JOHNNY FARRELL ON GOLF

By Johnny Farrell
(Former American Open Champion)
As told to Alan Gould
N. B. THE IDEAL ROUND
I have been asked a number of times to select the best-shot-makers in golf; not purely from the standpoint of individual scoring ability, but on the basis of style and consistent results.

It would be an ideal round, in my opinion, if each shot could be played from tee to green by the following line-up:

Driver—Bobby Jones.
Brassie—Tommy Armour.
Spoon—Joe Turnesa.
Driving Iron—Bobby Cruickshank.
No. 2 Iron—Gene Sarazen.
No. 3 or 4 Iron—Leo Diegel.
Mashie—Willy Macfarlane.
Mashie niblick—Walter Hagen.
Spade—Macdonald Smith.
Chip Shots—Horton Smith.
Putter—Bobby Jones.

Some of these selections are difficult to make, the margin of difference being very close, but I think you will find in each case I have good reasons for my choice. Jones is long as well as accurate off the tees. He is no longer, as long as the average as hitters such as Craig Wood, Ed Dudley, Gene Sarazen and Leo Diegel, but he can hit my tee shots on this team.

Bobby will do on the greens also, although I might like to take a few of the long putts myself. If Jones wanted to rest up for his next best shot.

Cruickshank hit one of the greatest No. 1 iron shots I ever saw when he tied Jones for the open in 1923 at Inwood.

You hear more about Armour's iron play but he is better with the long wood. He gets more out of a brassie shot than any other professional I know.

Hagen always has been a master with the mashie niblick. He has extreme confidence with this club.

Hagen always has been a master with the mashie niblick. He has extreme confidence with this club.

Horton Smith's best scoring last winter was due to his fine chip shots. These saved him many a time when he was having trouble with other clubs.

ing the first three rounds there were no falls. Freberg ranks as one of the best heavy-weight wrestlers in the Pacific Northwest.

COAST LEAGUE WILL FEATURE NIGHT GAMES

By the Associated Press
Play in the Pacific Coast league will see all teams on a night schedule tonight with the first Pacific Coast Beavers meeting Los Angeles in the Southern California city.

The Beavers increased their lead in last week's series with Seattle while the Angels, who held the lead a few weeks ago, are now in sixth place.

Oakland's Acorns, who have forged into second place, will be at home to the Hollywood Stars, last year's champs, and the San Francisco Missions remain at home to play Seattle.

The San Francisco Seals will journey to the state capital to open a series with the Sacramento Senators. Manager Carl Zankoch of the Oakland club yesterday announced the outright release of Gus Gockel, young southpaw. It was said that Gockel, who won 19 and lost four games in the Central League last year, failed to produce with the Coast club.

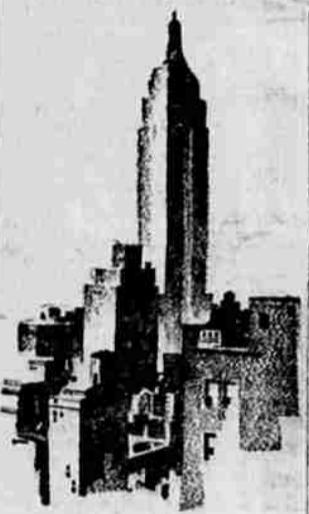

Wrestling fans of La Grande and nearby towns and cities are setting aside Thursday night of this week for their favorite sport, with a match between Stanislaus Zbyszko, 60-year-old Polish grappler of international fame, and Charles Westenberg, of Chicago, billed for the Eagles hall, Ray McCarrill, promoter, announces that the card will begin at 8 p. m. and will feature some good preliminary events in addition to the main go between the two heavyweights.

Westenberg, who tips the scales at about 210 pounds, is known as the "Terrible Westenberg," and is reported to have quite a following in the Middle West. Zbyszko has been wrestling for decades and ranks as one of the grandest of them all. He hasn't lost his ability, however, in spite of his age. Last night in Seattle he won from John Freberg, Scandinavian champion, on a foul in the fourth round.

