100 printers, two of the best-paid occupations in the country.

Half the postmen averaged pay of less than $12 a month; the other half made about $14. The printers averaged around $3 a month, and it was among some of them that the savings accounts were found.

The postmen's families averaged five members each. Yet they appeared fairly content, were living in standard Chinese houses and had enough to eat.

In contrast is the condition of thousands upon thousands of unskilled workers, ricksha runners, wharf coolies, wheelbarrow men, farm hands and a hundred other types.

They live in huts that are cold and damp in winter and roasting hot in summer. But the coolies who can jingle a few silver pieces at the end of the day is satisfied, since he need not worry about the next 24 hours, at least.

Cherry Chapter Installs Officers

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin (Observer Correspondent)

COVE, Ore. (Special)—Cherry chapter No. 123, Order of Eastern Star, was entertained by Mrs. J. P. Dean and Mrs. B. W. Peterman at the home of Mrs. Dean Wednesday evening, Jan. 28.

The following officers were installed: Mrs. Beattie Fletcher, associate matron; Mrs. Constance Anderson, conductress; Miss Vina Conley, Ad.; Mrs. J. P. Conley, Ruth; Mrs. Ueuella Laird, Electa; and Mrs. Mae Kelley, warder.

The other officers were installed at the joint meeting with Union two weeks ago. Debut refreshments were served. Mrs. J. R. Price will be hostess at the next meeting.

Resolved that coming to debate is more important than basketball practice" was discussed by the Cove High debating club Monday afternoon with Paul Calaine and Layton Koger on the affirmative and Clara Roberts and Dora Loid on the negative. The affirmative won the debate, the judges being John Fisher, Billy Clark and Duval Welmer.

Conrad Anderson gave an interesting talk on the "Cost of Industrial Education."

Mrs. Mary Mitchell, who is spending the winter with Mrs. Minnie McDannel, went to her home in Union for a few days. She made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Roberts and Miss Clara Roberts.

Tests Show Border Dividing Life, Death

MCPHERSON, Kas. (AP)—Those few seconds just as life is ending, when it is still possible to "come back," have been measured on mice in the McPherson college chemistry laboratory.

Dr. J. Willard Hershey, professor of chemistry, controls the life threads of his mice delicately by placing them in a near-vacuum. At an air pressure about one-seventh that of normal the thread snaps, but not suddenly.

Death—in the ordinary meaning—is indicated by the mouse's ceasing to breathe. But as late as 30 seconds after breathing has stopped, the animal still can be brought back to life, by putting him in fresh air.

The come-back takes a long time, two days for full restoration, and it usually is several minutes before breathing can be seen to resume.

At an unidentified point between 30 and 60 seconds the irremediable break comes. Sixty seconds' wait after breathing stops has been found always fatal.

SENATOR IGNORED

PARIS (AP)—"The ingratitude of republics" is being quoted in the case of Senator Rene Heru, whose interpretation last December caused the downfall of the Tardieu government. He was not consulted regarding the new government and has no job with the present cabinet.

RUM REVENUE REDUCED

ROMANCE was shut out from their lives

MARJORIE and Evelyn Blake were free to enjoy all the pleasures of wealth but still were forbidden the happiness even the poorest might expect.

Their aunt and guardian, Annabelle Querding, with cunning malice and effective weapons, tried to bar from the lives of these attractive, vivacious girls every bit of affection and romance. So long as the aunt lived, she stood between them and marriage to the men they loved.

But Miss Querding was killed—murdered—and the finger of suspicion pointed in bewilderingly opposite directions, at the two girls, their lovers, their friends. The crime is solved in a brilliant story of mystery and romance.
