WILD BILL DONOVAN TO WRESTLE MALCEWICZ

Here is Wild Bill Donovan, of San Francisco, but now wrestling out of Portland, who will pit his 230 pounds against Joe Malcewicz, Lithuanian, here Friday night.

CINCINNATI AND BROOKLYN WIN

Two Teams Come Out of Five-Day Trance — Cardinals Defeat Cubs.

By Gayle Talbot Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The National league, it seems, is to have an eight-club race after all. Brooklyn and Cincinnati, after taking it on their respective chins with slumping regularly since the opening day, finally have broken into the winners' circle.

accounts with the Athletics. His two wallpops in the stands, each time with Lynn Lary on base, accounted for all but one run in their 5 to 4 victory over Earningshaw. Gomez and Wells pitched brilliant relief ball after the champs had fallen on Johnson hard in the early innings.

The Boston Red Sox abruptly halted Washington's four-game winning streak, 13 to 3. While Russell kept eight Senators hits scattered, his mates piled into four opposing hurlers for 18, driving Crowder out in the seventh.

Although hit hard, Willis Hudlin was tight in the pinches and Cleveland stayed in the thick of things with a 9 to 3 decision over Detroit. Every Indian contributed to a 14-hit assault on Waite Hoyt and Rogsett. Hein stopped the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns in the latter city.

Brooklyn fandom, possibly the most rabid in either major league, feels certain the Robins have gotten a lot of bad baseball out of their system early and are ready now to romp right on to the flag. Cincinnati enthusiasts have harbored no permanent hopes to speak of, but they are happy to see Colonel Howley's charges get a start, even if from the bottom.

Both clubs chose yesterday to come out of their five-day trance. Brooklyn's batting power, pretty dormant these several days, came to life and blasted a 10 to 5 victory over four Philadelphia pitchers. Every Robin joined in the fun, with Lombardi, a big rookie catcher, leading the way with a pair of doubles and a single.

Nick Cullip, former American association homerun king, led the Reds into the light. His circuit drive of nine with two on beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 5. Red Lucas held the Pirates to eight hits.

Cardinals Take Lead
Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals took over the undisputed leadership by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 2. Burlingame Grimes hosting Bob Smith and Guy Bush in a mound duel. Jim Bottomley's homer in the sixth provided the "difference."

The New York Giants and Boston Braves battled their way into a tie for second place by dividing their Patriotic day double header. Rookie John Berly pitched McGraw's clan to a 3 to 2 victory over Carl Hubbell when the southpaw filled the bases in the ninth and Spohrer fluffed a long fly, scoring Robertson.

WHO WANTS "half-way clean" RUGS?

Rugs and carpets that aren't thoroughly clean aren't clean at all. Ordinary cleaning merely removes the surface dust. Hoover cleaning goes farther—cleans deeper. It not only suction away surface dust and sweeps up thread and lint but beats out embedded grit packed into the deepest pockets and tufts of the rug.

That's real cleaning! Why not see for yourself? We'll send a Hoover to your home any time for a trial or demonstration. Simply telephone. Monthly payments.

Joe Vosmik Has Hit Percentage Of .636 To Date

By K. E. Sanders
CLEVELAND, Apr. 21 (AP)—Tris Speaker, Nap Lajoie, Stan Coveleski—they were great ball players, but it's Joe Vosmik now.

Vosmik probably won't put the Cleveland Indians in the world series, but he couldn't create any more of a baseball hysteria here if he did. In just one week, the strapping, blond youngster from the sandlots has smashed his way into a regular job in the big time in a fairy story manner.

H. Rarely Happens
Besides making the jump straight from the sandlots to the majors, Vosmik has made good in his home town—something that rarely happens in the big leagues. He didn't play the opening game because Manager Roger Peckinpaugh thought he might be too nervous, but in the five games since then he has batted out six singles, five doubles, two triples and a home run in 22 times at bat. It figures out at an average of .636.

Cleveland fandom, which never before saw a rookie break in so auspiciously, has taken Vosmik to heart. The bleachers, who watch him in left field, have installed him as their favorite.

He's proving a drawing card, too. Seventy thousand persons have turned out in five days to see him play.

