BAPTIST CHURCH CROWDED AS SON, FATHER SPEAK

Last night the sermon was less educational and more evangelistic, emphasizing the significance of Christ's atonement, to the world and to the Christian.

Albert Roscoe, the father of the speaker, who has a remarkably powerful voice for a man 60 years of age, sang two gospel hymns, and the son sang one selection, "His Eye Is On the Sparrow." Both men sang with great earnestness and enthusiasm.

Program Tonight
Tonight at 7:30 a very unusual program is planned. A table will be set on the church platform, and Albert Roscoe, assisted by several local people, will give a demonstration of how the Passover Feast is observed by the orthodox Jews of today. He will chant the Hebrew ceremonial, and his son, Daniel Roscoe, will then explain the New Testament significance of the feast. In every city where the Roscoes have presented this unique program, crowds have been turned away, and it is predicted that every seat in the local church will be filled by 7 o'clock this evening.

make the loans and "make some money."

"The average veteran without equipment would be at a disadvantage if any."

"You are going to make a difficult situation for the treasury," he said, "and possibly do harm to the business of the country."

President Hoover accompanied his letter with one to him from Administrator Hines, which estimated that 2,000,000 veterans would avail themselves of the full loan value under the proposed measure, and that the total amount of such loans will be $200,000,000. From that amount there should be subtracted the $325,000,000 which has previously been borrowed, making a total additional amount which will be borrowed of $200,000,000. Mills told the committee it would be "absolutely necessary" for the treasury to issue bonds to meet the cost of the legislation.

"It seems to me to be just common ordinary good business for the government to keep out of the bond market now," he added with some heat.

He said at the March 15 quarter the government would engage in a $1,000,000,000 financial transaction. Of this he said $1,000,000,000 would be a refunding operation and $500,000,000 would be for new money for the treasury.

RULES FOR PET PARADE LISTED

The parade will form at the corner of Spruce street and Washington, avenue at 12:30. Saturday, and all pet owners must be in line by that time because the name and address of each will be taken and a number will be given to each contestant.

In this manner the judge will be able to identify and designate the prize winners. The half hour from 12:30 to 1 o'clock will be spent in completing the preliminary details.

Line of March

The pets, which can be anything from the size of a very small mouse to the size of a very large elephant, or anything in between, will parade at 1 o'clock from Spruce and Washington, one block northeast to Adams, and then west on Adams to Fourth where they will parade.

The judges, stationed at intervals along the street, will be busy engaged in judging the winners whose names will be played on a large display board on the marquee of the Liberty theatre at 2:30 o'clock.

The municipal band and the American Legion drum corps will march and adequate protection will be furnished by the police and civilians, the national guard and the Boy Scouts, so that parents need feel no anxiety about their children while they are marching in the parade.

Prize Winners

The prize winners are expected to call at the box office of the Liberty theatre, turn in their identification numbers given at the beginning of the parade and receive their prize. A letter of identification to be honored on presentation at the store which awards the prize.

Three prizes are being awarded for each of the first four classes, while only one is being offered in each of the last four because of the nature of the entries. A total of 16 prizes will be awarded. The list of prizes appeared in yesterday's issue of the Observer.

Entry blanks are not compulsory but in order to arrange for the best places they should be sent in promptly. Clip the entry blank found elsewhere in this paper and send or take it to the Observer.

The belts are made of three or more cords, the cords being braided in bands two inches wide and fastened with bright colored flat glass buttons. Crimson, sapphire blue and white and green and yellow and cream are among the smartest combinations.

Strang Appears At East Normal Assembly Today

Baldy Strang and his impersonations, for which he has become famous in this part of the state, entertained the students of the Eastern Oregon Normal school this morning at their 10 o'clock assembly.

Mr. Strang portrayed three characters, changing his makeup on the stage. As a Hill Billy of Arkansas he sang several of the Arkansas songs. The old town band master, who comes home after 30 years of absence, misses the old faces and can't like the new music heard, according to Mr. Strang's impersonation. He also portrayed an old German character.

"Memories" and "My Mother's Eyes" were presented as solos by Miss Molly McGahey, who played her own accompaniment on the piano. Mr. Strang and Miss McGahey sang "Misers" from the opera "H. Trovatore" as a duet, and Miss McGahey played the accompaniment. He sang "The End of the Road," and played "MacDonald's Military March," "Marching Through the Fog" and "Endearing Young Charms" on the bagpipe.

