Thoughts Turning To State Meets As Summer Nears

In the spring a young man's fancy, lightly turns to thoughts of love. It is all very well, but the poet failed to add that in the summer his thoughts lightly turn to thoughts of convention. Among the conventions for which La Grande is planning is the Lions' convention, to which Lions and the members of the auxiliary will come from the state during the latter part of June. Extensive plans are being made by the local auxiliary to entertain.

Mrs. McDonald Entertains Club

Mrs. Peter McDonald entertained at an one o'clock luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge at her country home on the Monday Bridge club. The luncheon tables were decorated in spring flowers. Mrs. L. M. Hoyt was a guest for the afternoon and received a gift; and Mrs. Leola Banton was given the club prize for high score. Mrs. J. T. Richardson will entertain the group in two weeks.

Russian Fine Arts Enjoyed by Group

Mrs. C. E. Anderson arranged an interesting and instructive program which was presented at a meeting of the Neighborhood Art club yesterday afternoon at the La Grande hotel. Throughout the winter they have been studying the art of Russia and following the other trends of the times. Mrs. H. H. Claver presented a study of the great reforms and their effect on Russian life, the reforms which she mentioned being tabulation of the laws and freeing the serfs. Mrs. H. J. Ritter described portraiture and its exponents during the same period; Mrs. R. S. Eakin specialized in the drama of the period talking on "Kamely: a Theatre of Revolt." Some interesting facts in the life of Herzin were revealed by Mrs. Miles Falow. The study will be continued on March 24 at which time Mrs. H. L. Hanna will present a program.

They will meet again on March 24 with Mrs. Hickox.

Camp Fire Girls To Have Birthday

Nineteen years ago an organization for young girls was founded in the United States with the object of maintaining health by wholesome outdoor life and exercise, and of promoting various forms of social welfare. The organization, which was named the Camp Fire Girls of America, found such favor among young girls that it has today spread to England, Scotland, Canada, South America, China, Africa, Japan, Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The week, beginning March 22, has been set aside as anniversary week and all of the groups in La Grande are working in birthday honors. Each year they present a different phase of the camp fire work, and this year they have chosen international friendship.

Society Girls Model To Raise Drouth Funds

NEW YORK (AP)—Society girls and matrons are using their knowledge of how to wear clothes with distinction in the interests of welfare and prosperity. In New York and many other cities Junior league members have taken up dress modeling, replacing professional mannikins at charity fashion shows.

Mrs. Reynolds Is W. B. A. Delegate

Mrs. J. E. Reynolds was selected as a delegate to represent the La Grande review of the Women's Benefit Association at their state convention to be held in Portland on April 12. Mrs. Ida Charlton was elected as alternate. Plans for sending the guard team are under way and the date for a benefit card party was set at a meeting held last night at the Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Charlton, district deputy, gave a talk on the convention. March 19 is the date for the affair which is to follow the regular meeting at 7 o'clock at the L. O. F. hall, with the ways and means committee in charge. A group of the members of the junior W. B. A. were graduated into the senior review with Mrs. Reynolds presiding at the ritualistic service. Those graduated were Miss Violet Riley, Miss Marjorie Spencer and Miss Zena Maynard.

N. O. W. Convention Set For Aug. 3-4

The district convention of the Neighbors of Woodcraft will be held in La Grande on August 3 and 4, according to announcement made by the local group recently. Plans for entertaining 114 delegates, who represent the 23 circles in the district have been started by the hostesses, and committees will be appointed at the next meeting on March 31. An invitation was read inviting the officers and all members of the local group to go to Huntington on March 17 to take part in a large initiation ceremony which they are conducting. Mrs. W. Hale was elected and installed as secretary, and Mrs. May Silvis who is moving away from La Grande. Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Mabel Allen and her committee.

Hostesses For Rambler Art Club

Mrs. Turner Oliver and Miss Marjorie Anderson were hostesses for the Rambler Art club on Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. K. Wright presented the program on business art, which is proving to be a most interesting year's study.

