BEAVERS MEETING COUGARS TONIGHT

Washington Huskies Continue to Hold Lead in the Northern Division

Leading the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference with four victories and no defeats, the University of Washington Huskies are early season favorites to win their fourth successive basketball championship.

Washington continued its drive towards the title in a two-game series with the University of Idaho last week, defeating the Vandals 41 to 22 in the first contest Friday and 34 to 23 in the second Saturday.

Last Monday and Tuesday Oregon State college picked up two victories over Idaho at Moscow and Friday and Saturday Washington State at Eugene.

This week sees Washington playing its first games of the year away from home, the Huskies traveling to Oregon Friday and Saturday. Other games this week are tonight and tomorrow, Washington State at Oregon State; Saturday, Washington State at Idaho.

Standings to date are: W. L. Washington 3 1 Oregon State 3 1 Washington State 3 1 Oregon 0 4 Idaho 0 4

California is leading the southern division with a perfect record. UCLA is second with two wins and one loss. U. S. C. third with one win and two losses, and Stanford least with one win and three losses. Stanford will meet California and U. S. C. will meet UCLA Saturday night.

Drought Increases Tree Rings

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Foresters who depend upon the number of rings to tell the age of a tree may be fooled in sections visited by drought. Col. P. S. Bunker, Alabama state forester, said the 1930 drought caused two rings to grow this year on trees in this state where ordinarily but one forms.

Johnny Layton To Defend Title

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—Johnny Layton opens the defense of his three-year-old world's three-cushion billiard crown tonight when he answers the challenge of a newcomer to championship play, F. S. Scoville of Buffalo.

Scoville, a veteran despite his debut in the world's championship classic, was expected to give the Scollala, Mo., pro lead considerable opposition although Layton was the big favorite to win and thereby gain a bear start on the field of seven challengers.

The match, like all the others a 30-point battle, will inaugurate the tournament, which will extend over 28 matches and 11 days and nights. The other challengers will start by attacking each other in Tuesday's games.

A purse of more than $20,000 will be divided by the contestants with the winner receiving a salary of $6,000 a year, $1,200 in cash and 15 per cent of the net profits. The runner-up will receive a salary of $3,000, $1,000 in cash and 15 per cent of the net receipts.

Mac-Hi Quintet Defeats Bulldogs

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 19.—The Mac-Hi basketball team trounced away to victory over the Baker Bulldogs in Milton-Freewater Friday night by a score of 23 to 13. The Baker players were easily defeated, appearing to be nervous throughout the contest.

The score at half time was 19 to 4 in favor of the Pioneers. Miller of Mac-Hi was high point player with 14 points. McKim and O'Neil tied for high honors of their team with six points each.

Baker's starting lineup was McKim and O'Neil, forwards; Eddy, center; York and Hubbard, guards. The Bulldogs left Milton last night for Pendleton, where they will meet the Buckaroos tonight.

Champions Fight During Week In Eastern Rings

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Jack Berg, great English lightweight, has picked Chicago as the starting spot for his latest American campaign.

The Whitechapel whitehead, holder of the somewhat synthetic junior welterweight title and an outstanding contender of the lightweight championship as well, is making his debut in the ten-round feature bout of the Chicago stadium's show Friday night.

On the same card, Bas Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., world featherweight champion, meets one of the leading contenders for the title, Eddie Shea, of Chicago, in an over-weight affair in which the 125-pound crown will not be at stake.

Ernie Schaff, Boston heavyweight, who outpointed Max Baer, highly touted California youngster, in his last start, returns to Madison Square Garden Friday night in a ten-round bout with James J. Braddock, of Jersey City, former light heavyweight contender and now a full-grown heavyweight.

Larry Johnson, Chicago negro heavyweight, takes on Paul Cavalier, of New York, in the ten-round semifinal.

Leo Lusk, Aberdeen, Wash., and Charley Belanger, Winnipeg, light heavyweights, meet in a return round engagement in Portland, Ore., Tuesday. Belanger took a New Year's day decision from Lusk.

Johnny Golden Wins Play-off From Von Elm

By Paul Zimmerman

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 19 (AP)—Back into the United States moved the wanderers of the fairway today for a brief rest before the $5000 motion picture, match play tournament which opens at Los Angeles Thursday to bring the western winter campaign to a close.

Prominent among the leaders of the large field expected to appear for the qualifying round over the Riviera country club course will be Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn., pro and the Los Angeles professional of a few months, George Von Elm, whom Golden defeated yesterday by four strokes in the play-off here for the Agua Caliente $25,000 open title. Their 18-hole scores were 75 and 79.

The play-off for the championship yesterday came as an anti-climax to the great 72-hole classic, which saw Golden and Von Elm tied after 72 holes with total scores of 293. Third place went to Horton Smith, New York, who shot 295.

While it was a gentlemen's agreement between the two leaders that they would divide evenly first and second play money giving each $6750, the 18-hole medal test yesterday was necessary to decide who should rightfully claim the title and the gold, diamond studded medal.

Golden jumped into the front on the first hole and was never headed, although Von Elm caught up with him at the eighth and rallied vainly again at the fourteenth. As a result, Golden turned the first hole in 37, while Von Elm took 38, two over for a 79, while the blonde Los Angeles expert took 41 for a 79.

INTANGIBLES TAX BRIEF IS FILED

case in which the court held the act unconstitutional. Arguments in the brief also will be presented in favor of the respondent.