The Associated Press story this morning stated that Freberg kicked the Pole in the chest while he was tangled in the ropes, and the referee awarded the match to Zbyszko. During the first three rounds there were no falls. Freberg ranks as one of the best heavy-weight wrestlers in the Pacific Northwest.

Baseball Game Here on Sunday With O.-W. Team

In connection with the invasion of La Grande by the Portland O.-W. club athletes Sunday, a baseball game has been arranged for. Bob Quinn, former Blue Mountain league outfielder and athletic coach at the E. C. N., has been asked to organize a nine to play the Portland team Sunday, and tryouts will be held each afternoon this week at 5 o'clock at the high school at 5 either tonight or tomorrow night.

Besides Quinn, former Pendleton outfielder, other players who will see action include Jimmy King, of Imbort, second-batter with the Old La Grande Pirates, also Gib Stokke, who was manager and first baseman on the Pirate aggregation, and who played with Baker last year. Two or three ball players are coming from Cove, including one named Phillips, and the remainder of the team will be formed from local men.

Besides the baseball game Sunday, the O.-W. group will bring a trap-shooting team, a golf team and some crick horses to the pits for competition with local organizations.

Phillies Stop Winning Streak Of Cardinals

By Gayle Talbot Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Manager Earl Shotton has his Philadelphia Phillies using an entirely different system this season, and they are getting surprisingly good results.

Last year the Phils went in for bunts and hits, including doubles, triples and homers, but they didn't score in proportion. The result was that they led the National league in hitting and were a strong eighth in the final club standing.

This year, however, Shotton has his boys going at it differently. With such sluggers as Lefty O'Doul and Franco Thompson gone, the 1931 Phils are not getting as many hits, but they are getting them where they count, leaving fewer men on base and winning more ball games.

Cardinals Nosed Out
For instance, they collected only five hits yesterday, but they cut off the eight-game winning streak of the St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 1. Chuck Klein hit his sixth homer of the year to tie the score in the sixth inning. Then big Buzz Arlett got on second and Les Mallon, rookie infielder, brought him in with a lassy double. With Phil Collins turning the Cards back round after round, that was all the Phillies needed. Wild Bill Hallahan was the victim of the winnowy concerted attack.

Their loss to the Spottsmen reduced the Cardinals' lead over the New York Giants to a single game. Cold weather at New York kept the Giants and Chicago Cubs indoors and gave Manager Roger Hornsby of the western team an opportunity to speculate on what had happened to his hitters. He admitted that being held to eight hits in two games with the Giants was bad business, but denied a rumor that he planned to bench Hack Wilson, the hard hitting outfielder.

Pirates Win Again
Braving the chill winds on the opposite bank of the East river, the Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Robins got in the day's only other National league contest. Heine Meine let the Robins down with five hits to give the Pirates their second straight victory, 4 to 2. The invaders bunched four hits off Darry Vance to score three runs and sew it up in the fourth.

Only one American league tit survived the epidemic of rain and cold, the Washington Senators burying Detroit under an avalanche of hits, 14 to 4. Cassie Bluzek led the 18-hit assault on four Tiger pitchers with a homer, double and two singles. Kuhl had a double and two singles and Joe Cronin a homer and single. Carl Fischer went the route for the Senators to score his third victory.

Wrestling

EVERY BUILDING IN OREGON

PROPERTY owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

To establish rates in keeping with individual conditions requires careful measurement and estimate of the fire hazards in practically every commercial building.

Consider the size of that task—with details of construction, occupancy, protection and exposure to be recorded. Even then one has but an incomplete idea of the service involved in establishing fire insurance rates.

Through the inspection and rating organization in your state, supports a fire inspection service. This inspection organization is constantly advising property owners and communities as to specifications for new buildings or changes in old ones—the installation of fire protective devices—community fire prevention programs—and fire safety activities. All of this service is free.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

Engineering Standards—Underwriters' Laboratory Tests

Engineering standards published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, also researches and tests of Underwriters' Laboratories pertaining to the strength and usefulness of materials and devices, are available to the inspection organization.

Should an owner desire to improve his property where standard conditions do not already prevail, information showing him how to do it will be supplied without charge through his insurance agent or broker.
