Bay City Files People's Utility District Papers

SALEM, Apr. 10 (AP)—The first petition for the organization of a people's utility district under the new district power law, was filed with the state hydro-electric commission, C. E. Stricklin, secretary announced here. The papers were filed by R. J. Hendricks for the Bay City district. In Tillamook county.

The voters' preliminary petition was signed by 12 property owners, and requests the formation of the utility district at Bay City. The hydro-electric commission will make a preliminary report and call a hearing within the next 60 days, the new law provides. An election will follow in investigation by the commission.

Stricklin returned yesterday from San Francisco where he attended a bondholders meeting of the Ochoco Irrigation district. Reorganization of the district was effected and a new committee authorized. Four of the committee will be chosen from California and two from Oregon. A definite agreement on reorganization is up for approval by the state reclamation commission.

Eon Graham, attorney for the district from Prineville, attended the committee meeting with Stricklin. Of the $1,380,500 bonds out, more than $800,000 was represented at the session, Stricklin stated.