On the court's response to the petition for rehearing depends largely what tax legislation is to go before the present legislature and the season's proposal of measures already introduced, providing for retention of moneys collected under the intangibles act before the court held it invalid.

The brief declares that the supreme court has failed to take into consideration a constitutional amendment of 1917 which, the principle that "all taxation shall be equal and uniform."

Six Propositions

Six propositions are set forth in the brief, in substance as follows:

"The tax imposed by the intangibles act was imposed in lieu of and not in addition to ad valorem taxes on intangibles under previously existing statutes.

"Assuming that the tax imposed by the intangibles tax act is a property tax, the discrimination, if any, . . . is in favor of individuals and not against them.

"Whether the intangibles tax act imposes a property tax or an income tax, the failure of the legislature to extend such tax to corporations does not render the act unconstitutional to the Oregon constitution, nor does the federal constitution does not prevent the classification of individuals and corporations separately for the purpose of taxing their personal property in different ways and at different rates.

"The United States supreme court has definitely held (contrary to the holding of the Oregon supreme court in the case at bar) that excise tax or a franchise tax measured by earnings may be imposed on corporations as a substitute for a personal property tax imposed on individuals without violating the federal constitution.

"Under the principles thus established by the United States supreme court it was permissible for the legislature, after having taxed the personal property of corporations by an excise tax measured by net income, to exempt such corporations from the payment of an additional tax on their intangibles or the income from them."

YANKEE MAGIC SAVES WOMAN FROM INDIANS

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Yankee magic spared Bessie Steen, University of California co-ed from the Tapirape Indians of Brazil, who wanted to make her the blonde chiefdom of her tribe.

Miss Steen, student of anthropology and ethnology, came home Saturday on the liner Southern Prince, the first white woman to visit the Tapirape.

The chief of the tribe and his fighting men went by night to her tent, she said, but could find no way to enter it because it had a patent fastener and presented only a smooth side to their touch.

Convinced she was protected by magic, they sought to attack with clubs the Brazilian military escort which accompanied her, but they fell back covered when the colonel turned his flashlight into their eyes.

The girl had hoped to spend weeks at the wild interior of Mato Grosso, a thousand miles from Rio de Janeiro.

The California girl, blue-eyed and 20, undertook the journey to Brazil as part of her graduate research work. She will return to the University of California to edit her notes. Collections of trophies collected by her have already been forwarded to the museum of the University of Pennsylvania and the University of California.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

It is no longer "cricket" in 500-ball to insert the ball under a jersey and thereby deceive the opposition.

but the origin of this famous stunt, first tried in the good old days of the laurel decade, has been the subject of some debate this winter.

Due to the combined sleuthing of Penn State's sports experts, Wes Dunlap, and Cornell's publicity charge d'affaires, Lou Bookover, it has been established that "Pop" Warner did not first teach the hidden ball trick to his Carlisle Indians but originated it in a game between Cornell and Penn State in 1897.

Warner was coaching Cornell and the play as executed by Halfback Allen E. (Mike) Whiting, now a resident of Philadelphia and Quarterback C. V. P. (Tar) Young, now head of Cornell's department of physical education, resulted in an easy touchdown against the Nittany Lions.

The documentary proof comes from Mr. Whiting, who writes:

"As far as I know, Pop Warner absolutely originated this trick. One day Pop arranged to have a strong elastic placed in the bottom of my jersey. He then got us out on the field to coach us on the new play. It could be used only on kickoffs.

"Young was designated the receiver. As he caught the ball I placed myself directly ahead of him, with the other nine men in a circle around me. Tar would stuff the ball up my back and as soon as I realized it was well placed I would yell and the whole team would yell and start fan stage in all directions. I would go straight down the field; both of my hands being free, it was obvious I did not have the ball.

"Time and again in different games I would go between two opponents close enough almost to touch me and they would stand open-eyed. Generally we would go straight for a touchdown.

"After the season, Prof. L. M. Dennis, who was our representative on the football rules committee, attended the annual meeting and I believe it was Walter Camp who asked him pleasantly if it would be necessary to insert a new rule to the effect that the ball should not be hidden. Professor Dennis promised we would not again be guilty but a season or two later hidden ball play crept up all over the country so it was finally necessary to insert a new rule."

Harvard and Princeton have not yet been able to patch up their break of over four years ago, except in what Prof. C. W. Kennedy regards as "non-combative" sports, but Baylor and the Texas Aggies of the Southwest conference have contributed to the policy of harmony by resuming visitations again after a five-year lapse.

Their basketball game, booked for February 3 at Waco, is the first meeting in any branch of sport since rival student factions took possession of the gridiron between halves of a football game in 1925 and waged a battle resulting in one death. With good feeling restored, the conference athletic slate again is complete.

"You Will Benefit Public Health"

Says
DR. J. F. X. STACK
Health Commissioner, City of Hoboken, N. J.

... one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Stack's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Stack writes: "I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo - a really wonderful smoke - mild - mellow - nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

As a health commissioner, I am interested in seeing information of this sort brought home to everybody. Human life would be greatly lessened if every person knew what danger there is in spitting in public places and in using the tongue to seal or moisten anything in manufacturing. Your campaign is indeed a "Crusade of Decency" and my department wishes you success in your efforts.

You are welcome to use this letter in your plan of public education, if you wish, with the understanding that I am not publicly endorsing your product at preference to any other, but that I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner.

Very truly yours,
J. F. X. Stack M.D.
Health Commissioner,
