By the Associated Press
Sacramento's lengthy hold on first place in the Pacific Coast league was broken today.

In a game with the Angels yesterday, the Senators went down 6 to 5 and Los Angeles moved into first place. Three runs in the third and three more in the eighth were just enough to freeze out the Senators. Koehler of the Senators, and Jacobs of the Angels, hit homers.

Two shutouts—Portland and San Francisco shut-out their opponents. The Beavers blanked the Mission Reds 2 to 0 at Portland and in a night game the Seals defeated Oakland 5 to 0 at San Francisco.

Ray Keating was in top form and his spittball helped blank the Missions. They were another in the line.

Sam Gibson, Seal right hander, turned in his fifth straight season victory in shutting out Oakland. He aided the cause by connecting for a triple and a single. The Oaks gathered nine hits, but Gibson always retired the side before he could score.

Seattle defeated Stars in the seventh which promoted two runs. They were another in the line. The Stars started a rally in the ninth, but the rally was too late. Batteries: Reuther and Gaston for Seattle; Johns, Yde and Severeid for Hollywood.

At Portland: R. H. E. Missions 0 8 0 Portland 2 8 0 Walsh and Brenzel; Keating and Woodall.

At Los Angeles: R. H. E. Sacramento 5 11 1 Los Angeles 0 13 1 Bryson and Koehler, Wirtz, Moss and Schulte.

At Seattle: R. H. E. Hollywood 3 12 0 Yde, Johns and Severeid; Reuther and Gaston.

At San Francisco: R. H. E. Oakland 0 11 1 San Francisco 5 11 1 Daglia and Reed, DeBerry, Gibson and Baldwin.

JOHNNY FARRELL ON GOLF
By Johnny Farrell (Former American Open Champion)
NO. 1—A COCKY KID
I had a pretty good swing as a kid golfer, for a skinny young Irishman who didn't know much about the game.

I listened to Tom Kerrigan at Elwamy, where I caddied and worked in the shop before becoming an assistant pro. I listened to my older brother, Jim, but secretly I thought I knew as much about golf as they did. I wasn't impressed by much but myself in those days.

If there is anything out of my experience worth passing on now to younger players, it is this: "Don't be too cocky. Listen to the older fellows. Pick up all the tricks of the game you can. Don't practice too long at a time but get a good, easy swing and stick to it."

I wasn't overly strong at first, especially when it came to those 72 hole tournaments. As a result, another thing I have learned is the value of proper conditioning, dieting and relaxation during a tournament.

After two more years of finishing close, the 1928 tournament came along and I won when I least expected it. I played the first two rounds with Jones and trailed him by seven strokes. The pairings were changed and nobody paid any more attention to me.

Before the start of the final day's 36 holes, however, Gene Sarazen told me: "This looks like a day anything can happen. Go on in there and do something."

I'll never forget that day—or the next. I went around almost alone, shot 71-72 and finished with a 294 that Jones tied after slipping to 77 on his last round. I thought we were both licked when Roland Hancock came along needing only a 5-5 on the last two holes to win, but he blew and took 6-6.

Jones and I were still tied after 35 holes of our playoff the next day. I had a 7-foot putt to win on the 36th hole. I took a look at it and said to myself, "I know this is the one! Look how big that hole is." It was "in" all the way and the first thing I heard was a whoop from Gene Sarazen.

JACKSON AND SARGANT EVEN; O'DELL WINNER
PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 29 (AP)—Stimmbat Jackson, Klamath Falls, middleweight and Stanley Sargent, Vancouver, Wash., light heavyweight, were awarded a six round decision over Tommy Jeffers, Seattle, Jeffers had the best of the latter rounds, but was too late in getting started to suit the referee. O'Dell was the aggressor throughout.

Pete Ritter, Vancouver, Wash., middleweight stole the show with his outstanding knockout of Cowboy Brooks from Texas. A dynamiting right-hand punch to the jaw was enough for Brooks. It was Ritter's tenth knockout in eleven starts.

Tommy Gallas and Red Rader went six fast rounds to a draw. Tommy Walsh after taking a bad licking for three rounds from Louis Nelson, came back to gain a four-round draw.

Sharkey-Carnera Fight Approved
NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The New York State Athletic commission yesterday approved the proposed 16-round match between Primo Carnera and Jack Sharkey, scheduled for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10, but did not designate it as for the heavyweight championship.

NYSSA DEFEATS WILDER
NYSSA, Ore. (Special)—The Nyssa Independent baseball team defeated Wilder, Idaho, 11 to 4 in an Eastern Oregon and Idaho conference game Sunday afternoon. The Nyssa boys outplayed their opponents in every department of the game. Dick Young, Nyssa hurler and former Oregon State pitcher, only allowed Wilder 6 hits while Nyssa was successful in making 13 hits.

