In Washington

By Herbert Plummer
WASHINGTON—A white-haired man who, until a few days ago, was Illinois' senior United States senator, surrendered his suite of offices on the hill the other day and turned to what he likes to call the fourth chapter of his career.
He is Charles Deneen, the man whom Ruth Hanna McCormick defeated in the Republican primary last year, only to be in turn defeated by J. Hamilton Lewis in the general elections.
The first chapter of that career was concerned with nothing more than the ordinary progress of a man devoted to politics in a state in which his party generally was successful. It carried him to the governor's chair for two terms.
The second covered a period of 12 years in which he was in political retirement, going about the practice of law.
The third chapter covers that period when he emerged as an almost forgotten political figure, won a seat in the United States senate, and later shattered one of the most powerful political organizations that ever controlled state and county government in Illinois.

A STORMY LIFE
Those have been stormy and hectic years for Deneen. And every one of his home has been bombed, supposedly by political enemies. There was a 21-day deadlock in the state Republican convention before he won his first nomination for governor. His crusade to "undo the alliance of politics and crime" is regarded by many as his most outstanding public service.
The grandson of a Methodist circuit rider and county surveyor, the son of a professor of Latin, Deneen early in life chose law and politics for his career.

A great-grandfather left Georgia because of his hatred for slavery, and in three state legislatures led a fight to prevent admission of every new state into the union.

FIELD BIG JOBS
Although he served only one term as a United States senator, Deneen held some of the most important committee assignments in that body.
At various times he served as a member of the finance, judiciary, agriculture and manufactures committees—four of the most powerful of the senate. Also he held berths on the claims and elections committees.
One of his outstanding feats in the senate was the part he took in the fight to seat Frank L. Smith, who was appointed to fill an unexpired term and elected for a full term as senator from Illinois. Smith was arrested, however, because of the alleged improper sources of his campaign funds.
In the senate Deneen was regarded as among the most industrious of his colleagues. He was regularly Republican on all issues, a staunch supporter of the administration.

3000 DENOUNCE TAMMANY RULE

Federal, state and city action to relieve unemployment.
"Everything that has happened since the city affairs committee began its agitation against the Walker administration has been a confession of guilt on the part of Tammany," said Mr. Holmes.
"Laughing at its enemies, sneering, scoffing, wise-cracking, the Tammany hall gang now is terrified, and is hoping by cessation of guilt and promise of reform to secure pardon."
The administration when charged with corruption, repudiated the charge and defied the legislature to investigate. Now that an investigation has been ordered, Tammany suddenly becomes good and starts cleaning house of its own accord."
"Tyrant Controlled"
Recalling the Tweed, Croker and Murphy days, Mr. Holmes said Tammany stood three convicted and he asked a "life sentence."
Mr. Thomas accused Mayor Walker of "running away" from the unemployment crisis and said the city had robbed the poor by inaction far more than the rich by graft.
Heywood Brown said he had picked a job for Walker which he would grasp—ex-mayor.
Governor Roosevelt has before him a demand from City Comptroller Charles W. Berry that charges filed against that official be immediately heard. Berry is the third party official to be individually cited to the governor.
Charges were filed by William J. Allen, director of the institute for public service, who alleged Berry misused the power of his office, and was inefficient.

JIMMIE WELL TANNED

PALM SPRINGS, Cal., March 31 (AP)—Mayor James J. Walker is taking a healthy desert tan back with him to New York today. His sun bathes taken daily since he came west 18 days ago, have driven away the office pallor. He has smoked non-nicotine cigarettes and his glass of milk became a "prop" at all newspaper conferences.
"No more being careless about my health," he said, adding he expects to be in New York by 10 o'clock after he reaches New York and that he will leave his office by five in the afternoon.

Mayor Walker received a copy of the charges made against him and his administration from Governor Roosevelt yesterday but is reserving comment on them until he reaches New York. He chose the 2:30 p. m. train for his departure.

LA GRANDE BAND WILL OFFER CUP

ment and a silver cup will be awarded to the school in each class having the highest number of points, exclusive of solos. A sweepstakes cup will be awarded the school scoring the highest number of points, including solos. The sweepstakes token to be permanently retained must be won three successive times in open competition. Only one entrant from each school shall be permitted to enter each solo event, according to the rules issued by the tournament committee.
Each class includes both vocal numbers for boys and girls voices and instrumental numbers for orchestra, band, and individual wind, reed and string instruments. In class A there are five events in the vocal ensemble, and four in the instrumental; Class B, five vocal and four instrumental; and Class C, five vocal, and four instrumental. Solos include girl's high, low and medium voices, boy's high, low and medium voices, violin, cello, trombone, flute, horn, clarinet, saxophone and piano.
As a basis for judging, the piece of music to be played is stated in the rules in each event, and the selections chosen are difficult classical numbers, from among the most important composers.

CHURCH REPORTS GROWTH AT MEET

The Ladies' Aid, was chairman of the social committee.
Rev. J. George Walk, moderator, presided over the congregational meeting, with H. R. Hanna, clerk of the session, serving as secretary. Dr. J. L. Ingle, president of the board of trustees, presided over the meeting of the corporation, and Mr. Hanna was secretary. In the summing up of finances of the church it was found that the treasurer has a balance to report.

Crater Lake Park Will Open April 1

MEDFORD, Mar. 31 (AP)—E. C. Solinsky, superintendent of Crater Lake park, announced yesterday the park will be opened to the public Wednesday, April 1. Last year it was not opened until May 20.
The road to the rim is now open to its full width, part of the way through high-banked snow. Plows will be kept busy keeping the road clear.
There is now eight feet of snow at the rim, and a blizzard was reported raging there.

REPUBLICANS SEE NO NEED FOR CHANGES

a year and a half away, so why get everything upset?"
Senator Watson expressed unalterable opposition to an increase in taxes or a federal bond issue to meet the treasury deficit after the conference with Hoover.
The Indianan, Republican leader of the senate, did not obtain the president's views on the federal financial situation but disclosed his own to the executive in an hour and a half talk which embraced a field of political and governmental problems.
The two agreed there was no need for an extra session of congress to deal with unemployment and farm relief, and that an armistice in political debate would permit a more rapid economic rehabilitation.
"No Great Rush."
It was agreed, Watson said, that there is no great rush about reorganization of the Republican na-
