

LOCAL BRIEFS

Nephew Dies—Mrs. Joe Oliver has received news of the death of her nephew, Verell Eledge, who passed away in St. Luke's hospital in Spokane Tuesday evening. Leakage of the heart caused the death. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Eledge, of Cheney, Wash., and was with them when they visited Mrs. Oliver here in October.

Friday in La Grande—Mrs. Fred Fox spent Friday in La Grande. Mrs. Fox comes from the bakery where her husband is in the bakery business. She spent the day shopping and visiting with numerous friends in this city.

To Walla Walla—Mrs. Adolph Newlin and granddaughter left yesterday for Walla Walla, Wash., where they will spend the coming weekend visiting with Mrs. Newlin's daughter, Mrs. Jack Davin, and her son, Clarence Newlin. She motored to the Washington city accompanying Mrs. Campbell.

To Speak at Cove—C. W. Tenney, president of Gooding college, of Gooding, Ida., returned from Portland yesterday where he visited with his wife, who is in the Good Samaritan hospital due to a severe case of arthritis. After caring for the weekend work at the college, Mr. Tenney will return to Oregon where he is to speak in the Methodist church at Cove Sunday morning.

Returns—Mrs. L. E. Norton has returned from Montana, where she attended her brother's funeral. He was killed Christmas day. The Great Northern silk train hit his truck. He was working for the Rock Island dam at Wenatchee, Wash.

To Form Luther League—Mrs. Helen Schilling, Miss Genevieve Nelson and Walter Pohrman have been selected as a nominating committee to choose candidates for the offices in the Luther league. The newly organized group will meet tomorrow at the church and complete organization as well as elect officers. They will meet at 7 o'clock. The Luther League is a section of the Lutheran church which corresponds to young people's groups in other churches and is of national organization. All of those who are interested in the work are invited to attend, the nominating committee states.

Baptist Workers Here—Rev. T. H. Hagen, director of Christian education and young people's work in Oregon; and Miss Louise Hunderup, director of children's work, are expected to arrive in La Grande tonight and will conduct a Sunday school institute at the Baptist church during the coming week. Both are of Portland but have just completed leadership training classes in Baker. The Baker church expressed itself as being highly pleased with the success of the school, and the inspiration received by those Larry Bay Honored—Larry Bay, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bay, a student at the University of Oregon, has been appointed as circulation manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald, student newspaper according to the news columns of the Emerald. He has been promoting new subscriptions and conducting campus drives in the past and has done exceedingly good work, according to Anton Peterson, of Astoria, Manager of the Emerald, who made the appointment. Young Bay is a sophomore at the university and its prominent in campus activities. His position was formerly held by Ken Siegert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Siegert, who resigned, according to the Emerald.

Attends National Meet—George Cherry, of Enterprise, who is president of the student body at the University of Oregon, attended the sixth annual congress of the National Student Federation of America in Atlantic City, Georgia during the past vacation. That the University ranks well with any other institution of its size and kind in the country, was the observation of President Cherry upon his return to the campus, the Oregon Daily Emerald states. The congress in itself occupied six days, all of which were filled with meetings and discussions. He was also the guest of Tulane university after the convention. Mr. Cherry is a senior at the University, and a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Mrs. Preiberg Ill—Mrs. W. C. Preiberg, who has been ill at her home of influenza during the past week, is reported to be improving. Fewer cases of influenza have been reported this year than in previous years in the opinion of several local physicians. This condition may be due to the mildness of the winter weather and to the fact that people safeguard their health more.

Colon R. Eberhard—As to 65-a-day expense money for legislators, Senator Eberhard's decision journal with citations of court decisions marking the allowance as unconstitutional, thus anticipating the supreme court decision which was later made, according to the Oregon Voter, January 17, which is published in Portland and which gives the legislative procedure during the session. PENNEY STORE IN BIG DEAL IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 17.—One of the largest real estate deals consummated in the central business district of Seattle in recent years was completed today when final negotiations were concluded between Walter F. Graham, president of Graham and Pierce, Seattle, Washington realtors with offices in the Home Savings bank, and Carl H. McClure, representing the J. C. Penney company with offices in New York City, for the lease of the McDermott building, well known in Seattle as the former Bon Marche location, by the J. C. Penney company.

The deal involves a figure which may represent approximately two million dollars, and the J. C. Penney company will occupy the entire area of the McDermott building, located at the northwest corner of Second and Union. The building has a total frontage on Second avenue of 120 feet, with six stories above the ground floor and two basements. It is a modern, Class A building, constructed of steel and concrete. The total display frontage gives 228 feet of show windows. The J. C. Penney company construction engineers are working on final plans for the complete rehabilitation of the structure. The new store will be the largest single store unit in the Penney organization, which totals nearly 1500 retail dry goods establishments, covering every state in the country. Business of the organization in 1930 was approximately $200,000,000. Original negotiations for the Seattle move was started in 1927.

