

Price of Cube Butter Reduced One Cent Today

PORTLAND, Dec. 15 (AP)—Cut of 1c in the price of standard cube butter on the produce exchange for the late season was a rather late recognition of a weaker undertone in the local trade. On the open market there has been some ease expressed in the general trade for a number of days. Cubes were dragging somewhat in spots and this was true especially of those that were quoted at the same price as the higher scores.

The fight now being waged by chain interests against some of the specialty butter shops is causing a general upheaval of prices in the trade. That the chains are selling butter at cost, a fraction more, or even at a loss, is the general idea in the trade.

While there was no change announced in the price of eggs by local co-ops for the day there is a weakening tendency all through the markets of the country due to unseasonable weather in the east.

Market for small broilers and fryers is especially depressed in the local live chicken trade with some receivers not at all anxious to secure supplies. Southern markets are reported overfull.

There is still a nominal quotation in the local market for dressed geese and ducks. Lack of arrivals is the chief cause although seasonable demand will not start for several days at least.

Continued strength is reflected in the market for home grown cranberries but no further change is shown in the price. Eastern stock is not moving despite the strength of the locals, due to the lack of quality.

Weather is so cold that little movement of oranges is now advisable according to trade leaders. Late business in regular stock has been $5.00 with sacks and twine furnished at through several cars of 3 inch and larger sold at 25c better.

There is a good movement of country killed hogs along the wholesale way with prices practically unchanged. Lambs remain slow and veal are just about holding at late values.

Express supplies of bell peppers from Florida are reported in. The stock still has some of the Florida and clinging to it. Selling 18c lb.

Notes of wholesale trading: Carload of mostly sprouts with a few boxes of artichokes in from California. Former selling 11c @ 12c lb. Latter around $1.50 doz.

Lettuce market deal is again firm with further advance in price here and in the south.

Florida tangerines in liberal supply are due to arrive here soon. Last arrivals quickly cleaned.

Apple movement not so good with lesser offerings of 40 @ 50c sorts.

All vegetables are quoted strong with some advances in root stock. Cabbage continues to strengthen with a carload demand.

LIN SEN IS NEW LEADER AT NANKING

by the demands of the national welfare. I have resigned but I will continue to fulfill my duties as a member of the Kuomintang and as a citizen of China.

Lin Sen was named chairman of the government and Chen Ming-shu, prominent nationalist military leader, was chosen chairman of the executive Yuan. This is one of the posts which was held by President Chiang.

Lin Sen was born in 1864, and educated in China and the United States. He returned to China after the 1911 revolution and became a member of the first parliament. Chen Ming-shu is president of the Kwangtung provincial government.

Marshal Chiang is going back to his own private residence near the mausoleum of Sun Yat Sen. Already there is considerable speculation concerning his future movements.

Some persons close to him said he might go to Rome to live. He always has had a great admiration for Benito Mussolini.

CHINESE ATTACKING

TOKYO, Dec. 15 (AP)—A Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Mukden today said Chinese troops under Chang Hsueh Liang had launched an attack simultaneously at Tieliang, Chengchiatun and Newchwang, along the South Manchuria railway.

A Japanese force crossed the Liao river toward Hopeh to meet the Chinese moving on Newchwang, and in a fight with Chinese irregulars near Tieliang the Japanese lost five killed and ten wounded.

STUDENTS IN RIOTS

NANKING, Dec. 15 (AP)—A crowd of 600 Chinese students from Peking stormed and wrecked the foreign office of the government today and then attacked the headquarters of the Kuomintang (nationalist party) where government leaders, including President Chiang Kai-shek, were meeting.

Carrying rifles they had seized from the police, the students rushed the main building but were halted when another section of the police guard fired into the air.

They clamored for Chiang Kai-shek but Chen Ming-shu appeared and told them Marshal Chiang was engaged in important deliberations.

The mob turned on Chen Ming-shu and injured him slightly. Then they fired on the police at the main entrance. In the return fire one student was wounded. Three others were arrested when the police were reinforced.

“Police” Dog Lives Up to Name

Detectives had to make friends with this police dog before they could get near enough to a suspected gang stronghold in Newark, N. J., to find evidence that would justify a raid. Won over by kindness, the dog who deserted his gangster-masters is seen here with one of the raiding officers after a nine-room house had been discovered to hold thousands of dollars in loot, a large quantity of explosives, and an elaborate crime laboratory and workshop.

Milk and Apples Make Them Healthiest in U. S.

Gertrude Helkes, 16, and William Sanders, 18, healthiest boy and girl in the United States, are shown above with their "health food."

By NEA Service

CHICAGO—Drink plenty of milk, eat apples and cabbage and you will never be bothered with Doctor's bills.

That's the answer of Gertrude Helkes and William Sanders, judged the healthiest boy and girl in the United States at the A-H club congress here, to questions as to how they won their prizes.

Both live on farms, go to bed early, get plenty of outdoor exercise, sleep with windows wide open, even in the coldest weather, and eat three square meals a day, which include lots of milk, apples, cabbage and other vegetables.

Both made the highest scores ever registered in a national health contest. Miss Helkes scored 99.9 per cent, and young Sanders, 99.1. Miss Helkes lives in Dakota county, Neb., while Sanders' home is in Johnson county, Ind.

Chen Ming-Shu was rescued by police.

The demonstration continued in front of the foreign office and the party headquarters until several veteran statements begged the students to leave. Shortly after noon they marched away.

Ancient French Banner

The ordinance of France was the ancient banner of the kings of France, and was first used as a national banner in 1110. It was a crimson flag cut into three vanes, with a silken tassel between each, and was carried on a gilt staff.

Clash Again For Senate Seat

A new battle for a seat in the U. S. Senate impends between Senator-elect John H. Bankhead, above, Alabama Democrat, and former Senator J. Thomas Heflin, below, whom Bankhead defeated for re-election. The senate elections sub-committee is reported to be planning to recommend that Bankhead be denied his seat because of discoveries of irregularities in the Alabama election a year ago.

After the America won the race it was referred to as the "America's cup," and such has been its designation since.

When Glassware Sticks

Tumbler that have become fixed together can easily be taken apart if the outside one is tapped gently round with another tumbler. Flower pots can be "unstuck" in the same way with another pot, and a glass stopper that is fixed in a bottle will often yield if tapped with another stopper.

Explaining Undertow

When a wave rushes up on a beach the water must recede. Meanwhile another wave is approaching. This second wave climbs over the water which is running back. This is repeated time and time again. There is therefore a seaward flowing current set up under the advancing waves.

Kiwanis finds its origin in a word in one of the Indian languages—Keevanis. This may be translated in English, to make oneself known. In the Kiwanis clubs, it is interpreted as the accomplishing of worthwhile things. Their slogan is "We Build."
