Negro Gold Star Mothers In Paris

PARIS, June 10 (AP) —Mrs. Amanda Mitchell, seventy-year-old Negro gold star mother, Monday placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in behalf of the delegation which she represents. In the afternoon she and others of her party had tea with J. Theodore Marriner, representing Ambassador Edge, and General Gouraud, who commanded American Negro units in the World war.

General Pershing, speaking at the tea for American Negro gold star mothers, said that when the Negro soldier is properly trained and properly led he is the equal of any fighting man in the world.

He spoke of his own experience with the tenth United State cavalry during the Spanish-American war as proof of his assertion.

CHERRIES

On the whole the black cherry yield is estimated as fair for the Northwest. A large volume of this fruit shipped in carlots is sold at auctions in the market centers in and east of Chicago. Among the co-operative organizations now preparing for shipments is the Salem Cherry Growers association. The quality of fruit under fair weather conditions will be excellent. The price is less promising than last year at this time.

Local Audition Will Be Staged Late Next July

Who are the best young singers in La Grande?

Opportunity is offered them to share in $25,000 in cash and to obtain scholarships in some great American conservatory of music or under a world renowned teacher which has been made possible through the Atwater Kent Foundation in Washington D. C.

During the four years that this nation-wide competition to determine the best young men and young women singers in the United States has been conducted by the Foundation more than 150,000 youthful songbirds have been given an opportunity to demonstrate their talents. This year a number greater than in any previous year is expected, and every village, town and city in the country is hastening its plans for local auditions. One young man and one young woman, between the ages of 18 and 25, will be selected by competition in each city or community. These will be entered in a state audition, from which the winning young man and young woman will go to represent their state in a district audition, of which there will be five. From each district, a young man and young woman will be selected to contest in the national finals to be held in New York in December. This competition will be broadcast from coast to coast. All winners of district auditions will receive substantial rewards, determined in accordance with their rating in the national finals. These awards are:

Winners of first place (one boy and one girl), $5,000 each and two years' tuition in an American conservatory.

Winners of second place, $3,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of third place, $2,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fourth place, $1,500 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fifth place, $1,000 each and one year's tuition.

Andrew Loney Chairman

The local audition will be held sometime the latter part of July, the exact time and place to be designated later. Andrew Loney Jr., who has always taken an active interest in the musical life of La Grande, has been appointed chairman of the local audition and in addition the following La Grande people who have been identified and interested with things musical have accepted membership on the committee which will conduct the audition, Miss Jennie Peterson, Robert Eakin, B. F. Wylde and J. T. Longfellow.

The committee states that the audition will be conducted free from any aspect of commercialism and will be a sincere effort to discover beautoful voices in the community and to encourage all who are interested in singing.

Applications for entry in the audition may be obtained from the local chairman, Mr. Loney.

CHANTICLEER CAPES NEW EVENING FASHION

PARIS (AP)—Chanticleer capes are a fashionable new cocoon for the nighttime butterflies of the Champs Elysees. The capes are made of white coque feathers so closely padded on white satin that they make a solid feathery mass. They tie with a white velvet bow at the throat and are worn hanging loose to the waist.

A cat belonging to F. L. Bradley of Weston, Tex., mothered two of her own kittens, three squirrels and a rabbit.

Daylight Saving Styles for Evening Something New Under Paris Sun

By Diana Merwin
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP)—Daylight saving styles have transformed the evening mode.

Since the turn of the clock forced the smart set to don evening array and dine before the sun sets, Parisian couturiers have evolved a new evening ensemble which is equally smart by daylight or lamplight.

It displays several points of difference from the usual formal evening attire. Shorter skirts, higher necks, simpler fabrics now mark the mode which smart Parisians wear between six in the evening and dawn.

Satin, chiffon and lace are the favorite fabrics. Glittering beads and lames play scant part in the daylight saving dinner mode, since they are out of place until the bright lights flash.

Many of the new dinner frocks are designed with berths capelets or fichus covering the upper arm.

Skirts terminate about six inches from the floor. Most of the gowns are worn with matching hiplength coats which lend the appearance of formal afternoon frocks.

The colors chosen look equally well under sunlight or electric bulbs. Dead white, tobacco brown, leaf green, currant red and prune (a rich dark purple) are among the favorites, while two-tone gowns combining pale pink and brown, pale turquoise and emerald, or tomato and tobacco are among smart combinations.

Evening hats also have stepped into the daylight saving style picture. Caps of tulle embroidered in shiny straw, net berets trimmed with halos of flowers and metal thread caps decked with lacquered feathers are the most popular evening chapeaux.

LINK POLITICIAN WITH KILLING OF YOUNG WOMAN, 25

ferred to a rowboat and dropped into the ocean. Long Beach is about 25 miles from Manhattan.

Girl Was Assaulted.

Edwards said the girl had been assaulted.

After questioning Stanley E. Faithfull, the girl's stepfather, her mother and sister, Edwards departed for Boston with Police Inspector Harold R. King, intimating before they left that one of the men sought was from Massachusetts.

Miss Faithfull was the daughter of Frank W. Wyman, 2nd, Boston merchant. His marriage to the girl's mother, the present Mrs. Helen Faithfull, was terminated by divorce in 1924.

Before Edwards turned his search to persons ashore, police were examining a theory that Miss Faithfull might have fallen or been thrown from an outbound liner.

Police said they learned that a young woman answering her description had been seen on the Cunard liner pier on the day Miss Faithfull disappeared after leaving home ostensibly for a shopping trip.

Martin W. Littleton Jr., assistant district attorney of Nassau county, said he learned that shortly before the Mauretania sailed on a weekend cruise to the Bahamas, Miss Faithfull was escorted off the ship by a steward and placed in a taxicab. She was described as being intoxicated.

