AT BIG TEN CONFERENCE MEET

Here are some of the boys who threaten to break up the Michigan-Illinois stranglehold on Big Ten track championships at the coming conference meet. Wisconsin has a dangerous team, including Sammy Behr, twice conference shot-put champion. Ohio State has speedy Jack Keller in the hurdles and Indiana has Rodney Leas heading a crew of distance men.

Big Ten Track Meet This Week

Preliminaries Tomorrow And Finals Saturday—Keen Competition.

By William A. Weekes
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, May 21 (AP) — If there ever was a chance of breaking up the Michigan-Illinois strangle hold on the Western conference outdoor track and field championship, this looks like the year.

Since 1918 Illinois has won seven times and the Wolverines have been victorious in six renewals of the Big Ten classic, and both appear to have sufficient strength this year to make great bids for the title.

Buckeyes Strong

But Ohio State, Wisconsin and Indiana won't be standing around idle when this year's meet is held in Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, May 22-23.

The Buckeyes, who have improved immensely in the last four years, have probably their greatest squad ready for the 1931 test.

George Simpson, Ohio's famous sprinter, has been graduated, but in his place there are two speedsters, Jack Keller and Rupert Beetham Jr.

Beetham has displayed exceptional power in the 440, 880-yard and mile runs, while Keller, a sophomore, has established himself as the equal of any hurdler in the country.

Ohio also has plenty of other potential point-getters, notably Bill Bloor in the running events, and, barring mishaps, the Buckeyes should be first-rate contenders.

Wisconsin, with capable two-milers in Wright and Cortwright, and Goldsworthy, a strong miler, to go with staggering power in the field events, also figures to be among the top four.

Sammy Behr, twice Big Ten shot-put champion, Ted Shaw in the high jump and Capt. Bill Henke in the dashes and quarter-mile, furnish the backbone of a powerful team.

Indiana has its customary great crew of distance runners in Leas, Nees, Brocksmith, Watson and Kemp, along with a fine hurdler in Jimmy Hatfield. Koenig is a capable quarter-miler, and Bates in the half-mile. Crouch in the broad jump and Rudinger, weight star, appear certain of points.

Tolan to Run

Michigan, 1930 winner, will bank on Eddie Tolan, its negro sprinting ace, who appears capable of winning both dashes. Jack Russell in the quarter, Wolf in the mile, Austin in the two-mile, Eggleston in the hurdles, and a strong group of field men.

Pottle should give McDermott of Illinois and Tommy Warne of Northwestern competition in the pole vault, and Fox and Dougal should place in the hammer and javelin, respectively.

Illinois has another typical Harry Gill team, with Lee Sentman, its crack hurdler, McDermott and Frank Purma, a discus and shot man, as its big stars.

Iowa, always strong, will have Ed Gordon, defending champion in the broad jump, and Watson, winner of the javelin last year, as probable repeaters. Minnesota will bank on Cam Hackle, a fine high jumper, Hass, sprinter, and Munn, a weight man, as its best.

Northwestern, Purdue and Chicago appear to have little real power.

BIG SIX MEET OPENS FRIDAY

LINCOLN, Neb., May 21 (AP)—Big Six track and field athletes will battle at the other door of the 1932 Olympic stadium when the University of Kansas attempts to fend off three formidable challenges in defense of the conference track and field championship here May 22 and 23.

The indoor champion Cornhuskers, competing on their home grounds, are regarded as the most dangerous threats against the Jayhawker aspirations to repeat.

Oklahoma and Iowa State college also rate high because the Cyclone athletes of Coach Bob Simpson tied Nebraska in dual competition. The Oklahoma Sooners were runners-up to Nebraska in the indoor carnival.

Missouri is an outsider and the Kansas Aggies have only a few individual stars.

Jayhawkers Strong

Despite the loss of James A. Bausch who clinched the meet for them last year with two firsts, a tie for first and a third, the Jayhawkers have well founded hopes of keeping the title.