Natural Batter
It all may turn out to be just another flash in the pan, but he's a natural. He hits 'em slow and fast, high and low, in a natural manner. The tribe wouldn't have had Vosmik hadn't they decided to take Cleveland's two best sandlotters south with them this spring. "I always would be a ball player," Vosmik said, "but I never thought seriously would until then. I made up my mind I'd try for it."

Vosmik has no other ambitions or hobbies and thinks nothing but baseball. When he was in school he was a pitcher, but he has since given up that. His mother didn't like it at first, but now she admits there may be something in baseball. He was 21 years old April 4 and has lived all his life in Cleveland.

WORTHY OF A PLACE among the best hitters in the major leagues, another find his way into the hands of young and old alike.

Political Ideas of Two Americans Played Part in Downfall of Alfonso

By Alexander R. George
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the slowly-unfolding drama of the crumbling of the once-mighty Spanish dynasty, American influence has had a leading role.

Thirty-three years ago the war cry, "Remember the Maine" was the death knell to the shrunken remnants of Spain's gigantic empire in the new world.

Today, in the evolution of modernized, republican Spain, the economic and political ideas of the Americans, north and south, have been important.

The defeats of Spanish arms at San Juan hill and Manila bay, with consequent loss of their last possessions in the western hemisphere, indirectly were factors in the fall of the monarchical form of rule which held proud sway, with one short interruption, for 15 centuries.

The monarchists, seeking to recoup national military prestige lost in the Spanish-American war, devised the ill-fated expedition against the Rif in Africa.

The demoralizing defeat led to establishment of the Rivera dictatorship, which perhaps hastened the coming of the republic and the de-thronement of Alfonso, last of the Bourbons.

In Barcelona and other industrial centers where republicanism is believed to have its strongest roots, the American influence on business methods, transportation and amusement development and even amusements has had its strongest effect.

So modern in appearance is Barcelona that many tourists from this country have expressed disappointment in not finding there immediately the old Spain of medieval romance.

Government Of Honduras Quells Coast Rebellion

By Gertrude Wagener, librarian.
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 21 (AP)—The Honduran government yesterday took all necessary measures for the overwhelming of rebel forces now operating in the north coast region.

The government announced that Colonel Luis Alfonso Lopez had attacked a rebel force of 500 men near Progreso and had defeated them, killing some and wounding others.

It was stated that the rebellion was considered unimportant and that the whole liberal party and various conservative municipalities had pledged their support to President Mejia Colindres.

The leaders of the uprising were described as Mariano Gonzalez and Ladislao Santos, both minor figures. They began operations in the north coast region but thus far have not attacked any important cities.

Nine Teachers Are Elected By Wallowa Board

By Mrs. C. A. Hunter
(Observer Correspondent)
WALLOWA, Ore. (Special)—At a meeting of the Wallowa school board, nine teachers for the coming winter were selected. Four more will be hired later. Miss Melba Hanks and Miss Agnes Robertson were re-elected as commercial teacher and home economics teacher, respectively, in the high school. Miss Grace Potter of Eugene, was elected to teach social science and assist in English. In the grade school Miss Agatha Marvin, second grade teacher, was elected to the first grade, Miss Ruth Hayes re-elected to the eighth, Miss Lenore McKinnis, sixth, Miss Louise Kennedy, fifth and Miss Lottie McCrae fourth. All were retained at the present salaries. Miss Italian Dale, who taught here three years prior to returning to the University of Oregon and who this year completed her university course, was elected to the first grade.

Mrs. Harold Hamstreet and daughter, Mona Louise, drove down from Joseph Tuesday and spent the day with Mrs. Hamstreet and daughter, Jane Daugherty. Mona Louise brought the pennant she won at Enterprise in the county spelling contest, which was held there April 11, to show her grandmother. She was the best speller in the county in the eighth grade. Leo Juve, of Enterprise, was runner-up. Mrs. Lewis Barton, of Joseph, sixth, and Henry Beecher, of Enterprise, were seventh grade winners. Miss Ruth Hayes, eighth grade teacher of Wallowa, conducted the examinations in both written and oral spelling.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Royster, of Wallowa, received a message Wednesday morning that their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roscoe Royster, of Walla Walla had died suddenly on Tuesday evening of a heart attack. The Royster family left Wednesday afternoon for Walla Walla. The death is especially sad in that Mrs. Royster leaves two small daughters orphans, an infant who was old and the other, child two years of age. Her husband, Roscoe Royster, was killed in an automobile accident about six months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Royster expected to bring the infant daughter home with them.

