P. Coburn of Union, was in charge.

McKinnis Farm Relief Plan Is Given Support

Chamber of Commerce Endorses it—Plan to be Submitted to State Chamber and Others.

The McKinnis plan for farm relief and wheat acreage reduction was formally endorsed by the chamber of commerce today at noon at its luncheon in the Sacajawea Inn, and the motion of endorsement also provided: "The chamber of commerce, in its capacity as the representative of the growers association and the state chamber of commerce be asked to recommend it; and that a committee be appointed to work out a plan in line with the promoters of the plan."

A draft of the plan has been sent to the Oregon delegation in congress and to Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal wheat board, but no replies have been received as yet.

Mr. Woodell spoke. Jim Woodell was introduced by President in compensation, Mr. Woodell explaining the present situation, and reviewing the farm board's work and the attempt to stabilize the price of wheat and discourage gambling with grain. Mr. Woodell stated that he believed Mr. McKinnis' plan would put teeth into the grain market.

The tariff is prohibitive; we have no export market for our wheat," Mr. Woodell said. "If the Russian five-year plan is to be a success, Russia will be raising enough wheat to supply the world. We have built up a wall as far as our surplus is concerned. We must cut down our production to our consumption."

Explains Plan. Mr. McKinnis explained his plan. It provides for cooperation with the farm board's issuance of contracts through local requiring farmers to curtail production so as to equal consumption with a safe annual carry-over. The plan provides for the farmer, the farmer to hold his wheat over, and to be prorated from each locality. The plan, applied nationally, would become effective when 25 or 30 per cent of the wheat is held over.

Frank McKinnis spoke briefly, stating that the matter is of as much importance to the business man as to the farmer, as their interests have much in common. He reviewed the farm situation, and stated that the plan is the most feasible of the plans now in operation or that have been proposed.

Mr. C. Coolidge also spoke briefly, stating that the plan in his opinion is the most feasible of those offered.

LEGISLATURE MOVES INTO LONG GRIND

Settles Down to the Routine of State Business After Inaugural.

THREE BILLS IN HOPPER MONDAY

Bailey to Introduce Free Textbook Bill—Rogue River Closing Before the Senate.

SALEM, Jan. 13 (AP)—The way was made clear today for Governor Julius L. Meier to name one senator and one representative from Marion county to fill the two vacancies in the legislature.

The Bennett senate bill, providing the filling of vacancies caused by the deaths of Senator Lloyd T. Reynolds and Representative W. Carlton Smith, by appointment, subject to the confirmation of the house where the vacancy occurs, was passed by the senate and house, the latter taking but ten minutes to dispose of the bill. The measure, an emergency, was amended in the senate to make it applicable to the present session only.

SALEM, Jan. 13 (AP)—With legislative organization effected, inaugural ceremonies climaxed by the inaugural ball held here last night now a matter of history, and the new administration of Governor Julius L. Meier, the legislature today settled down to the routine of state business.

Filling the vacancies caused by the deaths of the two Marion county legislators, Senator Lloyd T. Reynolds and Representative W. Carlton Smith, was the chief order of business for the day, although it was expected that the floor of measures to be considered by the session would start their journey through the legislative hopper.

Three measures were introduced by the senate last night, while the house considered "a largely with organization and, to the address of the incoming governor, and with final organization."

Big crowd at inauguration. Julius L. Meier was inaugurated twelfth governor of Oregon yesterday afternoon in the capitol building, the largest crowd in the history of the state, with hundreds unable to obtain standing room in the hot chambers. Circuit Judge J. H. Fisher, Marion county judge, administered the oath of office to the governor.

156 ARRESTS BY POLICE IN 1930

Number of Law Violators Decreasing Steadily in La Grande Each Year

One hundred fifty-six arrests were made by the police department during the year 1930 and of this number, 137 convicted and 15 paroled, according to the annual report of Police Chief Clint Haynes, which will be submitted to the city commission Wednesday evening.

The number of arrests during 1929 was 210, representing a decrease of 54 during the last year. This, in many instances, is due to the fact that reports from previous years show a larger number of arrests than during 1929 and 1930.

Fines for 1930 amounted to $1020, compared with $4347.75 during 1929. Prisoners sent 258 1/2 days in jail last year compared with 315 days in jail during 1929.

Like a Hotel. The city jail assumed the appearance of a hotel in many respects, with transients taking advantage of it by lodging in the jail each night during the year. During the early part of the winter 25 or more sometimes spent the night in jail. Late in the winter the number decreased to 10 or 12, according to reports.