A new all-around athlete, Clyde Coffman, sophomore, has arisen to replace Bausch.

Besides starring as a javelin and discus thrower, Coffman cleared 13 feet in the pole-vault indoors, missing the conference record by only ¼ of an inch. He holds the Kansas record at 13 feet 7½ inches.

Among Brutus Hamilton's Jayhawker proteges also are George Jones, quarter-miler, who has turned a leg injury most of this season, Ray Fluck, hurdler, Ralph Sickle and Joe Klaner, sprinters and other lesser lights.

Big Hugh Rhea, a Nebraska footballer, may have his day in the meet. He has been pushing the 16-pound shot past 50 feet all season, but hasn't got the record mark he has been hoping for.

At the Texas relays he registered 51 feet 2½ inches. He has tossed the javelin 201 feet and the discus 135.

Flanking Rhea in the Nebraska field ranks are Bob Davenport, 440 and 880 specialist, George Bradley, who has sprinted the century in 9.8 and Putnam, the defending champion broad-jumper.

Oklahoma has a middle distance ace and broad-jumper in Clifford Mell, as well as Glenn Dawson, distance runner, who defeated Ray Putnam of Iowa State in the indoor mile.

Besides Putnam, Coach Simpson lists among the Iowa State stars Bob Hager, who shattered Simpson's old record in the 120-yard high hurdles at the Drake relays, beating Lee Sentman of the University of Illinois.

Harry Mehre, football coach at the University of Georgia, studied journalism when in college.

Presbyterian college, Clinton, S. C., is favored to win the S. I. A. A. track title this year.

La Grande Does Well In Oregon Track Events

If La Grande High school could assemble the first place stars that it has shown at Corvallis during the last five years of state track competition, what a team it would be!

There wouldn't be a sprinter nor a relay team, but there would be a group of five young men sure of about seven first places, good for 35 points and a certain championship.

The first man on the team, in point of seniority, would be Smutz, who won the 1927 quarter mile at Corvallis in 52.8 seconds. Next on the list would be Anson, La Grande distance runner, who won the mile in 1928 in 4:36.2, which is close to record time. Third would be Wolfe, high jumper, who tied with Conklin, of Benson, for first place at 5 feet 9 inches in 1929.

Next on the team would be Fred Nowland, who won the high hurdles in 1930 in 16.4 and then went back this year to break the state record in the same event with a mark of 15.9 seconds. Fifth and last, but not least, would be Willie Torrence, first in the broad jump and first in the high jump this year with leaps of 21 feet 5½ inches and 5 feet 10 inches, respectively.

Five first place men in five years state competition with some 50 or more other Oregon high schools isn't such a bad record—in fact, it is one to be proud of, particularly since the Tigers lost the 1931 state championship on a technicality.

The North Carolina aces are Bryan Grant of Atlanta, the national clay court champion, and Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., the national junior titleholder, but they have had good support from Captain Ed Graham of Chapel Hill, Edgar Yeomans of Washington, D. C., H. M. Bendlin of New York city, Lenoir Wright of Charlotte, N. C., and Lucas Abels of High Point, N. C.

If the record of these boys isn't sufficient to claim national title honors on college courts, they would like to hear the rebuttal.

PORTLY FRED'S PITCHING

Freddy Fitzsimmons, the portly but effective right-hander of the New York Giants, pitched his way to Broadway from Mishawaka, Indiana, via Muskegon and Indianapolis.

He has been a first rate right-hander in major league company for going on seven years, but this spring he has assumed the stature of greatness by some of the finest twirling seen in either big show.

Fitzsimmons obtains results from a style that is neither impressive nor a thing of beauty. Freddy has a generous waistline. He waddles to and from the mound. His delivery consists of a twisting wind-up in which he jerks his head clear around to the point of seeming a contortionist. But he has control.

"That fat guy can put the ball where he wants it," remarked Babe Herman, the Brooklyn outfielder, after Fitzsimmons had blanked the Robins recently and followed this up with another shut-out at the expense of the Chicago Cubs. The Babe put his finger on the reason for Fitz's great spring showing, even though he couldn't put his bat on the ball.

