Graduate Managers Oust Camera on Sidelines - 1932 Games Scheduled

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Despite a rising storm of protest from newspapers, graduate managers of the Pacific Coast conference, before adjourning late yesterday, barred newspaper photographers from the sidelines during football games.

A spokesman for the graduate managers said the ruling was made because photographers interfered with the view of spectators. Camera-men will be grouped on a stand in the seating section. Unofficially it was reported the action resulted because coaches, players and others had complained photographers interfered with their activities.

Protests have been made by San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers against the ruling principally on the ground that pictures taken from a stand in the seating section would not be adequate.

Graduate managers after discussing at length the radio broadcasting of conference sports, principally football, failed to take a definite stand but decided a committee of three should be appointed to study the situation and later report to W. W. Monahan, president of the body.

Action on the 1932 schedule and reelection of game officials were postponed until the meeting at Los Angeles July 27, 28 and 29.

1932 Games Scheduled The revised 1932 football schedule: Sept. 21—California vs. Santa Clara at Berkeley.

Sept. 30—Idaho vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles. (Night game.)

Oct. 1—California vs. Olympic club at Berkeley. Stanford vs. Oregon State at Portland. Montana vs. Washington at Seattle. Washington State vs. Southern California at Los Angeles.

Oct. 8—St. Mary's vs. California at Berkeley. Washington vs. Oregon at Portland. Oregon State vs. Southern California at Los Angeles.

Oct. 15—Washington State vs. California at Berkeley. U. C. L. A. vs. Oregon at Portland. Idaho vs. Montana at Missoula.

Oct. 22—California vs. Washington at Seattle. Southern California vs. Stanford at Palo Alto. Oregon vs. Idaho at Moscow. Washington State vs. Oregon State at Corvallis.

Oct. 29—Stanford vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles. Montana vs. Washington State at Pullman.

Nov. 5—California vs. Southern California at Los Angeles. Washington vs. Stanford at Palo Alto. Oregon vs. Oregon State at Corvallis. Idaho vs. Washington State at Pullman.

Nov. 12—Idaho vs. California at Berkeley. Washington State vs. Washington at Seattle. Oregon vs. Southern California at Los Angeles. Oregon State vs. Montana at Missoula.

Nov. 19—Stanford vs. California at Berkeley. Montana vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles. Oregon State vs. Fordham at New York.

Nov. 24—Southern California vs. Washington at Seattle. Washington State vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles. Oregon vs. St. Mary's at San Francisco.

Dec. 3—Washington vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

LA BARBA IS WINNER OVER BENNY PELZ

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP)—Pidel La Barba, Los Angeles, former featherweight champion, left handed his way to a six-round decision over Benny Pelz, Portland, here last night, before a capacity crowd at the auditorium. Pelz, with a weight advantage of seven pounds fought back gamely and showed to advantage in the early rounds. La Barba then changed his tactics and soon had the local boy missing vicious blows and at the same time played a tactful Pelz' face with his skillful left. Pelz' face was quite puffed at the finish while La Barba showed little indication he had been in a fight.

The return match between Johnny Hansen, Portland writer, and Tony Portillo, Seattle, was the feature of the card and fulfilled expectation it would be a battle royal. Referee Tom Louttit called it a draw which did no harm, although Hansen made a great finish in the sixth round, just as Portillo did in their previous match. The only knockdown came in the third when Hansen went down from a haymaker to the jaw. He crawled on his hands and knees to his corner to hear the advice of his second before getting up. This knockdown undoubtedly influenced the referee in his draw decision. Both boys were staggered with fierce punches throughout the bout.

Spears Suggests Oregon Change Its Name to 'Pioneers'

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP)—A more typical name for the University of Oregon athletic teams is sought, and if the move is successful the historic nickname of "Webfoots" may be discarded.

Writers in Old Oregon, alumni publication, and the Oregon Daily Emerald, student newspaper, have started a campaign for the dropping of the old name. Campus and town feeling is said to favor a change. Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach, has said several times that he thinks the name "Pioneers" would be much more appropriate for Oregon athletic teams.

Lauri Last Hope To Beat Greenleaf

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16 (AP)—Onorio Lauri, Brooklyn violinist, sensational and erratic, but always dangerous, was called upon today to halt the march of Ralph Greenleaf of New York, to another championship in the world's pocket billiard tournament. Greenleaf, runner-up to Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, and ten times holder of the championship from 1919 to 1929, remained alone of the 12 entrants in the tourney to be undefeated. Last night the New Yorker scored a victory over Andrew Ponzl of Philadelphia, in one of the oldest games in tournament history. Ponzl finished with a minus 14 score. He forfeited 16 balls on three consecutive scratches and had six other scratches while pocketing eight balls.