During the year there were 2546 "roomers," according to the police chief, who requires each visitor to register. The arrests last year were divided as follows: 13; possession of liquor; 1; disorderly conduct; 14; gamblers; 18; traffic violations; 79; and false alarm. In addition to the 156 city arrests, the police arrested four others for the state and outside points.

Nine hundred eighty meals were served to prisoners in the city jail. The police department impounded 21 head of livestock and collected $47 in pound fees in 1930.

Supporters of Normal School Watch Legislature With Great Interest

Eastern Oregon people, and particularly those of Union, Umatilla, Willows, Malheur, Morrow, Grant and Baker counties, are more interested in the legislature than usual in the meeting of the state legislature, convening in Salem this week.

The reason is that a number of recommendations concerning the Eastern Oregon Normal school and its welfare and future development are being laid before the law-makers.

Serving as it does, that vast territory east of the Cascade mountains, and particularly the seven counties mentioned which furnish the majority of students in attendance, its future growth and accomplishments are matters of vital interest to this section.

Lower Grazing Fees, Shearing Charges Sought

Action Necessary if Wool Industry is to Survive Present Period, Harvey Asserts.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 13 (AP)—Necessity of lower grazing fees and shearing charges if the wool industry is to survive the present period was emphasized by H. W. Harvey of Heber, president of the Utah State Wool Growers' association, at this opening session here today of its 24th annual convention.

Efforts so far to secure a reduction in the grazing fees of national forests have been fruitless, he said. Harvey condemned the proposal to turn over the state surface rights to unappropriated public lands within their borders.

"Inasmuch as the sheep industry is interested we do not think that it would be wise to cull out the present grazing fees," he said. "It would be wise to cull out the present grazing fees, for game preserves, for Indian reservations and for any and all purposes that might meet the whims of those selected for land segregation, and then pass the waste deserts over to the various states to be administered by them with state policies entering into the question and with the state trying to do things impossible in collecting fees for grazing," he said.

"It would also be detrimental to have state trying to buy from their borders livestock of men who reside in other states."

Speakers on the afternoon program today included Frank J. Hegenbary, president of the national association.

NO CREAM PRICE OFFERED. Golden State company left its cream market in a state of uncertainty today, no price being offered pending a check of the nation's butter markets. Unsettled after yesterday's two cent drop in butter quotations, a 24-cent wholesale, was the immediate cause of suspension of the cream trade.

With production going up and consumption going down, officials said the company was faced with a check of the nation's butter markets. Unsettled after yesterday's two cent drop in butter quotations, a 24-cent wholesale, was the immediate cause of suspension of the cream trade.

"Kidnaped" Girl Is Safe Today

DENVER, Jan. 13 (AP)—Alice L. Humphreys, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Boyd Humphreys, Millionaire Denver family, who was believed to have been kidnaped shortly after midnight, was found safe at the home of a neighbor this morning.

William Beckwith, chauffeur for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Lawrence, who are friends of the Humphreys family, said the girl, attired in overalls, was found in a garage shortly after midnight. She was returned to her home.

Beckwith said the girl appeared to be dazed when he found her and took her to the garage. He said she was unable to explain to him how she had left her home and was unable to give her name.

Two goldfish and no name—that was the problem which confronted the La Grande public library. Amos and Andy wouldn't do; Saffie Blake and Madge Queen were too hucky-nayed. An intellectual name, something literary in keeping with the library would have to be hit upon soon, Mrs. Isabel Doug stated, because the fish were succumbing more and more frequently to fits of melancholia.

One rainy day the librarians noticed the larger of the two fish grazing voraciously at the smaller, which was flitting about the bowl wiggling its little tail so cunningly fringed with white. They were named Anthony and Cleopatra after the beauty of the Nile and Cleopatra of old was not one whit more charming, the librarians are willing to swear, than the little Cleo that swims about their goldfish bowl.

Anthony sinks less and less often to the bottom of the bowl and has almost ceased to gaze philosophically out at the rows and rows of books, but Cleopatra can't be bothered, the librarians have noticed.

TEN MILLION CALLED FOR RELIEF WORK

President Hoover Urges That Americans Contribute For Stricken.

Sherwood Williams, speaking before the chamber of commerce forum luncheon today, read a communication from the American Red Cross, calling upon La Grande to raise $100,000 to help the stricken people in the United States.

The chamber of commerce, after Mr. Williams presented the call and discussed the situation, which he described as worse than in the Mississippi flood times of 1927, considered the matter, proposing several plans. Finally it was moved that a committee be appointed to devise ways and means to raise the fund, the committee to report back next Tuesday noon.