Shotgun Slayer Is Sentenced to Hang

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Benjamin F. Brown, slumping in a hooded faint as he heard the pronouncement, was sentenced today to be hanged for the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Marie Ella. His co-defendant, the hired slayer, Elia, had been sentenced only to life imprisonment as the result of the jury's recommendation in his trial and conviction. The two men had confessed that Elia had been $2.20 in dimes for the shooting, which occurred last November while Mrs. Ella was asleep. Brown came here from Seattle, Wash., and was said to have relatives at Anacortes, Wash., where he had been a constable guard.

She explained some of the stores declined to take checks, and she drew out the money for the purchases. "Mach Liquor" Used About the liquor, Miss De Boe testified "much, very much liquor" was delivered to Clara's home, where she was directed to pay for it at the door. The largest consignment she could remember cost $275. The De Boe trial, which has been explained many of the hundreds of checks she drew. She said Clara always had her pay the debts, which ranged from $5 to $200. Miss De Boe spent a few minutes describing the arrangement under which she quit her job as a hairdresser at a studio and became her secretary. She was to be Miss Bow's constant companion, buy all her clothes, pay all the bills, supervise the household, pick up her dresses and "bleach and henna her hair and keep the lines out of her face so she would look good before the camera. Miss De Boe listed as one of her duties the job of informing the men who called on Clara that they were no longer to be received. When talking about the checks, Miss De Boe made the statement she issued checks in New York, Texas, and at Calveva, sometimes out of her own checkbook and sometimes from that of the special account. Clara Not Present The reference to Calveva, Nev., recalled that in the confusion of the prosecution read records Miss De Boe said it was after the actress' return (Continued on Page Eight)

MacKenna and Kay Francis Fool Public

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Like the portion of the general public interested in their romance, Kay Francis and Kenneth MacKenna, featured film favorites, were at sea today. The couple, after having attended to the formality of filing notice of intention to wed, was somewhere in the Pacific aboard the actor's yacht, "Pamlet Head" bound for Eneadua, Mex., presumably. And their public, due to the mystery that shrouds the romance was figuratively just as much at sea, as to whether the cruise of the good ship "Pamlet Head" was a honeymoon or an elopement. At the marriage license bureau Miss Francis was revealed as Katherine Gibbs and her intended husband gave his name as Leo Meizner Jr. The application for a marriage license indicated Miss Francis had been married twice, while MacKenna has never been married. The "Pamlet Head" should reach Eneadua tonight, even at honeymoon speed. After leaving the bureau Miss Francis, when questioned, refused to admit her identity, but MacKenna disclosed they had met five years ago while both were appearing in Broadway productions.

"That immediate consideration be given by the congress to the placing of an embargo on the importation of Manganese from Soviet Russia."

A bill to exclude entry to communists into this country with introduced by Representative Bachmann. The West Virginian said the measure was necessary in order to prevent an influx of communists.

The newly created executive council will carry on for the convention, having been accorded power to enact legislation heretofore within the province of a "head camp session." This new group is intended to act in emergencies, such as the necessity for approval of action taken on Wednesday to ratify policies of 50,000 veteran members.

The new council also is empowered to do the work formerly scattered through a number of separate boards and committees. Organization officials said that by this procedure legislation is made less cumbersome. Under former rules, important legislation is to be delayed until the meeting of the head camp session, called every four years, or had to be enacted at a special session of the head camp.

PENDELTON Oregon's Home of the "Round-Up" HOST each September to 50,000 people attending the annual "Round-Up," Pendleton is cattle capital of the Pacific Northwest. Beef cattle, dairy cattle, and sheep bring an income of almost $3,000,000 each year. Umatilla County (Pendleton is the county seat, thus bringing even more trade from miles around) produces $15,000,000 in agriculture and livestock annually. Grain—20% of Oregon's wheat comes from the Pendleton area—fruit, livestock, hay, dairy products, poultry, and wool all keep Pendleton's coffers filled the year around. Flour and woolen mills and saddlery provide an industrial payroll, augmented by many smaller plants. Pendleton's isolation explains why it is the center for two large food and building wholesalers. Small wonder that 30% of the $6,663,000 bank deposits are savings accounts. The East Oregonian's ABC circulation of 3,231 covers completely this widespread market each evening.
