COAST CONFERENCE STANDINGS Southern Division table with columns for team, W, L, Pct.

Last Week's Results Oregon State 21-30, Washington State 20-44, Oregon 20-28, Washington 31-33, Idaho 30, Washington State 25, Stanford 27, California 32 (overtime game).

This Week's Schedule Monday—Washington vs. Oregon State at Corvallis, Tuesday—Washington vs. Oregon State at Corvallis, Friday—California vs. U. S. C. at Los Angeles.

All eyes in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference will turn toward Corvallis, Ore., tonight night to see whether Oregon State college will have strength enough to take two basketball games from Washington.

If the Beavers can do that, they will be tied with the Huskies at the top of the division and the latter team's chances of winning another championship will be gravely endangered.

Oregon Overwhelmed The University of Oregon quintet was buried even deeper in the cellar by two losses to Washington last week at Eugene, 31-25 and 30-20. Oregon's record also is perfect—six straight defeats.

Beginning of the annual hostilities between Oregon and Oregon State with one game at Corvallis may improve the former's record. Regardless of either team's position in the conference the games are always hard-fought, with the victory in the last basket or so.

Idaho Wins One By taking a single game from Washington State last week, Idaho boosted itself above Oregon and pushed the Cougars down below the Beavers in the standings. The score was 27-13. They will clash again at Moscow Saturday night, the only game scheduled for the two teams this week.

In the southern division, Stanford took an overtime game from California Saturday night, 37-32, the first time such a thing has happened in six years. Ucla, division leaders, defeated U. S. C. 25-19.

California is second, Stanford third and U. S. C. at the bottom of the standings.

MORE RECORDS ARE MADE BY MISS MADISON

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 26 (AP)—Helene Madison, Seattle high school girl who is recognized as the world's greatest woman swimmer, has started on another rampage for records—what few she does not already hold.

Helene added two more American marks to her long string of figures when she cracked the 40 and 60 yard short course free style records at Bremerton, Wash., Saturday night.

Miss Madison swam the 40 yards in 20 3-5 seconds to take the American mark from Corinne Condon, New York, who covered the distance in 21 7-10. Helene's time for the 60 yards was 33 1-5 seconds compared with the old figure of 34 3-5 held by Ethel Lackie, Illinois.

The sensational aquatic youth also helped crack another American record when the girls' relay team of the Washington Athletic club, Seattle, bettered the 160 yard relay mark.

With Helene swimming the anchor position the girls stroked the distance in 2 minutes 11 1-5 seconds compared with the former time of 2 minutes 16 seconds held by the New York women's association.

Helene plans to go after the two more American figures here Feb. 3 when she makes her competition debut in the Washington Athletic club pool. She will try for the 40 and 60 yard records.

Miss Madison now holds 12 world's marks and 29 American figures.

For Coughs Too Deep To Risk A Lesser Help

Cremulsion was made to deal with coughs from a unit of production. There the utmost should be done.

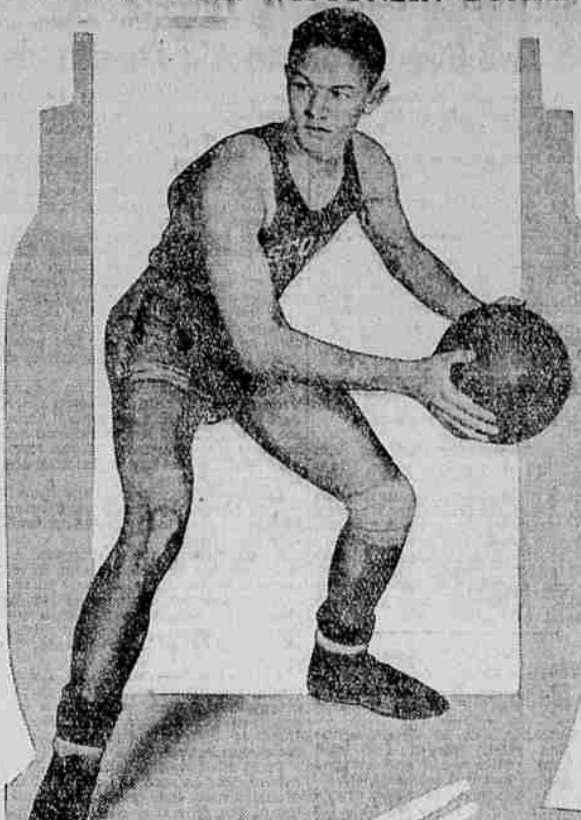

But a trifling cough may develop into something deep and difficult. Don't you think it wise to use the utmost help, even if a lesser help might do?