The message, sent to R. P. Tyler and presented to Mr. Williams to submit to the chamber, follows: "Greatly increased demands during the last ten days have made imperative immediate campaign for relief money to meet their share of twenty-one states in drought stricken areas. Minimum ten million dollars needed to prevent untold suffering and actual starvation by thousands of families. Pollution water supply caused by dying cattle added to winter hardships in some sections. Relief Hoover in proclamation tomorrow will urge immediate and general response. Confident your people will not fail to meet their share this humanitarian need but because of general conditions desire impress you necessarily most vigorous possible campaign. Success our efforts will be in the hands of the Red Cross by president and entire nation and we must not fail. Your chapter quota one thousand dollars. Report act immediately." (Signed) "R. P. ARNE, "Acting manager."

PRESIDENT ISSUES CALL. WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—President Hoover today urged on the people to contribute "a minimum of $10,000,000" for the relief of drought stricken areas.

The call was in a formal proclamation. "I am sure that the American people will respond to the Red Cross appeal promptly and generously," he said.

The demands on the disaster funds of the Red Cross, Mr. Hoover said, have been far greater during the previous four months. This brought about the necessity for a material increase in resources.

In some parts of the stricken areas, the chief executive said, almost every acre of land is being plowed.

Marie Kardos Is Hanged Today In Szolnok, Hungary

SZOLNOK, Hungary, Jan. 13 (AP)—Crying "God help me," Frau Marie Kardos was hanged today in the prison courtyard here in atonement to the state for murder of her husband and 22 year old son last year. She was the first woman to be hanged for capital sentence in Hungary for many generations.

Frau Kardos, who was one of 40 women who appeared in the group poisoning trial of last spring, was sentenced to death. A night after the death sentence, she was stricken with terror at the prospect of the gallows.

She ate heartily in her prison cell last night, a bowl of potato being allowed her for her last dinner. There followed a period of prayer with friends and a Protestant clergyman, interrupted once when the hangman came to weigh her so as to calculate the measure of her fall.

'Tis Done! The Goldfish Have Been Christianed

Two goldfish and no name—that was the problem which confronted the La Grande public library. Amos and Andy wouldn't do; Saffie Blake and Madge Queen were too hucky-nayed. Famous Plastic Surgeon Is Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—The hand that beautified the face of Hollywood is still in death. Dr. Louis P. Berne, plastic surgeon, died of a heart attack yesterday as he was operating on a patient at the Parkview hospital. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Della D. Berne, and a 12-year-old son, Allen. He was 47.

Mr. Manton's decision was rendered in a case involving the enforcement of the prohibition law. He held that the amendment was a valid exercise of the power of Congress and that its enforcement is the duty of the federal judge.

REPORT AIRPLANE FELL INTO OCEAN

Radio Broadcast Says Tradewind Dived off Mosteiros Point.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Mackay Radio company today announced receipt of a message from the liner President Garfield saying the San Miguel radio station in the Azores had broadcast the following: "Understandably tradewind fell in sea about 20 miles off Mosteiros Point, St. Michael's Island. All ships advised to keep lookout and report this station if anything seen."

The island of St. Michael (Sao Miguel) is nearer to the Portuguese coast than any of the other large islands forming the Azores group. It is about 800 miles from Portugal and about 150 miles east of the island of Fayal, the planned destination of the Tradewind.

If the airplane came down in the sea near St. Michael it would indicate its pilots overshot their goal.

LOVE HOPE REMAINS. HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, Jan. 13 (AP)—One small hope was held here today for Mrs. Beryl Hart, 27-year-old widow of Lieutenant William H. Maclaren, who is missing after taking off from Bermuda Saturday for Horta in his monoplane, the Tradewind.

This was the plane, hampered in keeping to its course by bad visibility, and buffeted by a northeast gale, had come down on one of the other nine isolated islands which form the Azores Archipelago.

The islands of Corvo and Flores are 130 miles west northwest of Horta. Corvo is 40 miles north-east and Santa Maria is 180 miles southeast. None of these four islands has a means of ready communication with the mainland.

If the airplane stayed while the Tradewind was in the air, it would indicate its pilots overshot their goal.

ALFALFA BILL INVITED THEM-- AND THEY CAME

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13 (AP)—The folks from the cotton fields took Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray at his word when he asked them to his inauguration. A night after taking off from Bermuda Saturday for Horta in his monoplane, the Tradewind.

Overall brushed swallow tails; work shoes trod on silver slippers. The grand march lined up, started, was immediately sidetracked. A night after taking off from Bermuda Saturday for Horta in his monoplane, the Tradewind.

With the governor new and old, vainly attempting to apply the brakes the official assembly literally has shored into a capitol privacy.

