

GOLF PROS HAVE SOME EXPLAINING

Films of Bobby Jones and Joyce Wethered Show "New Styles."

By Paul Mickelson (Associated Press Sports Writer) CHICAGO, March 24 (AP)—Many professional golfers who have been teaching their golf clubs all these years, may have some explaining to do this summer when the royal and aristocratic Bobby Jones and Joyce Wethered, are exhibited in their home town club.

For the movies to be shown by the Professional Golfers' Association of America, will convince Mr. and Mrs. Duffer that not even their pro knows anything about the royal and aristocratic instances, they were wrong.

As a group of well known Chicago pros watched the pre-view of the slow movies in the ante room of the P. G. A., there were expressions of astonishment and chagrin.

Ex-President of P. G. A. surprised "Well, I'll be a hanked golf ball," mused Alec Pirie of Chicago, former president of the P. G. A., and a well known teacher of golf since 1909.

"Did you see what I saw?" Why neither Bobby nor Miss Wethered broke their wrists on the back swing until the club head has traveled about the point of impact with the ball as most of us have been teaching for all these years? Well, I'll be dog-gone! Let's take another look at them."

The most startling revelation gained by the pros from the Jones and Wethered pictures was their action at the top of the swing. The commonly accepted style was that the first section at the top of the swing was made with the hands to start the club head back. Miss Wethered and Bobby, however, pause at that point, bring around their hips and point their left heel firmly to the ground, thus getting an early pivot and fixing a fulcrum, which combines to give great power and the finest timing. The swing eliminates any appreciable sway and, in the words of Pirie, "makes them sock it a mile." Jones' shift at the top of the swing is far more noticeable than Miss

Jimmy Brown Gets His Free Ducat; Dwells on Curves and Like Things

Wethered's, the pictures revealed. For years, golf teachers have been instructing their pupils that the wrists should break almost the same time the club head leaves the ground on the backward swing. Not so with Bobby and Joyce. Bobby brings his club back almost horizontal with the ground before even the slightest break is noted in his wrists. Miss Wethered brings her clubs almost two-fifths of the way back without a wrist break.

The third "unorthodox" style of the two champions is at the impact of the ball. Snap your wrists when the club head connects with the ball," the pros have taught with stentorian voices.

But Bobby and Joyce go through steadily without a break. Not until their follow through is almost horizontal again with the ground is a break noticeable.

The P. G. A. took the films at a cost of nearly $10,000 and will exhibit them this summer. Meanwhile pros have time to study them.

Interest Shown In Creation Of Power Districts

SALEM, Mar. 24 (AP)—Two formal inquiries concerning the creation of utility districts, as provided under senate bill 108, known as the grange district power bill, have already been received by the new hydro-electric commission. The city of Reedport in Douglas county, has also written in for information, stating it desired to create a people's utility district and appropriate waters from the Umpqua river for power generation. Others have asked informally about plans, but no definite announcement made as to whether permits would be requested.

The measure permits the creation of power districts under the supervision of the hydro-electric commission, to create the utility districts, for the generation of power and distribution of same. The district is to be formed by vote of the people within the designated area. The commission then will conduct a public hearing at which time a report of the preliminary investigation by the commission will be received.

Health Made Her Give Up Position "My health was so wretched I had to give up several positions," stated Mrs. C. A. Wonnacott, 1021 Union Ave., Portland, Oregon. "Everything

I ate caused nervous indigestion; my kidneys were over-active; and my ankles would sometimes swell badly. Four bottles of this remarkable Sargol completely overcame my troubles. I have gained six pounds, my color is clear and healthy, and instead of feeling tired and sluggish I have an abundance of vitality. Sargol truly had a wonderful effect on my liver and relieved my constipation entirely without the least upsetting effect. Sargol is simply wonderful."

By Alan J. Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor) Gabby Street won't let the umpires get away with anything, if he can help it, even in spring exhibition games.

You would have thought the world's series was on in earnest at Fort Myers, during the third game of the "spring" championships, between the Cardinals and Athletics, as Gabby came galloping off the bench to squawk about a decision behind the plate.

Roger Cramer, rookie outfielder of the A's, had half swung at a pitch but Umpire Quinn called it the fourth ball and sent Cramer to first Street, beefed so insistently that Quinn began to wonder whether he had made a mistake. He consulted his associate, Umpire Kopschaw, and was told he probably had. So Street was sustained and the decision reversed, but Cramer got a base on balls, anyway, off the rookie southpaw, Bill Marshall.

NEW BALL LAZY "But that's just where I thought the new ball was easiest," replied Bobby. "I can stop the darned thing so promptly and with so little application of control that it really has simplified that part of the game for me."

That's just it, Bob," was the rejoinder. "You know, with the old ball, I was accustomed to smack it up there on a short pitch, allowing for that one big hoy the old ball always took before the backspin took hold of the greer and stopped it. This new ball doesn't hop. It just sits down, like a poached egg. And I'm consistently better."

They agreed that the man who administers a lot of backspin to the short pitch should bang the new ball right at the pin.

NICE TO BOBBY Bobby then recounted an experience recently at East Lake, which he asserted positively could not have happened with the old ball. He was playing with Bill Warren and Berrien Moore Jr., one of the crack kid golfers of Atlanta, and missed his second shot woefully for the thirteenth green—the winter green, a flat affair sloping to the left, and some distance from the regular green. Indeed, Bobby's ball was in a bunker by the old green, lying cleanly on the sand.

"The green was hard and fast and sloping away from me," said Bobby, "and Berrien had just laid his third shot a foot from the pin. I took a nibble, cut the legs out from under the ball, and it shot out of that bunker, landed no more than ten inches in front of the hole—and stopped within that distance, about two inches from the hole. The same shot, with the old ball, must inevitably have trickled yards past the flag."