Cremulsion combines seven major helps in one. The seven best helps known to medical science. One is best for one type of cough, one for others. Nobody can tell in advance. So the best way seems to be to combine all in one prescription.

Cremulsion stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and tasty. For soothing membranes and combating cold germs, the world knows nothing better.

Ralph Guldahl Defeats Manero In Golf Finals

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—One year of professional golf behind him, Ralph Guldahl is homebound for Texas today with $2,793 as his earnings in competition with the county's leading players.

The 19-year-old Dallas youth is headed for San Antonio and the open tournament there where he stepped out of the amateur ranks twelve months ago and took up the gold dust trail of the fairways.

Yesterday slender, youthful Ralph matched his best shots against the seasoned pro from New York, Tony Manero, and won the final 36 hole tournament at the Riviera country club one up. His first place prize was $1,000.

Masters of the game who were all eliminated in the first and second rounds of the motion picture tournament marveled at the youth's courage yesterday. They watched him match drives hole for hole with Manero. They wondered at his ability to play equal approaches with this suave New Yorker and then out put him for the greater share of the day.

When it was all over, Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente pro and former P. G. A. and Canadian champion shook his head and said for the benefit of all that this lad Guldahl is going places in a golfing way. "He is a great putter," he drives as well as any of us. All he needs to do is correct his swing on the iron shots a little."

Shorty Cantlan, Detroit, went on to win the race in 51 minutes, 2 3-5 seconds. He was followed in by Mauri Bove, Earl Howenden and Stubby Stubblefield, all of Los Angeles. In that order. They were the only cars to survive.

Four Cars Pile Up In L. A. Race; Driver Killed

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Thundering into a turn at 75 miles an hour, four cars piled up at the American Legion speedway here yesterday, killing one driver and injuring three, one of them seriously.

George Young, Milwaukee, Wis., was killed, while Curley Grandel, Glendale, Cal., was seriously injured. Arvol Brummer, Whittier, Cal., and Lester Spangler, Los Angeles, were the other victims.

The accident came on the 29th round of the 100 lap feature event over the five-eighths of a mile track. Spangler was fourth in the race at the time. His car skidded about, kicking up a cloud of dust, but remaining upright. Young was unable to stop. His car struck Spangler's, swerved into the fence on the upper side of the track, where it remained poised.

Brummer and Grandel also shot into the dust cloud. Grandel's car went through the rail and rolled down a 25-foot embankment. Brummer's was wrecked, but remained on the track.

OTTO REISELT HOLDS FIRST IN CUE PLAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Otto Reiselt, fiery tempered artist from Philadelphia, held undisputed possession of first place today in the hard tussle for the world's three cushion billiard championship with the only perfect record in the week-old tournament.

The Philadelphia, who lost the title in 1928, loafed into exclusive possession of the leadership yesterday on the strength of four victories over two Chicagoans, Allen Hall and Arthur Thurnblad, received their first setbacks.

Thurnblad lost his first game in five starts, 60 to 49, to the defending champion, Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., in a memorable battle, while Hall suffered his first defeat in four matches, 60 to 47, at the hands of the veteran Tiff Denton of Kansas City. Layton's victory sent him into a tie for second place with Thurnblad with a record of four victories and one defeat while Hall dropped to fourth.

The Layton-Thurnblad match was one of the most exciting in the tournament history. Layton's high run was eight, Thurnblad's seven. Reiselt meets Hall in the feature match tonight.

Albert Hopkins and Owen Price, teachers at Nysa but whose homes are in La Grande and who are former lettermen in major athletics at the Eastern Oregon Normal school, have been leading Nysa's "Fighting Irish" town team basketball scoring line for the season. Nysa, playing a full schedule of games, has not met defeat this season. The team is playing some of the strongest teams in Eastern Oregon and Idaho. Because of the Owyhee dam Nysa has many engineers and surveyors, many of these young fellows and college stars. With about 15 fellows out for practice Nysa has developed a team that will make any college team work hard to beat.