Dempsey Wallops Three Canadians

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 16 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, last night fought an easy four rounds in exhibition bouts with three Canadians. In the first two rounds he walloped Angus Macdonald, of Prince George, B. C., and Steve Trojack, Winnipeg, around the ring and at times had both of them wobbling. For the best part of the last two rounds he toped with Charlie Belanger, light heavyweight of Winnipeg, who stood toe to toe with him, doing his best to return some of the punishment from Dempsey's short left hooks. In the last minute, however, Dempsey opened up and slapped the smaller fellow around.

Japan's Climate Since Japan extends through nearly 50 degrees of latitude, it necessarily has a great range of climate. In the south the climate is sub-tropical; in the north it is extremely cold. The southern islands have high temperatures in the summer and no snow or ice in the winter. In the Kurile islands the snow and ice never entirely disappear. Kishuu and Shikoku have a moderate climate.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould (Associated Press Sports Editor)

Perhaps Tennessee has been keeping its great record "on ice" down around the Great Smoky mountains for these half dozen years, but the Volunteers exhibited a number of good reasons for their football prowess in the charity affair in which they trimmed New York university's Violets.

Gene McEver, who is known among his playmates as "Inkypoo" in the quaint manner of college boys, came to the Big Town for his first and last gridiron appearance, very well advertised.

So well, in fact, that N. Y. U. concentrated on watching him and neglected altogether to keep an eye on two agile young men named Featherers and Brackett, who promptly ran wild and stole the show, along with a roly-poly youth named Herman Hickman.

Hickman is the type of youth who would have gained a million dollars' worth of ballyhoo at, for instance, Yale or West Point. He would like to get an appointment to the military academy, he told me after the game in New York, and much more will be heard about him if he does.

He is short for his 208 pounds, but wrestling has helped develop his rare agility. He is fast, durable and good-natured. He was in all every play against N. Y. U., drawing the compliment from New York's Captain Connonan of being named the best lineman the latter opposed this year, but he was unmarked, in contrast to the bruises decorating the countenances of his teammates.

"I was just having a lucky day," laughed Herman when some one suggested he had made about 50 per cent of the tackles in the line. "It was a lot of fun."

"Lucky?" snorted one of his teammates. "Why, you were just having an average day, Herman."

Vois Welcome Travel—Tennessee would welcome more inter-sectional activity, says Major Bob Neyland, the tall, dark haired soldier who has directed the Vois through the last six seasons with only two defeats and four ties in 58 games.

"With West Point?" he was asked. "No, I think not," the major replied, "but we might book a contest with Fordham or some other leading eastern school."

Tulane Stops Everything—Some idea of how effective Tulane's defense has been most of the season is shown by the figures rounded up by the enterprising Mr. Horace Renegar of the Green Wave's staff, showing an average of around 55 yards gained by opposing every play against the well known methods of advancing the pigskin.

Until Washington State came booming along to do it the Tulane goal line had not been crossed in ten successive games by a rushing attack. All told only five touchdowns were scored by opponents in 11 games, while Tulane scored 52 touchdowns, an average of nearly five per game.

But It Is Not "If turnin' de laugh on a man who-nuff decided an argument," said Uncle Eben, "de circus clown 'ud be de greater oriver ever."—Washington Star.

Returning Stars Give Sophomores Tough Hurdle To Pass In Breaking Into Big Ten Cage Picture

By John W. Stahr CHICAGO (AP)—It looks like a tough year for sharp-shooting sophomores in Big Ten basketball.

In most Western conference camps there'll be an abundance of returning regulars to defy sophomore ambitions.

Two coaches will be able to put completely veteran quintets on the floor from the start; another has four 1931 regulars on deck, and five others each will have three of their last year's regulars available.

Unless new talent forces its way into the picture, Michigan and Purdue, both consistently high-ranking teams, could start in right where they left off last March.

But that's not to say they'll have any distinct edge on Northwestern, which ran off with the 1931 title with the record of 11 victories and one loss. The Purple is well fortified with replacements for two graduated regulars, Bert Ried and Frank Marshall.

Craig Ruby, whose Illinois team dropped its first five games last season and then sprinted to win seven in a row, the finale being the lone defeat handed Northwestern, has four highly-regarded regulars on hand.

Indiana, which slipped far from its accustomed place last year, hopes to get its now veteran team into higher gear, and Wisconsin, another perennial favorite which floundered, is pinning its hopes on a taller set of boys than Dr. Walter Meanwell has had for several seasons.

Dave McMillan, who was beginning to see gratifying results at Minnesota, was the heaviest sufferer from graduation. Three of the boys who helped the Gophers tie Purdue and Michigan for second place in 1931 are gone. Two veteran guards constitute the nucleus of the Minnesota team, which along with that of Iowa, appears the weakest in the conference.

