Trotter's QUALITY CLOTHES SHOP

He'll never guess you paid as little as $5.85 for this smart flannel robe.

In 1925 only wealthy folks gave and received such a gift as this flannel robe. It is $5.85 now... it was many dollars higher then... and this robe has smarter designing... better fabric style.

A flannel robe makes such a wonderful man's gift that it should be at the top of your list... unless, of course, he has one... and in that case, we'd suggest luggage.

CULBERTSON AND LIGHTNER TAKE IMPRESSIVE LEAD

(Continued from Page One) strategic pass by Culbertson after Lightner had doubled in order for Culbertson to offer his best suit, and Culbertson's strength was mainly in the suit bid by Jacoby psychically.

Lightner's strategy was wrong once. He doubled a three no trump offering of Jacoby's and Jacoby jumped to four clubs, being set one undoubled. Had Lightner passed the no trump bid he and Culbertson could have taken the first ten tricks with the enemy vulnerable. Jacoby would have cost his side 1100 points. As it was he lost only 100.

Quiet Session Verbally

Bickering between opposing sides was negligible during play but before the session there was heavy verbal cannonading. It started with an interview given by F. D. Courtney, president of Bridge Headquarters, Inc., sponsor of the "official" system, who insisted that the match was not a test of the Culbertson and "official" systems. At first he was understood to say Lenx was not playing the "official." He withdrew that statement.

Culbertson jumped at the opportunity to say that an alibi for coming defeat was being prepared by his opponents and that Courtney was trying to destroy the idol of the "official" system. No little slams were made during the session. Each side tried one. Lenx went down three. Lightner down one. Lenx's slam effort was regarded by Culbertson as due primarily to the opening intermediary two bid of the official system. Here is hand, No. 306:

- Lenx (north): S-K J 8 5, H-A K 8, C-7, D-7 5, C-4. Culbertson (west) dealer: S-Q 10 9 6 2, H-9 6 5 3 2, D-7 5, C-4.