Two weeks ago a woman, who police believe was Miss Faithfull was put off an outbound liner when it was found she had no ticket. At that time, police said she became hysterical when transferred to a tug and cried:

"Kill me. Throw me overboard."

areas of forest land for the entire forest fire season. Attorney-General I. H. Van Winkle held in an opinion handed down today. The opinion was requested by Lynn F. Cronemiller, state forester.

The attorney-general held that law directs the proclamation declaring closed areas shall clearly set forth the specific areas to be closed to entry, and the date upon which the proclamation may become effective. The forest fire season when lands may be closed to entry by proclamation is from May 15 to October 1.

'Wishful Thinking' Blamed For Part Of Economic Ills

wishful thinking as makes them seem anything but what they are.

It was wishful thinking, with its "new era prosperity" doctrines, which took us up too high and brought us down too low in 1928-29. It is wishful thinking which has inflicted upon us various political and economic nostrums which disregard one of the oldest and most obvious of all elementary economic acts. That plain, elementary fact, proven over and over again at heavy cost to those who have tried to evade it, is that you cannot circumvent the law of supply and demand by artificial price-fixing, especially when you control neither the supply nor the demand.

Moreover, we are told that the end is not yet, but that the efforts of our so-called "progressive" legislators in the next session of congress will be directed to inaugurating other drastic schemes of price fixing which it is both futile and arrogant to expect will solve situations which business men who have studied them and thought them out along rational lines know absolutely are incapable of solution by legislative fiat.

CARKIN EXPLAINS INCOME TAX LAW

doubtful points as to who should file an income tax return, Commissioner Carkin today gave the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The following persons must file returns:

"Individuals who receive no interest or dividends must file a return if their net income exceeds $1500 if single, or $2500 is married.

"Individuals who receive their entire income from interest and interest and dividends must file a return of their gross income exceeds $500, if single, or $800, if married.

"Single persons who receive interest and dividends and income from other sources must file a return if the net income from all sources exceeds $1000, or they must file if the gross interest and dividends exceed $500.

"Married persons who receive interest and dividends and income from other sources are required to file a return if their combined net income from all sources exceeds $1700, or they must file if their gross interest and dividends exceed $800.

"Individuals should report income from all cources—interest, dividends, salaries, wages, rents, earnings from business or profesion, or profit on the sale of property.

"Interest on federal obligations is exempt from the intangibles tax. Interest on other securities, including foreign, state, county and municipal bonds, corporation bonds, notes, mortgages, contracts and savings accounts are taxable under the intangibles tax, but all interest earned prior to January 1, 1930, may be excluded from the 1930 returns. Dividends declared after January 1, 1930, are taxable in the year paid.

Many Inquiries

"Many inquiries are coming to the commission from school teachers who evidently believe that they are exempt, which is not the case.

"The impression that teachers are exempt under the state income tax law probably arises from the fact that teachers and other state, county and municipal official are exempt under the federal income tax, but just as the federal government can tax its own employes but can not tax state employes, the state while it can not tax federal employes can and does ax its own employes, including all people employed by the state, counties, cities school districts, etc.

"While federal employes are not taxable on their salaries received from the federal government under the state income tax, they are liable to tax on any other income they receive if such other income is in excess of the minimum exemption."

ON GREENS

Salads made with light, simple greens seem to find their ideal complement in a dressing like Vinaigrette Dressing. It gives them a touch of subtle flavor while allowing all their natural deliciousness to assert itself.

To make Vinaigrette Dressing: In a bowl put one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of sugar, then add one-quarter teaspoon of pepper and a little paprika. When these seasonings have been mixed together, pour in twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil. Then add three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Add two tablespoonfuls of chopped dill pickle, and one teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Stir well until all ingredients are thoroughly mixed.

ON FRUITS

Fruits, on the other hand, don't go very well with a tart, sharp, dressing. They respond best to a dressing to which a little cheese or some nuts have been added. Or one that is slightly sweetened . . . like Bar-le-Duc Dressing.

To make Bar-le-Duc Dressing: Beat together six tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of paprika and one-eighth teaspoon of white pepper. Into this mix six tablespoonfuls of red Bar-le-Duc or currant jelly.

ON SEAFOOD

If your salad is going to be something hearty and substantial, made with seafood, serve it with Lemonaise (mayonnaise made with lemon juice). The flavor of the salad will be improved, however, if first you marinate the ingredients.

*To marinate: Mix twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Add one teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter teaspoon of pepper. Pour over the fish and let it stand in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with a garnish of Lemonaise.

mix a dressing appropriate to the salad

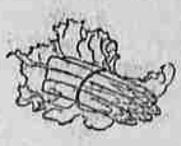
Each different salad has a different flavor. That is why we like them. Then don't smother their individualities of taste under a blanket of heavy dressing like mayonnaise. There is a right kind of dressing for each different kind of salad.

ON GREENS . . .



Light salads made with simple greens or vegetables suggest a tart dressing like Vinaigrette Dressing, Bachelor Club Dressing, or French Dressing.

ON FRUITS . . .

Fruits should be served with a dressing to which a touch of sweetness or a dash of cheese has been added. Bar-le-Duc Dressing, Cheese Dressing or Nut Dressing.

ON SEAFOOD . . .

Seafood should be marinated* in French Dressing before being made into the salad. It gives it firmness and flavor. Then serve with Lemonaise.

We would like to send you, with our compliments, a little book on appropriate salad service, written by Mary B. Murray. It suggests what dressings go best with what salads and contains many hints and ideas as to correct salad service. Send your name and address to the Wesson Oil People, 210 Baronne Street, New Orleans, La.