Until midnight doorways and corridors were jammed with those trying to get in and those trying to get out.

Mencken Praises Lizette Reese, 75

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13 (AP)—H. L. Mencken, usually caustic in his criticisms of life and letters, changed his role last night in paying tribute to Lizette Woodworth Reese, the poet who has just reached the age of 75.

"She is one of the imperishable glories of American letters, and she is the most distinguished woman who has ever lived in this town," said Mencken at a meeting of the poetry society of Maryland at which Miss Reese was guest of honor.

Business Going Forward, Leader Of Bank States

Charles E. Mitchell Looks For a General Revival of Activity to Gradually Develop.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—In his first public statement concerning business conditions in a year Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, said today "unquestionably this country is going forward."

In his annual message to stockholders, he said 1930 was a year of "debt paying on a great scale which necessarily means curtailment of purchases and a check up on enterprise."

"But it also means that when this policy has run its course new and sustained buying power will appear in all markets. Gradually the new conditions will make themselves felt. A new state of mind also will be developed, more sane and constructive than that which ruled in the boom period."

"This attitude of mind is likely to be reflected in the bond and security markets even before the industrial recovery is perceptibly under way."

Mr. Mitchell asserted that while at the moment there is little basis for a prediction of speedy recovery, judging by past experience it would seem that "the volume of business has fallen as low as it is likely to go, that replacements may be expected at least to maintain the present level of activity, and that the measure of conditions with which they have to deal, a general revival of activity will gradually develop."

The remainder of his statement touching on the business situation was related to the cause and a comparison with the past which led him to assert that the business organization is ready to function more promptly and with greater efficiency than after any other major crisis."

Discussing the National City, Mr. Mitchell said the net earnings of $1,346,734 which has been previously announced were less than a year ago but the difference could be more than accounted for by the lower interest rates.

"In such times as those through which we have been passing, a high degree of liquidity has been considered a virtue, and it is a fact that an office of interest rate, liquidity has been maintained at a higher degree than recent years," he said.

COURAGE NEEDED. SEATTLE, Jan. 13 (AP)—In the opinion of Albert T. Hodges of New York, president of the advertising federation of America, all that is required to better business conditions is to show courage.

Mr. Hodges, who is here today to address the Seattle advertising club.

Oregon City—A. G. Stevens, contractor, begins work on new cannery building.

SMITH ASKS REPUBLICANS FOR APOLOGY

Democratic Presidential Candidate in 1928 Presents Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate in 1928, who was then senator from New York, today asked the Republican national committee to distribute 800,000 copies of a wet cartoon carrying a "false" statement.

Lucas, executive director of the national committee, has testified before the senate campaign funds committee that he personally paid for the cartoons and had them distributed in Nebraska, against Senator Norris, Republican independent, and in other states against Democratic senatorial candidates.

Smith's letter read: "Former Governor Smith's letter was read before the Nye committee today on suggestion of Senator Wagner, member of the committee, who has been following the testimony before the Nye committee concerning the cartoon entitled 'Al Smith—Falsely'—idea of Happiness (Smith) which has been distributed in Nebraska, against Senator Norris, Republican independent, and in other states against Democratic senatorial candidates."

"This statement which purports to come from me on August 21st was never issued by me. At that time in August, the Joel Parker association of Newark, N. J., was holding an annual reunion and dinner. I refused the invitation to attend the dinner but on August 19th, some over-enthusiastic admirer of mine sent me a telegram in the association name signed by my name to it. My first knowledge of it was when I saw the newspaper headlines quoting me."

Mr. Smith's telegram quoted: "I made careful investigation among my own staff and found it had not emanated from my own office. I have since reviewed the association's statement and the association's press by statement issued on August 21, 1930. Of course, a denial never catches up with an original statement, or else it was deliberately disregarded."

"Since, on the face of the testimony, the cartoon was distributed in these various states to the extent of 800,000 copies, I think that an apology and reparation is due me from the Republican national committee, which permitted its director to do this and that I am entitled to have 800,000 copies of a statement showing that I was falsely quoted, distributed just as widely as the original statement."

BATTLES WITH WILDSANE MEN WEAKEN MEDIC

OREGON CITY, Jan. 13 (AP)—Dr. W. S. Eddy, 55, chief criminal deputy in the office of Sheriff E. T. Mass, was in a critical condition in hospital here today, his heart weakened, apparently by two struggles with violently insane prisoners during the past week.

A week ago Dr. Eddy and Sheriff Mass brought in an insane man after great difficulty in controlling him. Dr. Eddy did not complain at the time.