Harold, Alfred and James Noregaard, of Wallowa, were called to Baker the first of the week by the serious illness of their father, Jens Noregaard. Mr. Noregaard died on Wednesday, April 18, at the age of 87 years. He had been sick for some time. He was born in Denmark and came to the United States in 1891, first locating in Logan, Utah. He was a member of the Lutheran church. Surviving are his widow, four daughters, Mrs. J. M. Davis, of Baker; Mrs. N. M. Jones, of Portland; Mrs. A. M. Jones, of Lewiston, City, Iowa; Mrs. P. J. Bragg, of Portland, and five sons, Carl, of Cody, Wyo.; John of Baker, Calif.; of Enterprise, Idaho; and Harold, Alfred and James.

Funeral services were held from the Lutheran church in Baker Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Susan Inman, of Wallowa, Wednesday that her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Inman, of Ilwaco, Wash., was ill and had been taken to a Portland hospital for an operation. Mrs. Inman expected to leave Wallowa Thursday but was notified that Mrs. Inman's condition was not serious and did not make the trip. The operation was performed Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Dorsey, Mrs. William McRath was the assistant hostess and Mrs. Max Cook, of Ilwaco, was the hostess.

Sixteen members and two visitors were present. Lovely refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting.

Reese Sutphin is at home for two weeks while the sawmill at Baker is closed for repairs.

Joe McClaran was in town Monday from his sleep raniel on Lightning creek. He says his sheep have wintered well and is having fine success with lambing.

Mrs. W. F. Poole and Mrs. Lewis Carpenter motored to Enterprise Thursday and spent the day as guests of Mrs. W. Shiloh. Mrs. Jim Livermore, Chinese, who formerly operated a cafe here, has returned to Wallowa and has made arrangements to open a restaurant in the Ott building.

Mrs. Ross Hood, Mrs. C. A. Hunter and small grandson, Charles A. Hunter, motored to Grande Tronche Monday and visited with friends until Friday evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. W. Kinzie. The Christian Ladies' Aid met Wednesday at the country home of Mrs. Frank Renfrow.

Manit Woley was injured Tuesday while loading logs at the Wallowa depot. The hook slipped from a log and struck Mr. Woley on the head. He was rushed to the Wallowa hospital where his condition was thought so far recovered that he will be removed to his home Sunday.

The selection of 10-year-old Sidney Wood and 20-year-old Frank Shields for the first American Davis Cup team picked for the 1934 season marks another step in the development of the two players destined perhaps to fill the places once embellished by the famous Bills—Tilden and Johnston.

Wood and Shields furnish a contrast in style and temperament equally as marked as the differences between Tilden and Johnston.

Shields is the Tilden of the new combination, tall, rangy and with a terrific service. There the comparison stops, however, for Wood has nothing to resemble the rifle-shot forehand drive that was so conspicuous a weapon in Johnston's hands. The new pair is a well-balanced team, He is tireless at covering the court, with a gift for tactics as brilliant as Tilden ever possessed.

At the Davis Cup it is to be brought back from France within the next two or three years, the odds are 2 to 1 that Shields and Woods will turn the trick.

They represent the second group of youngsters to move forward since France took the trophy overseas. The first group, including Doeg, Loft, Van Ryn, and Allison aided by Tilden, failed to accomplish the job, and has now reached the stage where further improvement is questionable.

This Game of Golf

It occurs to this correspondent that the case for the new standard golf ball is pretty well settled. If there was any doubt lingering in the bosom of old John Public, or any worthy and expert competitor, that it was possible to score adequately with the 1.6811.55 projectile, I fancy it must have been removed by the concluding round of Gene Sarazen in the opening hole of the opening round. Then the 256 bunkers on the course began to serve notice that they also were not going to be ignored, and after a good 71 in Round 2, and a tie at that stage with Joe Turnesa, at 69-79-139, Gene used up 77 blows for the third round.

Tommy Armour, who had been sucking around the top, finished half an hour ahead of Sarazen with 73-69-72-71-285, and with four holes to play, Gene, in a tie with Tommy, had to do par to maintain it. He picked up three strokes from there in, finished with a 66, and won, with 292.
