Antiques, Quilts Feature Display Staged at Union

By Mrs. L. Z. Terral (Oregon Correspondent)

UNION (Special) The display of antiques and beautiful quilts at the Women's club Thursday afternoon brought out many rare old treasures that would have furnished a stimulus to the acquisitive propensities of any antique collector.

It was the first display of this kind to be held here although it had not been advertised much it proved such a success that it is likely to become an annual event.

Mrs. Cecil Griggs had charge of the program, which consisted of several musical numbers, Virginia Ward and Dora Crow sang a duet accompanied by Ethel Conklin, the high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Edith Clark played a beautiful selection, "The Bohemian Girl"; Glance Vaden played a trumpet solo accompanied by Miss Clark at the piano, and the chorus sang several old time songs.

Only a partial list of the many things displayed was made, and included the things that attracted unusual interest. There was an old pewter lamp usually pictured as the "Lamp of Learning" bearing the date 1780 entered by Mrs. S. E. Miller.

Other antique exhibited by Mrs. Miller were an American history 104 years old that was printed when the Union had but 20 states, and her mother's spinning wheel that was brought to America in 1878 and was said to be 81 years old. There were several interesting things belonging to the Levys among which was their mother's Bible, a very old and very elaborate embroidered and tuckered baby dress worn by Leon Levy (we aren't telling his age but the dress is 87 years old).

The dress is a collection of the time of Moses bearing the ten commandments in Hebrew and a German memorial to the Jewish soldiers for the services in 1848. It has been in the Levy family many years. Among the daguerotypes and old photographs was a quantity of "ween" pictures of a young mother that was said to be 125 years old. Mrs. Will Vogel had several articles over 100 years old among which were several pairs of very desirable hand stitching and a pair of flowered slippers worn by a great aunt.

A fire tons displayed by Alice Cadwell were quite a history. They were given to C. G. Pennington by Mary Alden Buchanan, of the sixth generation of John and Priscilla Alden. It is known to be over 200 years old. Mrs. Anne Schoonover had a collection of heirlooms that were unique as well as old. One was a dress shirt and was evidently handed down from a large man. It was over 100 years old. Mrs. Lew Bidler showed a book of Ossian's poems printed in 1823 and Mrs. N. L. Ward had a book of volumes of Harper's for 1869, bound by her grandfather. A file that served its purpose in the American revolution was the possession of the great-grandmother of Mrs. C. G. Pennington. There was a silver butter dish that was in the family of Mrs. Will Campbell 125 years ago. An applied and quilted cover made by Opal Garrett's grandmother 81 years ago attracted the most attention among the quilts because of its beauty of work and colors. All these articles were on display and showed a Chinese red wool couch blanket beautifully embroidered and said to be somewhere between one and four hundred years old. It was from a nobleman's castle of the Chinese empire. Mrs. Bell Wright exhibited a quilt spun and carded by her mother 87 years ago. There were many other exhibitors and exhibits, all of deep interest but time was lacking to make the list complete.

The high school orchestra and the director, Miss Eris Clark went to La Grande to participate in the Eastern Oregon music tournament. The selection they have selected to play in the contest was "The Bohemian Girl."

The advent of the fishing season was not attended by the usual enthusiasm this year although the opening day was ideal. Catherine creek has been too high and too much to allow successful fishing. The only real luck reported thus far is that of R. H. Bonney who caught his limit of fish in the Wallowa river to do it. Louis Derby accompanied him.

The regular meeting of the sewing circle of the Auxiliary has been postponed one week because of the 10-feature carnival and dance that is being put on at the Goodwood ball next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Legion and Auxiliary. The nature of the entertainment has not been announced but it promises some pleasant surprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lamb entertained several of their friends at the Puckett home Thursday evening. The evening was spent in playing pinocle which a lunch was served. Mrs. P. A. Goodwood won women's first prize. Earl Hetrick, the men's, and Owen Puckett the low.

MEIER DOWNS PROTESTS OF KAY AND HOSS

sent by Leo Dymitt, flax plant foreman at the resignation of the board of control hearing on charges against Meyer.

Dymitt, who was on the stand as adjournment was taken last night, was recalled today by Governor Julius Meier to answer further questions concerning the charges brought by the governor against Meyer as reason for his demand that he be dismissed. The other two members of the board, Hal E. Hoss and Tom B. Kay, desired proof of the charges before voting on the removal of the superintendent.

Clambed For Tobacco Dymitt, under questioning by Attorney John C. Veat for the governor, stated it was common knowledge there was considerable gambling among convicts for "picks," referring to packages of tobacco. He further testified that he had heard that Edwards had joined the convicts in the games at several occasions. He admitted he had not known of any other officials or guards joining in the games.

Concerning a petition, which Dymitt stated was placed with the prison guards he had not seen any signatures on it, endorsing Superintendent Meyer.

The witness also testified to attempts of sabotage on the part of the convicts following notice of wage reductions but that the same resulted. He stated the prisoners favored a merit system of wage, where by days would be taken off their time, rather than money. The merit plan was proposed to the board by the governor.

Tells of Low Inventory Dymitt testified of a low inventory being taken of the plant and supplies at the time Colonel W. B. Bartram took office, which was done by Meyer and Bartram. He also confessed that the plant was not efficient operation, declaring it possible to cut this down about two-thirds. The overhead was figured at about $600,000. He declared Bartram visited the plant several times a day, but did not spend much time at these plants. Colonel Bartram, in charge of the flax industry, was dismissed by the board effective May 1.

The hearing today was of a more orderly nature, and the crowd dwindled to about half of the opening day's throng. The governor expressed a desire to complete the hearing today if it runs into the night, but other members of the board hope to adjourn the session early in the afternoon to continue it Monday.

Heresay Testimony Upon cross examination Dymitt admitted he was not an expert on costs, that he had no knowledge of what was included in overhead. He further admitted all his testimony on gambling at the prison was from hearsay and that he did not present the present administration prisoners now did not get their hands on any form of dope, which did occur previously, and there had been no attempt to burn buildings.

Previous administrations were lax with the flax industry, the witness stated, and that the present more business is being done than formerly, even though the machinery was obsolete and did not keep up with the improved methods of handling flax.

Dymitt's testimony consumed most of the morning session, and the governor indicated the hearing would adjourn at noon on Tuesday morning. The governor's attorneys stated several farmers wished to testify in addition to other regularly summoned witnesses.

trouble has developed over the religious question, despite apprehensions and tranquility reigns throughout the nation.

Peneta Improves The peneta improved to a mark of 9.90 to the dollar, the exchange showed increasing strength and a general atmosphere of more confidence in the Republic seemed to develop.

The government also plans to investigate the disposition of some 4,000,000 pesetas contributed to the de Rivera dictatorship by banks and commercial houses—some say under pressure—and supposedly used by the dictator for charity.

Senor Berenguer probably will be examined privately by a special judge Monday in proceedings similar to a grand jury investigation. It is the opinion in some quarters that he may be sentenced to prison because Republicans, many of whom were jailed by the Monarchy, feel that some one should taste the same medicine.

The Republic has no idea of attempting to try King Alfonso for his responsibility in setting up the de Rivera dictatorship or for the Morocco military disasters, observers said.
