Anniversary To Be Observed By Masonic Lodge

The anniversary of the marriage of George Washington and Martha Custis will be observed with a fitting program by the Masonic lodge in La Grande on Jan. 6, at 8 o'clock at the hall. George T. Cochran is general chairman and will have the assistance of the Blue lodge, the commander, the commodore and the Order of the Eastern Star.

National congress appointed a commission to arrange for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the first president. They decreed that the celebration should start at the first of the year and be followed by a continuous celebration throughout the year.

Sub-commissions were appointed for each state, with Wallace McCamant, of Portland, heading the Oregon commission, and they chose dates for celebrations throughout 1932, and requested all public bodies to hold fitting entertainments in observance of the days.

Jan. the anniversary of his marriage, Feb. 22, his birthday; April 30, the day Washington became president; June 15, his election as commander in chief of the continental army; Sept. 17, adoption of the constitution; and Oct. 19, surrender of Yorktown, are the dates set aside for celebration in the state of Oregon.

All the Masons of La Grande have joined for a program and social gathering, and Mr. Cochran announces that it will be held in conjunction with a reception at which the outgoing officers of the four Masonic branches will entertain the new officers. Music, tableaux of the wedding, and addresses will be included in the program.

Preparation was made for the program at a meeting of the Blue Lodge, No. 41 last night at 7:30 at the Masonic hall. Families and friends of all Masons are invited to the event.