FORMER SENATOR COMMITS SUICIDE

(Continued from Page One) per house of congress. Senator Edwards never lost an opportunity to express his views opposing prohibition and he frequently made them the subject of addresses at public and private functions as that of a political nature.

By his consistent stand against prohibition, he came to be known as "one of the wettest of the wets." This was the cause of one of "the amusing and surprising incidents of the Democratic national convention at Houston in 1928.

The Houston Democrats named as a reception committee for the New Jerseyites made their plans along lines which they deemed proper for the entertainment of delegates from a putative "wet" state. After the preliminary welcome and at what the chairman of the reception committee deemed an opportune time, he invited Senator Edwards to have a drink.

"I do not drink," the senator replied, emphasizing the declination by the serious manner in which it was made.

The chairman's surprise was turned almost to embarrassment when he extended the invitation to Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, and received a similar reply with the addition "Nor do I smoke."

Senator Edwards was born at Jersey City, Dec. 1, 1863, the son of William W. and Emma J. Nation Edwards. After his public school education he entered New York university in the class of 1884, but quit at the end of his junior year to study law in the office of his brother, William D. Edwards. After determining that the legal profession did not appeal to him, he obtained a minor position in the First National bank of Jersey City and while there devoted himself to the study of banking and taxation.

On Nov. 14, 1888, Senator Edwards married Miss Julie Blanche Smith of Jersey City. They had a son, Edward I. Edwards Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Edwards died Aug. 3, 1928.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor) The plot has thickened since the football sleuths began to debate the origin of the famous "ball-hidden-under-the-jersey" trick, widely attributed to the inventive mind of the Old Fox, Glenn Scooby Warner.

Following documentary evidence we recently received, showing Warner tried this play while coaching Cornell in a game against Penn State in 1897, facts have been forwarded to me by William T. Christian, sports editor of the Richmond News Leader, disclosing that Auburn used the maneuver successfully against Vanderbilt in 1895.

Rival cartoonists, it seems, helped stimulate the debate for Christian writes as follows: "Strange as it seems, the man who disputes Warner's claim to the creation of the play was depicted in John Hix's column. The day after Ripley's quoted Warner, Reynolds Tichenor, 116-pound quarterback who made the All-Southern three years in succession, while playing with Auburn, was shown in Hix's cartoon.

"Fuzzy Woodruff, his brother of Southern Football, Vol. 1, quotes Tichenor, now an Atlanta lawyer, as follows: "The play was simply this. When the ball was snapped it went to a halfback. The play was closely massed and well screened. The halfback then thrust the ball under the back of my jersey. Then he would crash into the line. After the play I simply trotted away to a touchdown."

"The play, after being practiced, was used by Auburn against Vanderbilt and Tichenor scored a touchdown. Vanderbilt won, however, 9-0, the first time in the history of southern football that a field goal decided a game.

"All that, according to Woodruff, the newspapers of the time, Tichenor and H. H. Smith, a Richmond business man, who played halfback, happened in the fall of 1895, at least two years before Warner claims to have used the play. And Warner was then coaching at Georgia, where he no doubt heard of its use.

"Believe it or not, strange as it seems, Ripley had Warner calling the hidden ball trick his creation and the most unusual football play; John Hix had a drawing of Tichenor, who also claims to be its originator; and Mr. Smith, Tichenor's team-mate, set me straight in the whole matter, all inside a week, although it happened more than thirty years ago.

All the hue and cry about college sport over-emphasis is very annoying to a number of the old-timers, among them Elmer Oliphant, regarded by many discerning coaches, including Bliff Jones and Knute Rockne, as one of the four or five greatest backfield men the game has produced.

Oliphant, now an insurance salesman in New York, insists that it is "all the bunk"; that he got nothing but benefit, physically and mentally out of his assorted activities which included football, basketball, track, fencing, boxing and wrestling.

"Ollie" was the first man to win his letter in four major sports at Purdue, an achievement he equaled at West Point in the period of 1911-18.
