest organization to enlist its influence in the movement to show advertisers the folly and injustice of misplaced advertising. Every lover of scenic beauty should be a supporter of this movement.

ANTI-WAR ARGUMENTS

Since the close of the Civil war there has been paid a total of $7,370,462,014 in pensions to veterans and their widows; the war itself cost $5,000,000,000. And the pension cost of that war is not over; there are still 48,213 pensioned survivors of that campaign and 166,532 Civil war widows still under pension.

Ten widows of the war of 1812 and 824 widows of the Mexican war are still receiving pensions, and pension payments to Spanish-American war veterans reached a total of $470,498,752 on July 1st of this year.

Statistics of this sort make the most effective anti-war propaganda. In a period of full nationalism the world will admit that all war is folly because it rarely ever permanently settles anything, takes a tremendous toll in lives and property, and imposes a financial burden on the countries involved for a century after peace is declared.

Pension costs do not argue against pensions, but against the war that makes pensions necessary and just. This was stressed at the recent convention of the United Spanish War Veterans in Philadelphia as an argument for world abolition of war.

In Washington

By Herbert Plummer
WASHINGTON—One day the latter part of last October word went around among newspapermen that "Old George" Norris had a statement for the boys.

To his office on the hill they went in great numbers. There they were handed a lengthy typewritten document, signed by the veteran Nebraska independent. In brief, it contained this message:

"I have been forced to lay aside a desire to retire from public life by a challenge against myself and my principles of government."

Norris has now met that challenge and emerged victorious. His success in the Nebraska primary is heralded as decisive and complete in every sense.

There are those in Washington who will tell you that "Old George" is not particularly concerned about what happens in the future. It is their belief that deep down in his heart he feels he has won his fight—that even if he is not returned to the senate in the general election this fall he will not feel so bad.

IN BY SUPPRESSION
It is no secret that he has long wanted to retire. Some say that he

Relief From Curse Of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Hexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuation bowl called the colon. The water loosens the dry fecal waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chase a Hexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c (today at the nearest Hexall Drug store. Chase Drugs, Inc. —Adv.
