Early Oregon Life Program Topic At Neighborhood Club

The early life of Oregon furnished an interesting theme for the program which the Grande Ronde chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the meeting of the Neighborhood club at the La Grande hotel. Mrs. P. S. Robinson, regent, Mrs. Robert S. Eakin and Mrs. E. E. Kiddle were the speakers.

Mrs. Robinson spoke on "Early Oregon Schools" in which she told of the first public school founded in 1832 at the fort which was attended by the children of Dr. John McLoughlin. What is now Willamette university, the oldest school west of the Rocky mountains, was founded in 1834. She said, "The rise of denominational schools was traced by Mrs. Robinson, beginning with the establishment of a mission at St. Paul about 1839 where a school for boys and a convent for girls were founded.

"Early Oregon Courts" were described by Mrs. Eakin who said the first legal action in Oregon was the settlement of a large estate left by a man having no heirs.

"Champong" was discussed by Mrs. Kiddle, Champong in the pioneer days, was a center of population and, therefore, was a site of much interesting activity, all of which gives it its present important position as pioneer headquarters.

Delphians Discuss Italian Painters

Four Italian painters, of the Venetian school, Titian, Giorgione, Tintoretto and Veronese, were the artists on which Mrs. L. L. Snodgrass, Mrs. E. E. Hurley, Mrs. Beatrice Young, Mrs. Lowell Williamson, Miss Sarah Williamson and Miss Ida McMeekin based their talks last night when the Delphian society met at the Sacajawea Inn. It was the last meeting of the year.

Titian, who was born in 1477, excelled in landscape and figure painting alike, in the sacred and in the profane, in ideal heads and in portraits, frescoes and oils, and was a general master of all. "The Assumption of the Virgin" is considered one of his finest pictures, as well as among the finest in the world, and it now hangs in the Academy of Fine Arts at Venice.

Tintoretto, born in 1512, was nicknamed "Il Furioso" because he worked with such enthusiasm and vigor. He was daring and passionate in imagination and sought to vary by dramatic movements the romantic motives of the Venetian school. He brought to perfection the poetry of Chiostro, a blend of black and white.

Giorgione painted "Salome Receiving the Head of John the Baptist" and his chief work of art is "Christ Carrying His Cross." He was born in 1477 and his paintings are noted for a firmness of touch and vividness of color.

Veronese, born at Verona in 1528, was influenced by the dignity of Roman painting, which made a pleasing combination with the imagination and spirit of the Venetian school. His mastery of detail is shown in the pictures which are to be seen in the church of San Sebastiano in Venice, both encaustic and frescoes, and in his great work "The Marriage Feast at Cana of Galilee."

Mrs. Finlay and Mrs. Palmer are hostesses for the second of a series of events planned by members of the loan fund committee, which is headed by Mrs. A. L. Gralapp.

Here's why they're FRESH!

CAMELS are never parched or toasted

THERE is of course a sound reason why the Camel Humidor Pack can deliver to Camel smokers a cigarette that is genuinely fresh.

Camels are made fresh to start with, fresh with natural moisture—blended of the choicest, delicately mild, full-mellow, sun-ripened tobaccos that money can buy.

The full natural goodness of these fine tobaccos is safeguarded at every step in their handling—they are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we can say with every assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

The delights of a genuinely fresh cigarette are so rare and desirable that Camel popularity continues to mount daily to new highs.

Test these delights for yourself—see what true freshness means in cool, slow-burning, delicate mildness—switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.