Memorial Held Last Night For Col. F. Ivanhoe

A memorial service in honor of the late Colonel F. S. Ivanhoe, pioneer member of the bar of this district, was held in the court room last evening. Judge J. W. Knowles presided at the meeting, which was very well attended, and the report of the resolution committee was read. Brief addresses were delivered by Judge Knowles, J. D. Slater, R. J. Green, H. L. Hess, J. D. Zuchner, R. S. Eakin and Carl Helm. The service lasted about an hour. Below is a copy of the resolution adopted.

Whereas the Divine ruler of the universe has seen fit to call from our midst our esteemed and able and upright brother attorney, Colonel Francis S. Ivanhoe, and

Whereas Colonel Ivanhoe has been an honored member of the bar of this district since October 3rd, 1887 and his loss is deeply deplored by the members of this bar, and

Whereas Colonel Ivanhoe was one of the oldest members of the bar of this district, and by his life and his kindly acts has endeared himself not only to the members of the bar, the officers of the court and the officials of the court house, but also to the citizens of this district generally, now therefore,

It is hereby resolved that in the death of Colonel Ivanhoe the bar has lost a beloved and useful member, and his outstanding and pleasing personality will cause his memory to linger forever in the minds of those who knew him, and we therefore take this opportunity of expressing our sincere sympathy to the family of the late Colonel Francis S. Ivanhoe.

Committee Will Report Tunnel Bill Favorably

SALEM, Feb. 18 (AP)—With further amendments to protect the state, the senate roads and highways committee yesterday voted to report out favorably Senator Earl Fisher's tunnel bill. The committee report will be unanimous.

As it now appears, the bill not only eliminates all reference to the state, but it requires that on the face of the bonds that would be issued under the act there be printed in bold type a statement that the bonds are not an obligation of the state, and that they are payable entirely from receipts of the tunnel operation. Another amendment requires that the bonds must be sold at not less than par and shall not pay interest of more than 6 per cent.

The bill provides for a tunnel commission, appointive by the governor, the commission to have its own seal and be responsible for its financial transactions. The committee voted to make an adverse report on the bill directed against advertising among public highways, known as the "bill board bill." Instead the committee will introduce a resolution providing for an interim committee to study the subject and report to the 1933 legislature.

FREE TEXTBOOK BILL REPORT IS EXPECTED TODAY

As amended the bill relates the small farmer or stock owner from classification as a dealer and being licensed accordingly if he occasionally sells an animal for the market. The main fight against the bill was that it retained the provision that the state veterinarian administer the act. It has been amended so that a year and that an inspector be employed at $100 a month. Senators Brown, Eddy, Strayer and Wheeler had introduced another bill leaving out these provisions which they intended to press if they succeeded in killing the amendatory bill. Proponents of the latter stressed the fact that it had suppressed theft and averred that the proposed substitute measure would not.

Farmers and granges in the state were divided relative to the measure. The vote on the bill was:

For — Bailey, Billingsley, Booth, Carson, Crawford, Dunn, Dunne, Eberhard, Fisher, Franciscovich, Hall, Jones, Kiddle, Kuck, Mann, Miller, Moser, Schulerich, Upton, Woodward.

Against — Bennett, Brown, Burke, East, Johnson, Spaulding, Staples, Strayer, Wheeler, Marks.

Alibi Fails Postal Clerks In Paraguay; Plane's Roar Heard

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—The roar of an airplane motor is substituting for the postman's whistle in this tiny capital.

Citizens are now warned from the skies of the semi-weekly arrival of airmail from Buenos Aires, and post-office clerks must be on the job or incur the wrath of residents expecting correspondence.

Pilots of the French Latécoere line's planes, carrying mail between Buenos Aires and Asuncion, have recently adopted the practice of circling the city several times to announce their arrival to the citizenry. The strategy involved serves to deflect the indifference of postal employees, who previously delayed long in the distribution of mail. The excuse always was that the plane had been late, and as the landing field is far from the center of town, no one could refute the story.

Now the whole city knows of the arrival of the planes and those expecting mail lose no time in getting to the postoffice to collect.

The airmail from Buenos Aires reaches Asuncion in seven hours time. Two days are required by train and four by river boat.