JONES FILMS "HOLE OUT"

Broadway hears that the producers of the Bobby Jones golf "talkies" figure to gross more than $1,000,000 on the series of 12 shorts featuring the King of the links.

Some question has arisen as to just how much the average movie fan is interested in the proper stance, grip and swing, but Jones is getting the "big lights" in the cinema hall of the Big Town.

Portland Wins From Senators By 6-Run Rally

By the Associated Press

An all around comeback was staged last night by Pacific Coast league teams who dropped the first games in the present week's series Tuesday.

A six-run rally in the seventh brought a 9 to 2 victory over Sacramento for Portland's Beavers at Sacramento. The Senators tallied twice in the final inning but the rally was soon checked.

The Hollywood Stars, present league leaders who were handed a smarting 12 to 1 defeat by San Francisco's Seals in the first game, doused the Seals 3 to 1 at San Francisco. The Stars were held scoreless for five innings but in the sixth they got two runs and another in the seventh. They got eleven hits, five of which were in the sixth.

Indians End Losing Streak

The Seattle Indians came out of a long losing streak to beat Oakland 5 to 2 at Emeryville. The Indians worked smoothly behind the effective pitching of Hugh McQuillan, counting three runs in the fifth and one each in the second and eighth.

George Caster, Mission pitcher, was charged with losing a 4 to 2 game to the Angels at Los Angeles. After he had kept them in check for seven innings he blew up, walking two men to fill the bases and hitting the next batsman to force a run. T. Pillette replaced Caster but he walked the first man up, forcing another run.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

If there's a better college tennis array than that sporting the colors of the University of North Carolina this spring, they would like to know about it and issue a challenge down at Chapel Hill.

The Tarheel racquet swingers, after cleaning up the best in the south, sent their team into the Eastern strongholds with results little short of astonishing.

Here are the scores of North Carolina's romp of victory around the Eastern courts: Georgetown, 7-2; Princeton, 8-1; Army, 9-0; New York university, 8-1; Yale, 5-4; Brown, 9-0; Harvard, 7-2.

The climax for the Tarheels was the sweeping triumph over Harvard, which had beaten Pennsylvania to 8-1 and ranked as the strongest college outfit in the "Near East." It was the Crimson's first setback in 18 meets.

DAY DREAMS AND LIES
By Alice Judson Peale

All children at one time or another tell the type of lie which seems to have no other purpose than the pleasure experienced in the telling. Little children tell as facts stories which are only the content of their dreams and wishes.

Older boys and girls, especially at the age of adolescence, sometimes indulge in fantastic accounts of selves are the chief characters. Alluring happenings in which they themselves, though frequently the stories are anything but credible, they seriously try to make others believe that they are true.

The explanation of this strange behavior lies in the fact that wishes and day dreams are no respecters of truth and falsehood or of right and wrong.

The very little child is perhaps not really clear in his own mind as to the truth of the story he is telling. The best way of handling it is to accept it frankly as an entertaining story which you do not for any moment believe.

It is not necessary nor is it wise to force him to admit that he is telling an untruth.

The wish fulfillment lies of the older boy or girl are probably an indication of emotional difficulties since at this age he is quite clear as to the difference between truth and fiction.

The fact that he goes out of his way to fabricate shows that he is acting under the impulse of an unwholesome inner pressure. Even he should not be pressed too hard to admit his lies; rather he should be helped to express freely the imaginings which lie back of them, so that his parents can lead him to find more normal and wholesome outlets for the wishes of which they are the expression.

Sometimes the help of a psychiatrist is needed to unravel such difficulties.

GRIMES FINED $50 AND GIVEN 3-DAY LAY-OFF

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitching star of the champion St. Louis Cardinals, was fined $50 today and suspended for three days by John A. Heydler, president of the National league, for disorderly action in the game with Brooklyn yesterday.

