NAVY CREW WINS ANNUAL REGATTA

Rules the Intercollegiate Seas After Lapse of Half Dozen Years.

By Alan Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
POLIKHEPSIS, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The Navy ruled the intercollegiate seas today after a lapse of a half dozen years.

When nine-oared crews started in heavy rain in the climax race of the intercollegiate regatta last evening, with an ebb tide beginning to run fast, the naval academy's stalwarts were just a boatload of strong backed young men, going nowhere in particular so far as the experts and most of the crowd were concerned. Less than 20 minutes later, this same Navy boatload was acclaimed the victor in the classic four-mile varsity race down the Hudson as it handed a clean-cut beating to the heavily-favored Cornell crew, defending champion.

Astonishing Comeback
The Navy followed Washington's fast pace for the first three miles, stepped up the beat going into the last mile sufficiently to assume the lead from the fading Huskies and then had the stuff to withstand Cornell's desperate closing bid.

This Navy crew staged one of the most astonishing come-backs in rowing history after a disastrous early season in which they had taken leadings from Columbia, Harvard and Syracuse.

Whether it was just the Navy's day in sudden return to form or the result of a switch that sent Raymond P. Hunter of Sherman, Texas, to the stroking position for the first time in his competitive career, these midshipmen rowed like champions. Their time was 18 minutes 54.1-5 seconds, the third fastest time ever registered on the Hudson for the four mile

A fleet of nine of the best crews in the race's history answered the referee's gun in the annual Poughkeepsie regatta on the Hudson river yesterday. Cornell was favored to win, also the Washington Huskies, but neither could meet the strength and speed of the Navy shell, which tore down the course in the third fastest time on record. The west's two entries, Washington and California, finished third and fourth, respectively.

Visitors Lose To Home Clubs In East Series

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

In the round of inter-sectional games which is coming to a close in the big leagues, the clubs of the two home sectors have far outshone the visitors. With a few games left for today before the scenes of activity shift, the eastern clubs of the American league have turned in 30 victories against 18 for the western invaders.

In the National league, the visiting teams from the east have won 23 games since the series started June 1 while the west has recorded 32 triumphs.

Washington, which tackles the St. Louis Browns in a final clash today, has far outshone all rivals, winning 14 games out of 15, the last eleven of them in succession. The Senators had a narrow victory yesterday when they handed St. Louis a nine run lead in the first three innings, but they slowly cut down the margin and finally won out 11 to 10 in a ninth inning rally as Dave Harris, formerly with the Portland Beavers, tripled with the bases full and then scored on a hit.

The Athletics, who have a final crack at Detroit today, held their lead over the Senators by winning 11 out of 14.

Baltimore Stops Games
All but one of yesterday's American league games were rained out. The league leading St. Louis Cardinals took first place for the National league's east-west round yesterday by beating the Phillies 2-1 in a batting that combined fine pitching with home runs. Up to the ninth inning of the duel between Bengie and Grimes, the Phils held a lead on Chuck Klein's 17th homer. George Watkins and Frank Frisch hit for the circuit to win. The victory gave the Cards a record of ten games won and five lost in the second record in either league.

Right behind them came the Cincinnati Reds with nine games won and five lost despite a 4-1 beating at the hands of the New York Giants yesterday. The Reds could not hit Fred Fitzsimmons in their last home game yesterday while the Giants got St. Johnson for five runs in the sixth inning. Chicago's Cubs fill the next notch with nine victories and six defeats after an uphill battle to beat the Boston Braves 8 to 7 yesterday. Boston scored six runs off George Bush in the first inning but could not hold off Chicago's late rallies, featured by Hack Wilson's sixth home run of the season.

New York and Boston had better than 500 averages for their tour of the west while Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, rained out for the last two days, meet in a final game today to see which gets sixth place in the standing for the series. The Phillies made the second record in either league, winning only two games out of 13.

S.O.S. STANDARD RATING SCALE

NOW there is expert help for everybody in the selection of an electric refrigerator

STANDARD RATING SCALE for Electric Refrigeration

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frozen" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the contents of the cabinet when the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)
- Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set" things down for a moment while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?
- Has the experience of users over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?

THE S.O.S. of bewildered buyers has been answered at last. The Standard Rating Scale has ended the perplexing questions of "What can I expect?" and "What should I look for?" in an electric refrigerator. Now, with the help of the Scale, you can think about everything, ask about everything and be sure that in the end you are getting all that electric refrigeration can give. Your own good judgment will tell you that any refrigerator meeting all the requirements of the Scale must be the one best choice. We welcome the application of the Scale to Kelvinator.

Elect Gardner School Director At Cove Monday

By Mrs. A. G. Conklin
(Observer Correspondent)

COVE, Ore., (Special) — The annual meeting of school district No. 15 of Cove was held at the school house Monday, June 15. The budget calling for an expenditure of $9293 to be raised by district tax, was voted. There were 94 votes cast which is a fair representation of the district.

O. M. Gardner was elected director for three years to take the place of the retiring director, Karl J. Stackland. Mrs. Fannie Conklin was re-elected clerk for one year.

