Domestic Wheat Markets Weaker; Near Low Point

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Domestic wheat markets weakened and prices declined to near the low point of the season during the week ending August 30, principally as a result of the early movement and prospective heavy offerings of Canadian wheat, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Feed grains had independent strength and prices held steady or advanced at most markets, influenced by a further reduction in trade estimates of the corn crop and a continued good demand. Rye was firm under a growing demand for grain for feed, while flax strengthened as offerings decreased and hedging pressure from crushers became lighter. Prospective early movement of Canadian wheat and increased selling pressure in Canadian markets were the principal weakening factors in the wheat market during the week. Harvesting is now practically completed in Manitoba, and about 75 per cent and 50 per cent finished in Saskatchewan and Alberta respectively. Threshing is well underway and trade reports indicate that outturn are averaging better than expected, and that about 60 per cent of the Alberta production, and 70 per cent and 40 per cent of the outturn in Saskatchewan and Manitoba respectively, will grade No. 2 or better, should the present favorable harvesting weather continue.

Show Reductions
More recent estimates of European wheat harvests show reductions from earlier forecasts, and from present indications production in Europe will be from 125,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels below that of last season. The indicated reduction in Europe and North Africa about offsets increases in the Indian and North American harvests. High tariffs and restrictive milling regulations, however, are curtailing European demand for foreign wheat and export takings from United States supplies continue disappointing. An increased acreage of wheat has been seeded in Argentina, according to the official estimate, which places seedings this year at 20,150,000 acres, compared with 19,450,000 sown, and 16,191,000 acres harvested last season.

Domestic cash wheat markets generally followed the decline in futures, although hard and soft winter wheat has some independent strength as a result of an active mill demand for desirable milling grades. The decline in futures, together with a continued disappointing export demand and fairly light offerings of domestic wheat, weakened the hard winter wheat cash markets. Cash prices, however, declined less than futures, with mills and shippers bidding actively for big front end bluestem and other high quality milling wheats. Marketings of winter wheat were further reduced.

Coast Markets
Pacific coast markets were also weak and lower, with wheat at Portland and Seattle selling at the low price of the season. Increased marketings of new crop wheat, together with continued slow export inquiry and decreasing storage space at the terminals, were the principal weakening factors. Prices declined more than at eastern markets, and No. 1 hard white big bend bluestem or early bluestem varieties quoted at Portland at $1.03 and at Seattle at $1.05 per bushel. No. 1 soft and western wheat was quoted at Portland and Seattle at 93c, and No. 1 hard winter, northern spring and western red at both markets at 84c per bushel. 14 per cent protein No. 1 dark northern spring from Montana was quoted at Seattle at 93c, and No. 1 dark hard winter at 91c per bushel in bulk. Mills were only moderate buyers and export sales were relatively small. One full cargo and three half cargoes of white wheat were reported sold to the United Kingdom, and 2,500 tons to the Orient. Moderate sales of Pacific northwest winter wheat were made to California during the week. A reduction in winter rates from Washington and Oregon to California was partially responsible for the increased sales of northern wheat to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

TRADING UNCERTAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—The stock market appeared to be a little uncertain of itself, as trading was resumed today after the three-day shutdown, but after absorption of some profit taking during the morning, the list was turned upward by resumption of professional operations for the advance in selected issues, embracing several of the merchandising shares.

Darr Flattens Californian In Opening Round

Orville Darr, 185-pound Spokane, Wash., fighter, knocked out Gus Eaton, negro, 180 pounds, of San Francisco, in the opening round of a scheduled 10-round main event at the ball park last night. This was the concluding match of the Labor day boxing program.

Darr led throughout the first round, with the Californian failing to land a solid punch. A body blow put him down for Charley Runyan's count of ten.

Jimmy Ryan, of Butte, Mont., lost a seven-round decision to Young Tiger Flowers, of San Francisco, in the semi-final. There was some confusion at the conclusion of the sixth round and officials finally decided to have them fight another round. The newspaper score sheet showed several rounds. The fight was more or less uninteresting, with Flowers holding the edge most of the way.

Snappy Draw
In the four-round special event, Swede Nelson, of Walla Walla, and Kid O'Neil, of Pendleton, fought a snappy draw, although some of the fans believed Swede had a shade the best of it.

Ted Becktel, of Portland, won the referee's nod in the second four-round preliminary. Kid Pinkney, of Walla Walla, and Kid Chocolate, negro youth from hereabouts, practically stole the show. In the second round Pinkney floored his opponent twice, and it was on that margin that he received the decision.

The crowd was smaller than had been expected.

rade and some other features being omitted. A large number of out-of-town people attended, some participating in the various athletic events.

Ben Osborne, secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, as the guest speaker at the picnic, delivered a very interesting talk. Mr. Osborne commented on labor and business conditions, pointing out that conditions are improving steadily throughout the nation.

The celebration was staged by the Central Labor council, with Les Gibbs, of Pendleton, assisting with the fights; the city assisting with the horseshoes, and the national guard assisting with the evening dance.

Oregon Is Host To Royal Visitor
Oregon was host today to a royal visitor—H. M. S. Despatch, flagship of the British naval commander-in-chief of the America and West Indies station, with jurisdiction over waters of both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Admiral Haggard is the highest ranking British naval officer who has visited Oregon on an official mission. His headquarters are in Bermuda.

TURN STEEPLEJACKS
PORTLAND, Sept. 2 (AP)—Two patrolmen turned steeplejacks last night to haul down a 16-year-old boy who had mounted a cross on an east side church. Hanging to the cross arms he proceeded to deliver an exhortation. Hours passed before police and neighbors located the voice seemingly coming from the heavens. The boy had escaped from a private sanitarium.

WOOL MARKET
BOSTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The wool market remains quiet as has been the case for two or three weeks. This month for any information they may give as to the trend of values abroad. LESS HEAT REQUIRED WHEN AIR IS MOIST
Steel-riveted and Gas-tight Lennox Torrid Zone Furnace Has Most Practical Humidifier

When air is dry, it must be held at a higher temperature for bodily comfort than when it contains a proper amount of humidity. As the heated air in most homes contains only 12% to 20% relative humidity (which is drier than the Sahara Desert) it follows that extra fuel is being burned to maintain a comfortable temperature. This extra fuel is one of the savings effected by the Lennox Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. Because the Torrid Zone humidifier has twice the evaporating area right inside the casing of ordinary water pans and is positioned for most efficient evaporation.

Extra fuel is also saved through the design of the Torrid Zone firepot and the oversized radiator. Combustion is more thorough and more heat is squeezed from the smoke and gases before they go up the chimney. This remarkable furnace is designed for hard or soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil—and is built to outlast two or three ordinary furnaces. See the particular model for your home and your fuel. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.—Marshalltown, Iowa—Toronto, Canada.