Albert Hopkins and Owen Price, La Grande boys, are with the Nyssa team. Price led the list of batting honors with three hits.

BOWLERS COMPETE TODAY
PORTLAND, Ore., Apr. 29 (AP)—Class A aggregations will begin assaulting the ten-pins at the annual Northwest bowling congress here today.

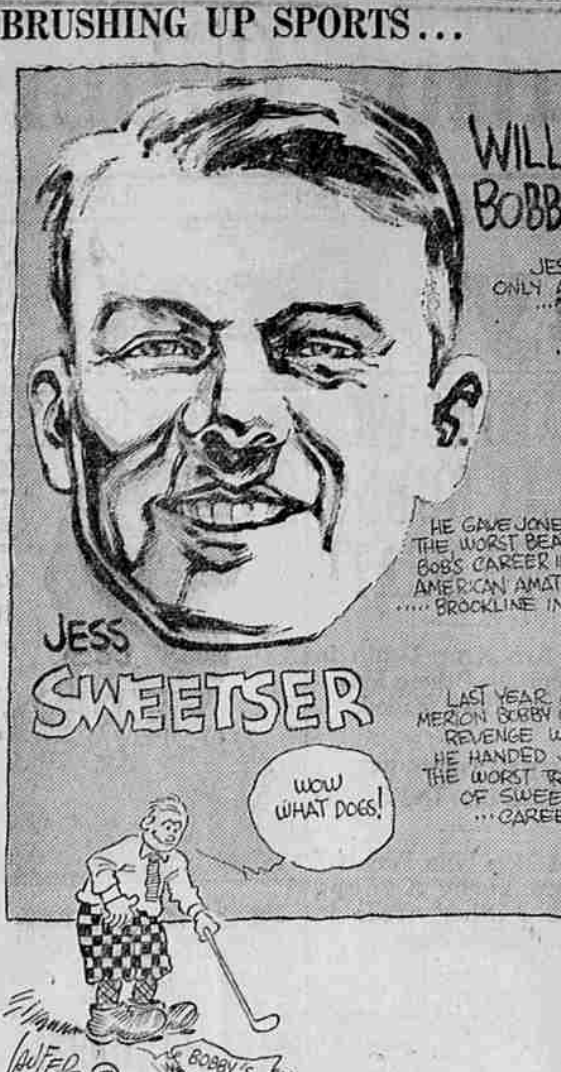

O. H. Hudson, congress secretary, said last night all minor leagues had completed play.

The Oregonian No. 1 team, Portland, last night won the Portland commercial division championship, while the Kilham Stationery was in top place in the booster class. The Oregonian team rolled 2320, while the Kilham five rolled 2410.

Honeyman Hardware, Portland was second in the commercial division and Brunswick-Balke-Collender was second in the booster class.

"You first, Alphonse," as the Republicans in Spain said, pointing to the exit door.

STANDARD RATING SCALE for Electric Refrigeration

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra-freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature of the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frozen" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)
- Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set" things down for a moment while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?
- Has the experience of over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?

Jimmy McAleer, One-Time Owner of Red Sox, Dies
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Apr. 29 (AP)—James R. (Jimmy) McAleer, 68, one of the organizers of the American League, former owner of the Boston Red Sox, and former manager of the St. Louis and Washington American league clubs, died today, after a long illness.

In his prime as a player, in the 90's, with the old Cleveland and St. Louis Nationals, McAleer was regarded as the greatest center fielder in the game. He was a good hitter and an exceptionally fast. He first became famous with Cleveland in 1890.

After piloting the first St. Louis American league club, serving as a right-hand man of Sam Johnson in the new circuit's organization, and then piloting Washington in 1910-11, McAleer became a part owner and president of the Boston Red Sox, who were world champions in 1912.

Five are from the Texas league, three from the Southern association, two each for the Three-Eye, American association and International, one each from the Western, Middle Atlantic league and South Atlantic association.

WHERE THEY CAME FROM
Taking in all 24 of the contributions to big league personnel we have listed, the Pacific Coast league leads in representation with seven.

Sport Slants
By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
The first crop of major league box scores, always scanned closely by the baseball fanatics, revealed a total of only 15 new men in the 16 line-ups.

This is a small percentage, compared to the wholesale quantities of material tried out in training, but it is a little better showing than usual for the newcomers.

Taking the first three games of each team into consideration, the total of 22 recruits was introduced to big league warfare.

Only a few, such as Sheely of the Braves, Cullop of the Reds and Bettencourt of the Browns ever played in fast company before.

Here's the list who made their bow as regulars on the opening day: St. Louis Browns—Levey, shortstop; Burns, first base; Bettencourt, right field.

Chicago White Sox—Simons, centerfield; Appling, shortstop. Cleveland Indians—Dettore, third base.
