Two Americans Slain In Sleep In Chinese Home

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 18 (AP)—About 100 men, armed with shotguns and revolvers, ambushed six guards of the Phillips Pipe Line company yesterday as they drove along a road between the company and a warehouse. The guards were killed and wounded four of the guards in a gun battle.

The attack was attributed to labor troubles, as the tanks of the pipe line company are being erected by the Chicago Bridge and Iron company under an "open shop" policy.

As the guards, all special duty men, were traveling in three automobiles about 100 yards apart entered a ravine between two railroad embankments, about 25 automobiles appeared from a side road.

The cars began to circle around Johnson, chief special duty, who was treated for gunshot wounds in the leg. "I stepped out and said, 'Don't come any further boys, stay off this road,' and then they opened fire. Some of them fired from their cars. Others got behind trees. All our two other cars arrived and all jumped behind them and fired back. About 400 shots were fired, the shooting lasting about 12 minutes, but those of the men who were wounded were shot in the first volley.

"We couldn't tell whether we hit the other men or not. They drove off after an automobile truck appeared."

The other guards wounded were Thomas J. McMurray, who received pellets in the legs and hips. Clarence Watkins, a pipe welder, who was shot in the left eye, and Ernest Goff, shotgun pellets in the back.

The attack occurred on the Illinois side of the Mississippi. After the truck, passed the attacking party got into their cars, the guards related, and drove off toward Cahokia, yelling "Scab! scab! scab!" and cursing and firing into the air.

100 Men Attack 'Scab' Guards In Labor Warfare

Seventh Day Adventist Missionaries Murdered—Slaughter of 3000 Peasants Reported.

PEIPING, China, March 18 (AP)—Mrs. Vera Mosher White, of Battle Ground, Wash., (near Vancouver) and Mrs. Victoria Marian Miller, whose mother lives at 1108 East Olympic Avenue, Spokane, Wash., were slain in their sleep Sunday at Yunnanfu. They were missionaries of the Seventh Day Adventist mission.

The crime was attributed to Chinese servants at the mission who had been discharged. The husbands of the women had gone on business to Tullu, 150 miles away.

A message to the United States legation here from Consul Harry Stevens brought word of the killings. The skulls of both women had been fractured by hatchets. Two children of Mr. and Mrs. White were not molested.

Yunnanfu authorities were searching for the assailants but had made no arrests.

Theodore Joslin Is Hoover's Secretary

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18 (AP)—Theodore Joslin was sworn in yesterday as secretary to the president at the White House.

Joslin succeeds George Akerson, who resigned to take an executive position with a moving picture concern.

The president's new secretary, before his appointment yesterday, was chief of the Boston Evening Transcript bureau here and had been political correspondent for that paper since 1916.

Apricot Blossoms Three Weeks Early

THE DALLES, Ore., Mar. 18 (AP)—City backyard apricot trees are blooming. Buds are just starting to burst in the orchard districts, promising a season three weeks earlier than normal, with a heavy crop indicated.

Hoover Is Invited To the Black Hills

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18 (AP)—President Hoover was invited yesterday to spend all or part of the summer in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

The invitation to spend a vacation in the same district in which his predecessor, President Coolidge, issued his historic "I do not choose to run" statement, was extended by Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, and by Paul E. Ballamy, a Rapid City business man.

BATHUB GIN-MAKERS GIVE JAPAN AN IDEA

NEW YORK (AP)—The Japanese have a new drink, synthetic sake, says an American Chemical society report.

Real sake, made from polished rice, is the national drink. Polished rice also is a food mainstay, and Japanese chemists say the synthetic drink is a food conservation measure.

EYES OF CURIOUS SUFFER WATCHING ARC-WELDING

BOZALAN, Idaho (AP)—Introduction of electric arc welding here has caused an epidemic of eye trouble.

Never having seen welding before, crowds pressed about to see the arc sputter and fuse the ends of street car rails.

They got so close that the ultraviolet rays from the arc affected the eyes of scores. At first an oriental eye man was supposed to have struck Bozalan.

Chinook Salmon Run Now at Grants Pass

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Mar. 18 (AP)—The Chinook salmon run was officially opened Monday with the announcement that two fish, one weighing 12 pounds, and one 32 pounds, had been hooked near here in the Rogue River by "Rainbow" Gibson.

With the river higher than usual, fishermen look forward to the usual run of the Isak Walton league will hold its annual fish banquet here tonight.

The catch is four days earlier than last year, when Gibson made the first report.

LOCAL MAN ARRESTED

BOISE, Ida., Mar. 18 (AP)—Two men who said they were William Anna La Roche of La Grande, Ore., and Jack Lucke of Nampa, Ida., were held in jail here Monday, accused of robbing Ed Gardner of Boise, of $45. Gardner declared they beat and robbed him during an automobile ride. They were unable to raise the $2,000 bail.

UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION IS NOW IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18 (AP)—Improvement in the employment situation was seen Monday by Chairman Woods of the Hoover emergency committee in weekly reports from field agents.

"There is a widespread and maintained disposition for employment, conditions to improve," he said, adding it was "proceeding slowly."