At the close of the school meeting, a meeting of the Cemetery association was called by the president, George Goley. All officers of the association were re-elected as follows: O. M. Gardner, president; Fannie E. Conklin, secretary; Minnie McDaniel, treasurer, with a council of the following men: Ray Duncan, William Harris, George Baker, E. C. Rees and T. C. Hefty. The treasurer made a financial report and reported that no assessments had been made to owners of lots for the last year although there had been some voluntary payments. Money raised by the Memorial day dinner amounted to $27.50. Mr. Goley outlined some work he contemplated doing in completing the work on the road, but thought it could not be done until after the busy season.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl J. Stackland, their son, Karl Jr., and granddaughter Virginia, spent several days visiting their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson, at Riverdale, near Portland. On their return Sunday they were accompanied by their grandson, Monte Davis, who had been visiting his mother for the last month, but left Virginia to spend a month with her mother.

Many blue ribbons came back with the stock displayed at the Eastern Oregon Stock show in Union last week. The stock show is always an event of importance for the owners of fine stock and each year they become more interested and more anxious to display something a little better than anyone has previously shown. There are also many contracts and friendships formed and much friendly rivalry on display.

Mrs. Ray Duncan and her two boys Bobby and Billy, as well as several other Cove residents, took their first flight in the air at the stock show. Mrs. Duncan says she was told to leave her hat and some boy loaned her a cap, that the pilot put on her head with the visor at the back. They started off and she says the takeoff was rough and dusty but when they were off it was lovely, only there was a terrific breeze. She closed her eyes and felt something blowing in her face and found it was her dress, so her time was divided between holding her hat and her dress. She enjoyed it all, however.

Miss Dorothy Mills came home from Whitman college Saturday. Her father, J. E. Mills, went over to Friday. This ends her first year in college but her fourth year in Walla Walla as she spent three years in the High school there.

Miss Lois Lawson is home from Hoquiam, Wash., where she has been employed as teacher for the last two years.

Bishop Remington went to Walla Walla Saturday where he made the commencement address at Whitman college.

Charles Coon, of Caldwell, Idaho, was a visitor to the R. Fleischer home Friday and Saturday. He is with the John Smeed stock yards of Caldwell and was out on a tour looking up stock. The yards at Caldwell are a feeding place for stock that is shipped east and an important link in shipping. Mr. Coon is an old friend of the Fleischer's.

Mrs. L. R. Lay, who was taken to Holy Lake three weeks ago, is slowly recovering and expects to be able to come home the last of this week. Mrs. S. W. Crossley is still there, as may not be able to return as soon.

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller have undergone operations at the Lake and are all in the same room. Claire Smith is recovering nicely. Robert Coad is mending slowly but surely.

Rev. John Richardson returned to his home in The Dalles for Sunday services and also to perform a wedding ceremony.

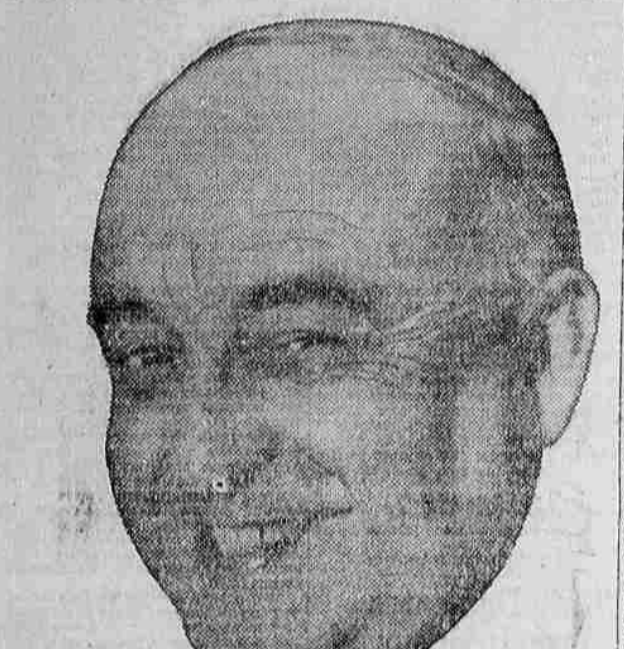

Mrs. Alma Conley with Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Tarkington, of La Grande, came to Cove Sunday for morning service, and stayed all day. They brought a picnic lunch and in the afternoon joined the summer school picnic at Camp Yew Bow. Others from La Grande and a number from Baker came down for service and stayed for the picnic. There was an open air service at the summer school grounds Sunday evening that was attended by people from all the churches. Rev. Henry Thomas, of Klamath Falls, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Hancock, of Cove, the bishop delivering the sermon. After the service there was a song service around the bonfire. The bonfire was lighted by the Camp Fire girls in a ceremonial lead by Miss Sophia Robertson, assisted by Miss Hazel Williamson, both of Pendleton.

Miss Thelma Anderson is registered at the summer school.

Postmaster L. E. Anderson returned Saturday from Portland where he attended the Masonic Grand lodge.

Broadened in Meaning

"Green" was originally a purely nautical term derived from a word meaning "the bottom of a ship's hull." When a vessel was careened it was turned over on its side for cleaning. The verb is also used intransitively and could be employed to such a vehicle as a truck that turned over on its side.
