WHOLESONE FRICTION
By Alice Judson Peale

Usually frequent quarrels between brothers and sisters may be regarded as a sign of trouble within the family group.

In homes which make a special point of courtesy angry outbursts and quarrelling are certainly a sign of underlying unhappiness.

But among families whose members are outstanding energetic and full of initiative considerable friction is to be expected.

Vivid, colorful individuals are bound to make sparks fly now and then, especially if they are young and have not yet learned the expediency of silence and self control.

The best way to judge whether or not the friction between brothers and sisters is of a wholesome kind, a sign of sturdy character growth, is to watch for the undercurrents of emotion.

Are the brother and sister who quarrel at home loyal to each other when a crisis arises at school or on the playground?

On the occasions of birthdays, when one child is singled out to be the center of attention, are the others whole-hearted in their wish to contribute to his pleasure?

Do they enjoy planning his presents and helping with the festivities?

Is the achievement of one child accepted by another with some evidence of pleasure and vicarious pride?

Reactions of this sort may be taken as signs that the children's feeling for one another is fundamentally sound and affectionate.

For such situations tend to bring to the surface those feelings of jealousy, envy and inferiority which form the real poison of family life.

Friction which does not contain these elements is not serious. It needs only to be controlled and directed into constructive channels.

REPUBLICANS SELECT SNELL AS CANDIDATE

representative Charles Crisp, of Georgia, today announced he would not be a candidate for the Democratic leadership at the party caucus Saturday.

NEW JERSEY TO VOTE
ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—The political spotlight was focused today on New Jersey's fifth congressional district as candidates sought the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Ernest R. Ackerman.

Tomorrow the voters will decide whether Ackerman, a Republican, is to be succeeded by Donald H. McLean, Republican, by Percy H. Stewart, the Democratic nominee, or by one of the three other candidates running for office.

Nation-wide interest in the contest has been aroused because of the close balance of power between the Democrats and Republicans in the house of representatives.

McLean has waged his campaign as a supporter of President Hoover's administration, while his Democratic opponent concentrated his fire on the Republican party's record at Washington.

Both McLean and Stewart have declared for modification of the Volstead act.

"The Rivals" To Be Staged Here

Saturday rehearsing. The roles are being whipped into shape under able direction, and the entire production promises to be a convincing performance. Although 18th century England is the setting for "The Rivals," the universal quality of the satire makes it a play of the ages, and its popularity during the succeeding centuries prives the standard of its worth.

A cyclorama has been added to the stage equipment by the association of students at the Normal school, and will furnish a background for the stage sets for "The Rivals". The cyclorama is a long hanging which is semi-circular and encloses the back and side of the stage. The acoustics have been improved, both by the cyclorama and other methods.

A matinee will precede the regular evening performance on Thursday afternoon, and will be presented especially for high school students at 2 o'clock, through arrangements made between the management of the play and E. D. Towler, principal of the High school.

Several local actors who have appeared in other performances both in the La Grande High school and at the Normal school are among the cast, while others of the student body, who are well known for previous appearances in Normal school dramatics, will appear again.

Local students who have roles in the production are Austin Dunn, Elwood Hiatt, Bob Oesterling, Don Poirch, Ruth Geibel, Alice Milne. Others of the cast are Zenith Flynn, Ivan Gott Bittner, William Boner, John Groves, Kermit Estes, Stanley Gott, Evelyn Jones.

Miss McAlpine To Appear Here On Wednesday

Miss Jennie McAlpine, who has 66-lighted audiences throughout the east and Europe with her fine interpretations, will be in La Grande Wednesday evening and will present a program at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock. Tickets are on sale for the evening, and the proceeds will be used to fill the church budget.

Her program will include three musical monologues, three humorous readings in costume, a major item "The Light That Came," and seven selections, humorous and otherwise from Edgar Guest, Bobby Burns, Longfellow and others. Four musical selections will also be furnished by local artists.

Rev. J. C. Cook, of a Methodist church in Boston, says of Miss McAlpine that he has heard no better reader and elocutionist and that she has the qualities of a true artist, the wonderful faculty for impersonation, a natural genius for interpretation which is highly developed, the soul, personality, training and intelligence.

Miss McAlpine is a graduate of the Wesley Emerson school of oratory in Boston, and appeared on the Redpath chautauqua platform for five years, following which she spent two years in Europe.

conference of the Pacific Synod at Camas, Wash. The sessions will be held on Dec. 1 and 2 in the Crown-Willamette Inn, and Zion Lutheran church of Camas. Rev. Andrew Engset, pastor of the congregation there, is well known in La Grande.

Ralph Luedtke, president of the Columbia District of the Luther league, accompanied Mr. Bracher to Camas. The former has been a La Grande visitor for the holidays and attended the rally at which the La Grande Luther league entertained the Baker league Friday evening.

The opening session of the conference will be held at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The theme to be discussed at this session is "The United Lutheran Church and Missions." Mr. Bracher will present a paper on the subject at the meeting. The local pastor will also conduct the devotional service of the conference on Wednesday morning. During the morning the theme to be discussed is "The United Lutheran Church and Education."

Rev. George H. Hillerman, D. D., secretary of the board of American missions, and a good friend of the local congregation, will present a paper, "The Declaration of the United Lutheran Church in Social and Moral Welfare," at the afternoon session of the conference on Wednesday.

The Southern conference includes the congregations of the Pacific Synod in Oregon and Southern Washington. Each congregation will be represented by its pastor and a lay delegate. No lay delegate will accompany Mr. Bracher from La Grande, however. These congregations meet annually in the fall or winter to discuss the various phases of the work of the church to which they belong.

Officers of the conference are Mr. Engset, Camas, president; and Rev. T. A. Schoenberg, Portland, secretary.

Hookey-Bobbing Taboo in Oregon

Hookey-bobbing is taboo, not only in La Grande but throughout the state of Oregon.

State police this morning pointed out that the law provides against skills, toboggans and sleighs being drawn behind motor vehicles for sporting purposes, and in the city Police Chief Jim Steffen said that the city ordinance making such practices unlawful would be strictly enforced.

Both groups of officers pointed out the dangers of hookey-bobbing.

WHY do more and more smokers say:

"I've changed to Chesterfield"

BECAUSE . . .

- THEY'RE Milder. It's the tobaccos! The best tobaccos—the smoothest and mildest that money can buy—go into Chesterfield. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads. No wonder you say, "They're so much milder!"
- THEY TASTE BETTER. These mild smooth tobaccos are put together exactly right. That's Chesterfield's secret—but millions of smokers agree that the job couldn't be improved! Rich aroma of Turkish and mellow sweetness of Domestic, blended and cross-blended to Chesterfield's own BETTER TASTE.
- THEY'RE PURE. Cleanliness and purity, always! Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists . . . tested thoroughly. The purest cigarette paper made, burning without taste or odor. Sanitary manufacture . . . no hands touch your Chesterfields. They're as pure as the water you drink!
- THEY SATISFY. You break open a clean, tight-sealed package. You light up a well-filled cigarette. Yes, sir . . . you're going to like this cigarette—you know that with your very first puff. And right there's where many a smoker changes to Chesterfield. They Satisfy!
