OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 13 (AP)—With only two dissenting votes the Washington state senate yesterday passed a bill providing for a $3 flat license fee for passenger automobiles and an increase of two cents in the gasoline tax.

The senate bill will now go to the lower branch for consideration.

The additional two cent gas tax with the two cents now collected for state purposes and the one cent federal highway tax, will bring the total gas tax in Washington to five cents per gallon. The original bill called for an increase of only one cent in
