Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you.—2 Cor. 13:11.

THE COLLEGE SITUATION (What Our Exchanges Say)

The vote of the Oregon state grange at Medford on the various resolutions pertaining to higher education shows that the attitude of this important farmer organization cannot be perverted by radical whimsies.

By an overwhelming vote, the Grange declines to lend its sanction to the highly questionable movement to consolidate the University of Oregon and Oregon State college on one campus.

On the other hand, the Grange indicates that the state board will have its cooperation in working out the difficult problems of practical economy.

Here there may be some differences as to details. The board is already committed to the policy of bringing the schools under one president as soon as possible.

But the main point is that the grange is not going to let its great organization be used by those who would interfere in the educational situation just because.

There has been much wild talk in recent months that the farmers of Oregon would do this or they would do that.

Whatever enthusiasm for miniature golf the American people may lose this year, through tiring of an old toy, will be more than made up in the other countries of the world.

China is playing it with uniformed caddies to count the player's strokes, keep scores, and in all possible ways reduce the fatigue attendant upon playing the game.

Half-pint golf is destined to become a more enduring pastime in countries poorer and more densely populated than the United States because of the large areas and great expense necessary for legitimate golf courses.

What ever became of the old-time insurance policy that was worth keeping, even after the term period had expired, because of the beautiful pennanship?

IN WASHINGTON—ed page By Herbert Plummer WASHINGTON—Most of the women of congress still are a bit shy when it comes to actual participation in debates with their men colleagues on the floor.

Apparently the adage about being something not heard has a strong appeal with them. But perhaps the real reason for their shyness lies in the fact that unusual vocal powers are required of anyone who joins in the wrangling that goes on when legislation is being discussed.

Two Talk Out Loud But some of the women do attempt to edge in on the argument at times. Mrs. Norton, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Rogers, of Massachusetts, frequently speak out.

Weak in Committees Incidentally, the women of the house probably will have to go a long time before they get into the shooting distance of a committee chairmanship.

Not even the veteran Mrs. Kahn has made much progress. She holds down only the military committee.

Butter Market Unchanged; Egg Prices Steady

PORTLAND, June 17 (AP)—Market for butter is showing practically no change in sentiment or price locally.

Ample supplies of broilers are now arriving in the live chicken trade. There is no real surplus; just sufficient for needs.

Very little demand is showing for live pekin ducks although the country appears eager to ship.

There continues an acute shortage of Columbia river salmon and local offerings are almost too nominal to report.

Notes on wholesale trading: Strawberry market is sharply higher with small supplies.

Watermelons are moving better with more settled weather. California peaches selling at a spread of $1.00 to $1.25 box.

There is quite a fair movement of Oregon grown artichokes here. Most of the supply is from Eugene and is excellent considering the season.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tariff reduction "stalwart" of the democratic party is a tall Tennesseean, stern and ascetic-looking but as courteous as a cavalier.

Hull reminds his interviewees that in 1917 he introduced a resolution in the house of representatives providing for a world trade agreement.

At the Houston convention and in the 1928 presidential campaign, a friendliness for protectionism, Hull held out, almost alone, for democratic emphasis on opposition to the high tariff.
