Council Talks Of State Dept. Of Agriculture

SALEM, Jan. 29 (AP)—Lively discussion of the effect of the proposed state department of agriculture featured yesterday's morning session of the Oregon cooperative council which was addressed by Hector McPherson, representative of Linn county. McPherson explained the merits of the bill which was introduced by the senate agricultural committee Tuesday.

The chief weakness of the proposal, McPherson said, is that the head of the proposed department is made subject to the whim of the governor's appointive power in the present draft. This feature was also attacked by members of the council. R. A. Ward of Portland pointing out that in his opinion the bill will create an army of political job hunters severely safeguarded by state civil service.

McPherson explained that the purpose of the department is purely for consolidation and efficiency of present scattered boards and commissions and that functions of the state college only those functions purely regulatory in character and involving the police power of the state.

Regarding the economy of the move, he said it should eliminate some present overlapping expense but that he is personally in favor of spending more money than less money for agriculture than at present.

Present draft of the law, he said, provides that the director of the department is to get $6,000 a year, which he considers inadequate to get the best type of man for such a responsible position. Indirect reports, he said, are that Governor Julius L. Meier has indicated that if a qualified man can not be obtained for that amount he will see that additional funds are provided from other sources.

Several cooperative officials asked for definite assurance that present extension marketing activities of the state college would not be disturbed. This is not touched in the present bill, McPherson said.

Chats With Parents

By Alice Judson Peale

"It is time for John to go to bed." Without preface mother seizes him and leads him off in the direction of his room.

There his pants off his clothes with the greatest possible speed. Taking him into the bathroom, she vigorously scrubs him and brushes his teeth.

This done, she plops him into bed, firmly tucks him in, and turns out the light and the job is done.

With some children this method apparently may have no bad results, but most children actively resent being hustled about and manipulated as if they were either dumb animals or inanimate objects.

They like to feel a certain amount of freedom of action. They like to think that it is they who make decisions; that they direct themselves.

Suppose, instead of this summarily putting John to bed, his mother warns him ahead of time that he must soon go, thus giving him a chance to wind up his play.

Suppose that when the interval has passed, she gives him her hand in a manner which suggests that this is a cooperative enterprise, that going to bed is quite as much a matter of his own wish as hers.

She lets him wash himself, brush his own teeth, and when he gets into bed, she tucks him in not as if she were in a hurry to get rid of him, but as if it gave her pleasure thus to make him safe and cozy for the night.

The difference in the two proceedings is not perhaps only one of manner, but the child feels it keenly and responds accordingly.

House May Consider Taxing Chain Stores

SALEM, Jan. 29 (AP)—A bill to license and define retail chain stores in Oregon, rumors of which have been heard ever since the session opened, made its appearance in the lobby yesterday in the possession of Elton Watkins, former congressman, who announced that it would be introduced in the house within the next few days.

The bill defines chain stores as any two or more company stores or sales establishments operated under one ownership, requires the licensing of all such stores by the secretary of state at an annual license fee of $100 per store, and provides penalties of from $50 to $100 for violations of the act.

Retail gasoline stations, already taxed under other statutes, would be exempted.

Mountain Named in Honor of Macduff

PORTLAND, Jan. 29 (AP)—As a memorial to the late Nelson F. Macduff, who was for years supervisor of the Cascade national forest, the United States geographic board has named a mountain after him.

The mountain is approximately three miles south of McKenzie bridge on the divide between Kings creek and the east fork of the South Fork of the McKenzie river.

Smith Taylor, ranger at McKenzie bridge, suggested the honor to Macduff and the government agreed.

Proper Advertising Will Make Fortunes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—Cyrus H. Curtis, president of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia, last night told the committee of 100 social organizations here, that advertising will make fortunes.

The policy of some advertisers to save expenses by cutting down on their advertising is "foolish," he said.

"Everything that is done is built on advertising and intelligent advertising will make your fortunes."

He said his company spent $1,000,000 last year in advertising and plans to spend $2,000,000 this year.

"In a period of depression," he said, "we must run as fast as we can to stay where we are."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a tired, flat, taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. Hat don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.