President Heydler also issued a warning to Clyde Wares, Cardinal coach, for his action in protesting a decision at second base.

Grimes was punished for a succession of arguments with Umpire Charles Moran, who banished the pitcher from Ebbets field after stopping the game five times to issue warnings. Grimes alternated between the bench and the bullpen in annoying the arbiter.

Grimes has won five straight games for the Cardinals and it was his turn to pitch today or tomorrow. In addition to being banished until next Sunday, his salary, under league rules, is cut off for the period of suspension.

ROPER DOWNS MAN WHO WON FROM G. VOIGT

WESTWARD HO, Devon, England, May 21 (AP)—Syd Roper, young insurance clerk who eliminated George Voigt, last American hope, in the fifth round of the British amateur, was defeated today in the quarter finals by Johnny De Forest, young English millionaire who learned his golf in America.

De Forest's margin was two up and one to play and served in part as a vindication of American golf.

He spent most of last winter in the United States taking lessons from the leading professionals, including Horton Smith, and picking up all the tricks he could from American amateurs.

William Tulloch, Glasgow business man, eliminated John Morrison, former Cambridge all-around athlete, three and one. Dr. John MacCormack, Dublin physician, defeated Capt. H. C. C. Tippet, conqueror of Cyril Tolley, two and one. Eric Smith, of Cambridge university, eliminated Peter Miller, two and one.

With all the better known golfers out, the galleries shrank to only a fraction of their former size.

HUSKIES MAY CLINCH TITLE TODAY, FRIDAY

SEATTLE, Wash., May 21 (AP)—The University of Washington baseball team has a chance to virtually clinch the northern division Pacific Coast conference title for the third consecutive year today and tomorrow when it tangles with Oregon State college in the final home series on the Husky calendar.

Washington will wind up their season's play with a two game series at Idaho and a brace of contests with Washington State college at Pullman next week. To clinch the pennant, the Huskies must win but three of their remaining six games, while Washington State, Oregon or Oregon State are winning all of their remaining five. Idaho is definitely out as a contender.

In games yesterday Oregon took a 16-7 decision from Washington State and Idaho suffered a 17-1 walloping at the hands of Oregon State.

The standings are:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Washington	8	2	.800
O. S. C.	7	6	.538
Oregon	7	6	.538
W. S. C.	5	6	.454

COLLEGIAN AT 83

COLUMBUS, Mo. (AP)—More than 60 years after taking his master's degree Walter L. Church, 83-year-old resident of Long Beach, Cal., will re-enter the University of Missouri this year for special work in sociology and education.

Church, a member of the college of arts and science class of 1867, also holds degrees from Washington university at St. Louis and the University of Kentucky.

He is a retired attorney.

Eliminate Summer School

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The University of Nevada board of regents has ordered the closing of its summer school for two years to cut the operating expenses. It is estimated $20,000 will be saved each year. Part of this will go to the upkeep of the new Mackay Science hall, a gift of Clarence Mackay.

DERN DEFEATS TED THYE IN SECOND MATCH

PORTLAND, Ore., May 21 (AP)—Ira Dern, Salt Lake heavyweight wrestler, evened the count with Ted Thye, Portland, here last night when he defeated the latter in their return match, winner take all the purse. It was another wild affair, during which Referee Vern Harrington, stepping between the two wrestlers, received one of Thye's shoulder butts in the face which lifted him into the air and sent him in a nose dive to the mat.

Dern won the first fall in 21 minutes 10 seconds with a crab or double stepover toe hold. Thye was forced to give up. Thye took the second fall in 11 minutes, 45 seconds with a cross-arm and body hold.

They had been wrestling less than five minutes in the final fall, when Dern caught Thye from behind and slammed him to the mat, pinning his shoulders down with a cross body hold. Referee Harrington was lying face downward on the mat after his encounter with Thye's shoulder butt but staggered to his feet in time to see Thye was down and award the decision to Dern. Thye, who had been wrestling desperately and trying everything on Dern, protested the decision.
