

EASTERN TEAMS DEFEATED AGAIN

Seals, Oaks and Angels Trim Major League Opponents in Friday Tilts

By the Associated Press.
Three teams of the Pacific Coast league had their "best" feeling today, for each had handed a major league club a defeat in yesterday's exhibition games.
The San Francisco Seals outplayed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 2 at San Francisco. The Oaks clipped the Detroit Americans 6 to 1 at Emeryville, and Los Angeles beat the Chicago Cubs 6 to 2 at Los Angeles to complete a big day for the Coast league.

The Seals won their tilt by virtue of a seventh inning rally which netted five runs. Another rally in the eighth accounted for the total. Before the rally the Pirates led by one run, gained in the third.
The batteries: Moline and Krumpholtz for San Francisco; Jacobs, Gibson and Pennington, Wilcox for the Pirates.

Oceanic Admits Two Hits.
Behind the two-hit pitching of Fred Ottman and aided by three Detroit errors in the fifth, the Oaks came out victorious. The score allowed the Oaks four runs in the fifth. Detroit got its single tally in the sixth when Robinson doubled, stole third and came home on Rayworth's long fly to center.
Batteries were Ottman and DeSauter for Oakland; Seaver and Rayworth for Detroit.

Charles Root, who came to the Coast from Los Angeles, allowed his former teammates ten hits, establishing them to win over the National league club.
Batteries were Seaver, Tullon, Moss and Seaver for the Angels; Root, May and Cuyler for the Oaks.

"Lefty" O'Doul.
The San Francisco Minors have traded Homer Summa to Los Angeles for Jimmy Walsh, an outfielder who contributed an "extra" Stephen, home. Walsh was traded over to Los Angeles by the Boston Nationals in the deal for Wes Schimmenti last winter. But he refused to accept the trade, claiming that he played in the Coast league for the second time to be traded over to his home, which is Oakland.

Outfielder Laverne, young San Francisco player who has been released by Portland, signed yesterday with the Cubs of the American league, which is the Seals team.

Supremacy Will Be Settled In Monday's Match

Eugene Homans Picks Seavers, Voight For '31

Who is the boss? McCarroll, of La Grande, or Seaver, of Walla Walla?
That question is something of a hot issue in the wrestling world, and the answer will be given in the match between the two men on Monday night. Seaver, who is a former champion, is a former champion, and McCarroll, who is a former champion, is a former champion. The match will be a hard one, and the winner will be the one who is the boss.

Last Rites For Rockne Are Held This Afternoon

By Paul Mickelson (Associated Press Sports Writer)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Apr. 4 (AP).—The last rites for Notre Dame's man of destiny came at last today. Knute Rockne, who was the greatest coach in college football, died at his home in South Bend today. He was 50 years old. He had been ill for some time. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach.

Only a few hours before the shadow of a setting sun on the dimly-lit room of old Knute Rockne, the boy who was the greatest coach in college football, died at his home in South Bend today. He was 50 years old. He had been ill for some time. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach.

It was the day of the end for Knute Rockne. The world of sport and good will was saddened by the news of his death. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach.

It was a sad day for the world of sport. Knute Rockne was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach.

Simple ceremonies were held for Knute Rockne. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach. He was a great man, and he was a great coach.

NORTON'S KIDDY SHOP

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor)
The National league will reverberate with some of the heaviest cannoning in years, despite the use of the new less lively ball, in the tussle for the batting crown won by William Harold Terry, native of Atlanta, resident of Memphis and first baseman of the New York Giants.

Bill topped the list with the tidy figure of 401 last year, but his hold-out tactics and subsequent illness this spring may prove costly in the gateway stages of the race for clubbing honors.

Reading from east to west, some of the principal contenders are Shueley, Berger, Schumacher and Washington, the heavy hitters of the Braves; Lindstrom and Ott of the Giants; Lefty O'Doul and Babe Herman, Brooklyn's twin sluggers; Klein and Arlett of the Phillies; the Waner boys of the Pittsburgh; Hornsby, Cuyler and Wilson of the Chicago Cubs; Haley, Frisch, Gelbert and Watkins of the Cardinals.

It is taking in a lot of talent and territory, giving some of the boys the benefit of a substantial doubt as to their ability to figure in the contest.

Somewhere in this collection, however, the 1931 batting champion of the league likely will be found, along with the leaders in various features of the art of pounding the stick-stuffed horse-head.

ITS SAID "CLAYE"

After some research, it has been discovered where Claye Dudley, the handsome ex-Brooklyn flinger now with the Phillies, acquired his unusual first name.

Tom Shaver of the Philadelphia Record is authority for the story that Dudley's father and a partner, Clayton, owned a business in the name of Claye Dudley.

Vancouver Gopher Gets Hole In One

VICTORIA, B. C., Apr. 4 (AP).—A hole in one, ambition of malle welders both expert and otherwise, was accomplished in tournament play here when George Thomas, Vancouver, sunk his tee shot on the 185-yard hole of the Dyaland golf club yesterday.

The hole was a hole in one, and it was a hole in one. It was a hole in one, and it was a hole in one. It was a hole in one, and it was a hole in one.