Ohio State probably will miss Wesley Pesler and Dick Larkins from the hardwood court even more than it missed them on the gridiron, and Lew Hinichman is passing up basketball, but even so Coach Harold Olson has four letter-winners ready for action.

Chicago and Wisconsin will play their games in long-sought new field houses this winter. The Midway team has lost its star scorer and ace defense man in Sid Yates and Marshall Fish, and Coach Nels Norgren is still lamenting shortage of weight and height.

Dopesters at this early stage seem to like the chances of Purdue to give the title-defending Northwestern team the biggest argument. Coach Ward "Piggy" Lambert's team, led by the demon dribbler, Johnny Wooden, lacked only experience last winter. The whole "first eight" are on the job again, plus some of the average coming sophomores that the Hoosier high schools supply. Keller, Stewart, Forter, Parmenter and Fehring will be in Jumpin' Johnny's supporting cast.

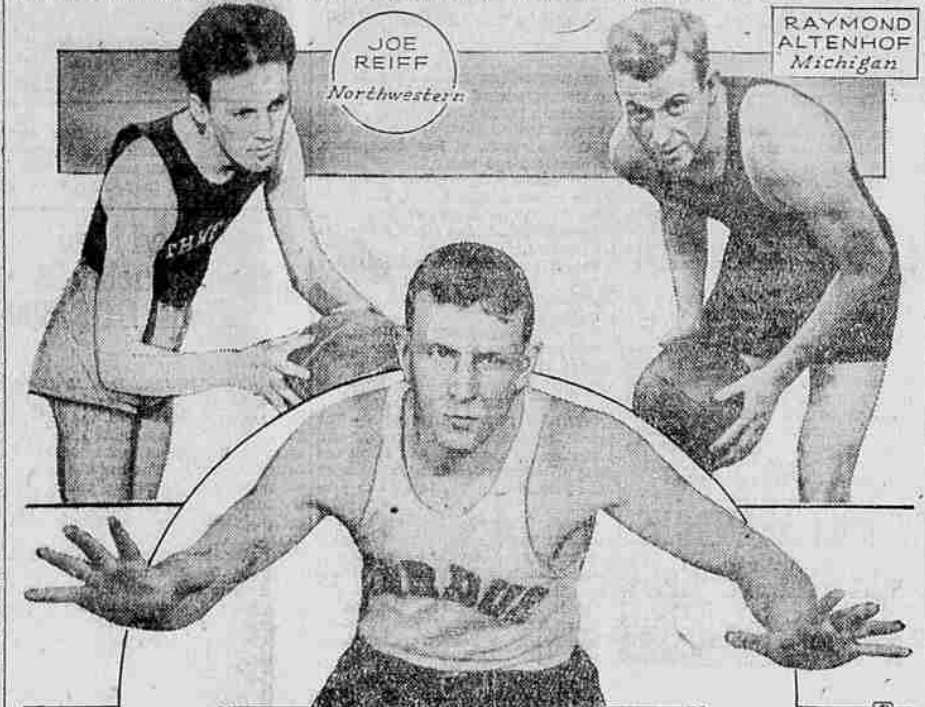

Franklin Cappon, the only new basketball coach in the loop, succeeds George Veenker at Michigan and falls heir to an excellent crop of veterans. The Wolverines' sole loss by graduation was Capt. Joe Downing, kept out of action all last season by a chronic knee injury.

Fetric, Weiss, Daniels, Altenhof and Williamson, all regulars, are available at Ann Arbor. Joe Reiff, who as a sophomore led the conference scoring parade in 1931, Bob McCarnes and Bus Smith are Coach Lonborg's returning vets at Northwestern, and Bob Lockhart, who shone as a soph but was laid up last year, also will return to competition.

The conference teams all play five "practice" games as warm-ups for the league season, which pits each team against six others on a home-and-home basis.

A special executive committee, the Republicans proposed, should handle affairs of both parties and direct the forces against the national dry law.

The meeting today made no agreement as to what type of change Roseburg, Salem and Eugene 32 and Wolf Creek 28 degrees.

A wealth of seasoned material throughout the conference promises a great race in the Big Ten this year. Among stars who'll hold ambitious sophomores on the sidelines are Joe Reiff, high scorer in the conference last year; Raymond Altenhof, Michigan guard; Johnny Wooden, Purdue's great dribbler.

Columbia Grid Actions Under Fire, Paper Says

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—The New York World Telegram said today that evidence of secret payments to Columbia university football players has been uncovered by a committee investigating the university's athletic administration.

NAVY SEEKS PLAYERS ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 16 (AP)—Navy is going out into the highways and byways seeking promising material for its football team.

Meeting in New York the naval academy graduates' association decided the time had come to interest prep school gridiron stars in matriculation at the academy. Long, lean years with no occasion for celebration because of victory and a possible return of Army to the regular schedule, was pointed to as the reason.