"The unemployment situation is rapidly easing in this territory with the opening of spring weather," Harold F. Fabian wired from Salt Lake as to the Rocky mountain territory.

Railroad maintenance and public construction were among the avenues of occupation described as opening.

Thad Holt telegraphed from Birmingham, that "the president of the World Wool Market Shows Improvement

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18 (AP)—The agricultural department reported yesterday a marked improvement in trade sentiment and some improvement in the business volume had resulted in a material recovery in world wool prices since the low point reached in January.

Factors of importance, the department said, in starting the recovery were the announcement of the early closing of the London stock, the holding of wool off the market and increased activity especially by British and Japanese buyers.

Large exports from Australia and New Zealand, with a realization that offerings in those countries would be reduced were said to be factors which may continue to support the market.

Says Christianity Is Compromising

CHICAGO, Mar. 18 (AP)—The Rev. Louis F. Martin of Kankakee, Ill., speaking before an Episcopal clergy round table Monday charged that Christianity was in a "compromise with the modern world."

The rector asserted that religion was occupied with building up an institution rather than finding God and advocated "the burning of all parish registers, suspension of confirmations for a year and starting anew with a goal of better Christians, not more of them."

Americans Waste Millions Annually

CHICAGO, Mar. 18 (AP)—Waste means profit to some folks. Delegates attending the annual convention of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers said it amounted to something like $750,000,000 a year.

C. B. Overton of New York, president of the organization, said worn out mops and dish cloths are likely to become anything from shoddy cloth to roofing paper and that oyster shells and old rope offer all sorts of possibilities.

By Blosser

Dr. Charters almost quailed before his look of hate.

searching those of the newcomer, and failing to daunt them.

"Right, Simon. And what time. Mad as a hatter. And what time place, or person, for a dangerous homicidal lunatic to come to?"

"How and what did you get in here?" asked Dr. Charters.

"Through that invitingly open window, a second ago, Simon."

"How did you get into the grounds?" pursued the Doctor.

"Over the 12-foot wall, iron spikes, broken glass and all. By way of the branch of a tree, Slimy Simon—not a rotten branch though, and, before the blazing look of hate in the man's eyes as he thrust his cruel face into that of Dr. Charters, the latter almost quailed."

"And so you're mad, are you?" he temporized.

"You've said it, Simon. And you've got to say it again at the right time and in the right place."

"What do you mean? And what do you want?" asked the Doctor perfunctorily as he considered the man, the past, and the situation.

"Oh, lots of things. Two for a start—'asylum and an alibi.'"

"Doubtless you're mad, but this is not an asylum."

"Witty Simon! It's going to be an asylum for me, though, and the alibi is going to be both physical and mental."

"I don't know what you're talking about. Do you?"

"Oh, yes, Simon. . . . Spider Schiltz has got his."

If the expression on Dr. Charters' inscrutable face changed at all, it was in the direction of greater inscrutability.

"And pray who might Spider Schiltz be?" he asked patiently.

"Oh, come off it, Simon. Don't waste time. Cards down and hands up. Spider Schiltz is, or rather was, the dear old pal of Half-hung Simon, alias Doc Sellar, alias Limey Doc, alias English Simon, alias The Reverend, alias Soapy Sam Symons. Also the dear old pal of Black Jack, Spud Hooley, Jim Crow, Chink Dorson, Slim Spike Simmons, Chicago May, 'Frisco Fanny, Gunman Gryde, Bo-hunk Marvitz, The Bad Wop, Dutch Dettinger, Shorty Lones, Eddie track me down and try to prove it on me, that is."

"And why, exactly, did you do it?" asked the Doctor.

"Now you're asking questions, Slimy," and the madman with an ugly leering grin, playfully shook his finger in the Doctor's face.

"Did you come straight here from Withery End?"

"Ah! Got you! . . . How does the innocent Dr. Charters happen to know that Spider Schiltz's place is the Withery End of the well-known racehorse owner and sportsman, Mr. Theophilus Webb?"

And, with a thoroughly ugly laugh, the madman picked up an ebony ruler and poked the unsmiling Doctor in the ribs.

"Who said Mr. Theophilus Webb of Withery End was Spider Schiltz of the old gang?" the madman repeated.

Slowly nodding his head, Dr. Charters tacitly admitted that the time had come to change his ground. Taking that gentleman's advice, he metaphorically put his cards on the table and his hands up.

"And why did you go after Spider Schiltz?" he asked again.

A twisted, cruel smile was the only reply.

"Well, who are you, anyway?" pursued the Doctor.

"Still impatient! I'll tell you who I am, all in good time, Simon. Meantime I'll tell you what I am. 'I'm the most valuable and invaluable patient in your nursing-home. I'm the man you've got to take the utmost care of. You've got to keep me very happy, keep me from brooding on the past—your past, Soapy! And, above all, you've got to keep me safe from the long arm of the law; for, if they get me, here I shall squeak and squeak again, Slimy! And what a tale I shall have to tell. . . ."

"So you'll take the greatest care of me, won't you? And if anybody wants to know, I've been here for a week, in bed. I'm going to bed now, and I think I'll get up to-morrow and let everybody see how docile I am—though harmless—I am."