Ship Is Abandoned Off Chinese Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11 (AP)—The Mackay Radio and Telegraph company said today it had been informed the Norwegian motorship Roseville which grounded near Foochow, China, Monday, appeared to be a total loss and had been abandoned. The salvage ship Nasa Maru was expected to arrive at 9:05 a. m. today to begin what operations were possible. The Roseville, owned by A. F. Klavensness and company of Oslo, Norway, left Seattle Feb. 5 with general cargo for the Orient. The vessel had previously stopped here. The vessel was of 9,600 tons dead weight and carried a crew of 37.

Tribute to Pioneer Women

The inscription on the statue of the pioneer Mother at Ponca City, Okla., reads: "This monument was erected by E. W. Marland in appreciation of the heroic character of the woman who braved the dangers and endured the hardships incident to the daily life of the pioneer and homesteader in this country."

Spring Evening Gowns Drop To the Instep

By Diana Merwin (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Sparkle, shimmer and colorful tints mark the new gowns for evening hours. The frocks that milady will wear during this spring display a color range from crimson and blue velvet to shell pink and leaf green, decked in the gutter of sequins, silver and gold.

These may be in pastel tints, black or white, all of which promise popularity in the midst of the season's color.

Wallowa People Look for Coming Of Early Spring

By G. C. Meek (Observer Correspondent) WALLOWA, Ore. (Special)—Most folks in this community are eagerly looking forward for the spring season to become a reality. The weather the greater part of the time during the past week has been fair and warm during the day and quite cold at night. The hard freezing at night has made the snow and ice disappear slowly in the hill sections. In the valley the greater part of the snow has melted away and in many places the ground is becoming dry. Grass is said to be starting on the south slopes where the snow has been gone two or three weeks, however, with freezing temperature prevailing at most every night the growth of the new grass is not very noticeable. Practically no stock with the exception of horses are being placed on range yet. Many of the farmers say they are using nearly the same amount of hay in their daily feeding operations as they did during the early part of the winter season. Many find feeding some of the larger lots of stock a considerable chore at this time. The muddy condition of the ground in many places makes it difficult to find feeding places where there will not be a considerable waste of feed and where the feed has to be hauled for some distance the ground is quite soft making hauling a rather hard job. Livestock at many of the farms here give the appearance that they have come through the winter season in exceptionally good condition, there has been practically no losses of stock this winter, in a few instances those having aged ewes which were held with larger flocks of younger and stronger stuff have experienced some losses.

Muriel Webb Is Camp Fire Head

The Wakelita Camp Fire met Monday afternoon at the La Grande hotel and elected Miss Muriel Webb as president for the coming year. Miss Lois Jeanne Davis is vice president; Miss Genevieve Fixlar, secretary; treasurer, and Miss Neva Stein, correspondent. They will meet again Saturday at 2:30 at the La Grande hotel. Mrs. Merlin Batley is guardian.

Wallowa People Look for Coming Of Early Spring

Many of the dirt roads in this community are getting at their worse stage at this time, with the frost leaving the soil rapidly during the past ten days much of the water from the melting snows has soaked into the ground, making the surface of the roads about the only way in which they can use their cars for making trips to town is to go and come early in the morning before the surface of the ground has thawed. The unsurfaced portion of the market road in the Leap section is said to be very soft in many places at this time and farmers in that section are hoping that surfacing operations there will be completed before another spring. Lambing operations are becoming more wide-spread in this section and the farmers along these roads state that lambing within the next week or two. A number of farmers who have been holding their ewes in the state report that they are practically through lambing at this time and that early lambs are making an excellent growth. With an abundance of good feed there has been but little trouble with ewes not providing sufficient milk for the lambs. Indications at this time are that the percentage of lambs which are finishing lambing at this time will range well above 100 per cent. In a few in-