The association will send out speakers to prep schools to interest football players in Annapolis. It will seek to have available congressmen who will be willing to appoint these promising young players once accepted at the academy they will be required to maintain the regular scholastic standing. Navy coaches reappointed yesterday have expressed a need for players averaging fifteen pounds heavier than middle material in the past and the graduates are determined to provide it.

KINGSFORD-SMITH IN LONDON

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Air Commodore Charles Kingsford-Smith landed at Croydon airport this morning in his airplane, Southern Star, with the Australian Christmas mail. There were 50,000 letters in the half ton of mail he carried. He took off from Port Darwin, Australia, Dec. 3 and flew the 10,000 miles with two companions in 13 days. Only 22 fresh gridiron numerals at the University of Illinois this fall—the smallest number in years.

What's Wrong With Picture?

Notice a mistake in above photo? Why, Robert Moses Grove, baseball's greatest pitcher, has been converted into a righthander. However, Mickey Cowhrane, his famous Philadelphia Athletics, battery-mate, is still catching with the orthodox hand. The mits were given the pair by Tokyo baseball fans as souvenirs of an exhibition tour of Japan. The little slip-up regarding baseball's greatest southpaw doesn't seem to have spoiled their day.

WESTERNERS CONTINUE TO FIGHT MOSES

(Continued from Page One) O. K. JOHNSON RESOLUTION WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Johnson resolution calling upon Secretary Stimson to produce all notes exchanged with foreign governments relative to the Manchurian dispute, was reported favorably to the senate today by the foreign relations committee. An attempt was made to defer action on the resolution by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, pending a hearing by the committee of Secretary Stimson on the Manchurian situation. This move lost. The committee then agreed without a roll call to report the resolution. It would call for all notes exchanged with Japan and China and also for all notes and messages sent by this government to American representatives dealing with the council of the league of nations on the dispute. McFADDEN IS REBUFFED BY BEEDY, (MAINE)

(Continued From Page One) urging the house ways and means committee to act promptly on the debt suspension measure. Mills warned that any deviation by this country from the moral principles involved might be taken by other countries as an excuse to default payment of the debts. Undersecretary Mills of the treasury made the statement before the senate finance committee as a part of the administration's joint drive for action by the house and senate. His appearance was a little delayed, however, while that group settled a dispute over whether Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, the Republican who yesterday denounced President Hoover's moratorium action in the house, should be heard by it. He will.

McFadden was rebuffed by the adoption by 25 of his Pennsylvania house colleagues of a resolution expressing complete confidence in the president's moratorium measure, but declaring against debt cancellation. In the house Representative Beedy, of Maine, another Republican, called for an investigation to determine whose "machiatellian hand is behind" the speeches of McFadden. Secretary Stimson, urging the house ways and means committee to give its approval to the one year suspension of 1 1/2 governmental debts, said its purpose had been to stop a financial panic in Germany which had "threatened to spread to the business centers of Europe and this country." Stimson outlined the economic conditions in Europe at the time the moratorium was proposed, and said the sacrifice of France was larger than that of this country.

ANTI-PROHIB BLOC FORMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Sixty-four house Republicans today elected Representative Beck of Pennsylvania, to lead them in an anti-prohibition movement. Beck was instructed to select a committee to confer with Representative Lathicum, of Maryland, who heretofore has been chairman of the anti-prohibition bloc and who is considered the anti-prohibition leader for the Democrats.

A special executive committee, the Republicans proposed, should handle affairs of both parties and direct the forces against the national dry law. The meeting today made no agreement as to what type of change Roseburg, Salem and Eugene 32 and Wolf Creek 28 degrees.

COLD IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Dec. 16 (AP)—Rain and snow in the west part of Oregon was on the weather menu for tonight and Thursday. Continued cold was forecast. Sleet and freezing rain fell in Portland today as the temperature slipped to 28 degrees. It was sleet at Longview at 8 a. m. but otherwise precipitation over the northwest was limited.

Burns registered two degrees above zero last night. Baker was 4 above, Yakima 6, Spokane 10, and Pocatello 10 degrees below zero. Along the coast route temperatures ranged from 22 at Medford to 33 at Roseburg. Salem had 29, Eugene 32 and Wolf Creek 28 degrees.

City's Liberty Tree

The Providence (R. I.) Journal says that on July 25, 1700, the liberty tree of Providence was dedicated in front of Capt. James Olney's house, on Olney lane, now Olney street, by the Sons of Liberty. Among the lower branches a platform was built from which speeches were made. The tree was cut down about 1825.

It is estimated the 250 Rocky mountain lakes and streams of Glacier National park contain the densest trout population of any area on the continent. In 20 years the government has stocked more than 30,000,000 fingerlings of all varieties. A Gaylesville, Ala., high school football team scored 403 points against 13 for their opponents this season.
