Sport Slants

Frank January Bruen is willing the sale of the Old Ballyhoo boat with plenty of wind these days in an effort to put over the return boat between Primo Carnera, altitudinous Italian, and Jimmy Maloney, of the Boston Irish.

Primo must win this one in Madison Square Garden's big bowl in Miami March 3 or the legs will be kicked out from under one of the twin heavyweights scheduled for the coming summer.

Murphy's actions were so ludicrous, his pantomime so comical, that the fans believed for more of him. He became known as "We Want" Murphy, the cry of the crowd. He never aspired to more than the $50 emergency spot. But the Garden gave him another match—against a milder.

Murphy's humor disappeared under a flood of right hand smashes to the chin. He went out fast and for a long time. And he never came back again.

The one thing that seems certain about Gene Tunney's future is that he will not fight again. There never yet has been a world's heavyweight title fight staged on the sands of the Atlantic desert.

When Gene called with Mrs. Tunney aboard an Italian liner a few days ago he talked freely but negatively concerning his plans. There were some things he said he wasn't going to do.

He was not taking Mrs. Tunney to Italy for a second honeymoon. He was not bound for Asia with a scientific expedition. He was merely going abroad and he had not plans.

As soon as the liner was well out to sea, bound for Naples, the magazine "Time" had this wee paragraph buried among the advertisements: "Major James J. Tunney has obtained a three year's leave of absence from the Connecticut Naval Militia and has sailed for Syria to join a scientific tractor caravan expedition organized by Vice-President Georges Haardt of the Citroen corporation to follow the route of Marco Polo across Syria, Iraq, Persia, Afghanistan, Tibet and China. Mrs. Tunney planned to accompany him as far as Beirut, Syria. Governor Wilbur Lucius "Uncle Toby" Cross, of Connecticut, who recently majored Tunney for his staff, expressed regrets.

His importation was suggested by critics who insist that the customer would rather laugh than cry at some of the shows that have been staged recently in the big fight center. Ecco is a clown of most amusing style and strangely enough he duels in the same division that boasts the Harlem Harlequin, Macey Rosenbloom, as champion. Max isn't as funny as he is unorthodox and puzzling. In fistuuffs a clown is generally just a hard man to fight.

The Bozo should snatch a leaf from the book of one of the most ludicrous figures who ever stepped into the Garden ring to gladden the hearts of the faithful. The other genuinely funny man was Battling Murphy, a house painter, and a bald, roly-poly gent who scrambled down from his scaffold one afternoon to weigh in and debut as a heavyweight in a four round emergency.

Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey, who have been tossing verbal bricks at each other because a magazine printed a story of the old Man Muttler never read belittling Sharkey, might have staged their reconciliation face to face but for the presence of a hotel clerk.

Sharkey came to town to second Ernie Schaaf in a bout with Jim Braddock at Madison Square Garden and learned that Dempsey was recovering at a hospital from an infected finger. Full of sympathy the sailor headed for the hospital to register his regrets but Dempsey had moved out to his hotel.

Still anxious to see the former champion and condole with him.

Sharkey marched to the hotel, sidled up to the room clerk, and gruffly asked for Mr. Dempsey. The clerk had been reading of the Dempsey-Sharkey feud and he recognized the Boston lar. He thought fast. No one was going to bust down the hotel right over his head. There'd be no second matter of the Yankee stadium staged with his master's furniture. "There is no Mr. Dempsey here," he insisted. "I never heard of the gentleman." That's why they had to make up by telephone.

The American Cigar Company, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York. Gentlemen: What is wrong with the word 'spit'? We have been spitting for years and will probably continue to spit for many years to come. It is the uncontrollable or indiscriminate spitting that does the harm, as it contains so many communicable germs. Any type of campaign or advertising against the use of human sputum is endorsed by this Department, because it protects public health. Very truly yours, MARK L. EMERSON, M.D. HEALTH OFFICER.
