Fall Felt With Cooler Mornings

The first definite smart of autumn stung La Grande yesterday as the thermometer took a ten-degree drop, Thursday's maximum, 61, was matched by 61 on Friday, and this morning there was a new coolness in the air. The 7 o'clock official reading today was 49, a low degree lower than yesterday morning.

A cool night was refreshing to La Grande. While rain was generally forecast for Eastern Oregon and clouds during the morning threatened, none had fallen by early afternoon. Rain was desired because of the fire hazard.

School children were betting that the traditional rainy day would come on the opening day of school Monday.

PORTLAND, Sept. 6 (AP)—Rain began falling here today, breaking a dry spell of long duration.

Eastern Oregon Rifle Match To Be Held Sept. 14

National Guard Resumes Drills Monday Night After August Rest—Team to be Selected.

After a successful camp season and summer vacation Company E of the Oregon national guard is ready to begin regular drills again next Monday night, when fall activities will start. Election of officers of the Enlisted Men's club will be held. The rifle team to compete in the Eastern Oregon matches, Sept. 14 will be selected Sunday, according to an announcement by Capt. Walter Bean.

The first drill of Company E of the national guard will be the weekly drills after a vacation since August 11. Drills will be held every Monday throughout the winter. The mess sergeant has a surprise for the company Monday, Capt. Bean promised.

The annual Eastern Oregon rifle match is to be held Sept. 14 between the companies of Baker, Pendleton, Enlow and La Grande on the La Grande rifle range. The La Grande team, present possessors of the Peare trophy is prepared to retain it, but the competition is said to be keen this year and only the best itself will tell. The Peare trophy was awarded last year for the first time.

The best rifleman of Company E, Second Lt. J. Loughlin is now with the Oregon national guard rifle team in the national matches at Camp Perry, O., and won't be able to return in time for the local competition. He threatens to win in spite of his absence.

In the drill attendance for the month of July, Company E was one of the highest in the state, ranked 13th.

Events of special interest to come up at the next drill is the election of officers.

U. S. Part In World League On Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—An upward climb in the extent of United States participation in the League of Nations non-political activities was seen today in official dispatches.

At least three government officials prepared to take part in coming months in League meetings.

Since 1920, it was estimated today, United States officials have taken part in approximately 90 League meetings or conferences, acting either as official delegates, expert advisors or as unofficial participants.

Official and unofficial records show a far heavier participation since 1927 than in the seven previous years. This was contrasted, however, with the United States' abstention from the League of Nations political activities, and was attributed to the increased activities of the league along humanitarian lines.

Meanwhile, it was held virtually assured in most government quarters, that Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, would be elected by the League assembly this month to the post of president of the league.

Kellogg was nominated by the American panel, composed of Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker, Roland Brierly and John Bassett Moore—acting in a non-political capacity—to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Charles Evans Hughes at the time he became chief justice of the United States.

ARMY, NAVY IN HOT REVOLT IN ARGENTINE

Officers Kill Lieutenant Who Refuses to Join.

MILITANTS PROTEST PRESIDENT IRIGOYEN

Buenos Aires Scene of General Flare-up; Cadets Entrain for Capital.

By the Associated Press. Copyright, 1930, and all rights reserved by the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 6 (AP)—Revolt against President Hipolito Yrigoyen flared up this morning in the army and navy of Argentina. Both services made common cause against his administration.

An officer, Lieut. Col. Francisco Torres, of the air service, was shot and killed by his fellow officers for refusing to join the movement.

Cavalry, forced to join the first cavalry regiment had to join under threat of attack by artillerymen and infantrymen.

The movement was led by General Jose Evaristo Uriburu, former Argentine chief of staff and inspector general of the army, and a nephew of an ex-president.

Admiral Storni, commanding a squadron of 13 warships in the port, today sent a note to the navy announcing the navy would not fire shots against their colleagues of the army led by General Jose Evaristo Uriburu.

Under Navy Against Irigoyen. The note was signed by all officers, sailors and men, is said to have been sent to the movement against Irigoyen.

At 10:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m. E. S. T.) twelve airplanes from El Palomar, including three bombers, flew over Buenos Aires. After circling over the city, they landed at the government palace they finally returned to El Palomar. Machine guns were mounted on them.

The garrison at camp de Mayo, including an artillery regiment, is reported to have been entrained. But the trains have not left for the capital.

Irigoyen, who is 77 years old, first came to the Argentine presidency in 1916 after a campaign as champion of the people. Early in life he had abandoned law for cattle raising and agriculture, and from that background he had gained an extremely popular appeal.

Although his first administration was under attack he was swept back into office in 1928 by a tremendous popular vote.

Irigoyen has always been a figure of considerable mystery. Much of his life has been led as a recluse. He has been remarkably unpretentious, and reportedly has always kept a certain deer of his home open as any ordinary citizen might have access to him when he wished to see him.

Coste, Bellonte Fly to Cincinnati In Airplane "??"

Big Crowd at Louisville Gives Triumphant Welcome—Then Puts 'em to Bed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6 (AP)—The Question Mark carrying Captain Diendonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, Paris-New York-Dallas fliers, prepared to take off on the second leg of their return trip to New York this morning, after enjoying a long night's sleep in Louisville, their third overnight stop after conquering the Atlantic.

Coste and Bellonte, through their manager, Rene Lacover, voted plans for a "clausura" entertainment after their arrival here from Dallas early last night, promptly went to the hotel after a brief welcome and triumphant parade, and retired. The time of their take-off for New York this morning was indefinite.

Both fliers seemed to sleep last night with at least one noteworthy remembrance of their reception in Louisville. They had been kissed by four Kentucky belles. When they climbed into the Question Mark at Bowman field, the four young women kissed each flier on both cheeks and presented each with a bouquet of dahlias.

The greeters were Miss Mary Ann Barnes, Virginia Wathen and Josephine Bowman and Mrs. D. W. Farleigh. The young women then formed a guard of honor while Mayor William B. Barlow escorted the aviators through a crowd of 6000 to a microphone.

The aviators will leave New York Sunday for Washington, where they will receive the official greeting of the United States government, headed by President Hoover. After the Washington visit, the aviators plan to tour the country, and will arrive in Louisville Sunday.

FORD SAYS HARD TIMES OVER SOON

Prohibition Here to Stay, Claims Business Leader—Will Build Hotel.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Sailing aboard the liner Bremen for a six weeks' business and pleasure trip in Europe, Henry Ford predicted an early end to the present business depression.

He said the depression might outlast October, but that business now was better than two years ago. He ascribed the growing prosperity to the people substituting "thinking" for speculation.
