YOUNGER WOMEN

An authority on hygiene and physical development is author of the statement that women are younger today at forty than ever and, at all ages, are healthier than the women of preceding generations.

A generation or two ago the average woman of forty was a lady who wore a shawl across her shoulders while she sat by the fire and crocheted. She was well past the prime of life and was pretty well tired out.

Today the woman of forty looks to be thirty, plays golf and tennis and drives an automobile, engages in some pastimes during the evening, and then is down first to breakfast in the morning fresh and ready for another day, which would have been a killing pace in grandmother's day.

One of the causes for this extraordinary healthfulness of the modern woman is the change that has taken place in her mode of clothing herself. She no longer wraps herself up like an Egyptian mummy or loads herself down with pounds of heavy and superfluous raiment.

But has not woman's attitude toward herself contributed much to her transformation? Though a mother of several children she can now go in for various activities and dress youthfully without fear of criticism. The women of today are to be congratulated on the great advance step they have taken.

CANADA-UNITED STATES MIGRATIONS

During the early years of the great industrial boom in the United States, Canadian workers came across the border in such large numbers as to excite great alarm in the dominion, whose development and prosperity depended mainly upon a rapidly growing population. The United States was getting the men Canada desperately needed.

In 1925 the United States attracted 122,181 Canadians, and for several years after that the pull southward was nearly as strong. Although Canada was drawing emigrants from the United States at the same time, the balance of exchange always favored this country.

The extraordinary steps taken by the dominion government to check this exodus and to draw Americans to Canada, which were to some extent successful, have not been necessary since the industrial and agricultural slump below the international boundary. The United States is not now so much of a land of promise to Canadians, and there are opportunities for pioneering Americans in the Canadian Northwest.

During the first seven months of last year 13,641 Canadians returned to Canada, and also 10,000 citizens of the United States. The Canadian population passed the 10,000,000 mark last year.

These exchanges of citizens are beneficial to both countries. They assure continuous sympathy, understanding and peace between them and along that peaceful border that is the marvel of the world.

It is our suspicion that the black shirts, red shirts and brown shirts of Europe get their converts among those who have no shirts of their own.

WOOL REPORT

BOSTON, Jan. 15 (AP) — The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "There is a much better business in wool this week and prices are showing a strengthening tendency with some actual advances recorded. By-products are noticeably dearer."

"An early Easter evidently is stimulating the demand at the mills, which in turn are taking on fairly good weights of wool, especially of fine and half blood qualities."

"The foreign markets are fairly buoyant and some times against the buyer in the primary markets, while London keeps on with prices fairly steady throughout."

"Mohair is dull and prices are hardly more than nominal. There is some business being reported in kid hair in a limited way at unchanged rates."

The Bulletin also will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Oregon — Fine and f. m. staple 54-56; fine and f. m. Pr. combing 50-53; fine and f. m. clothing 45-47; valley No. 1, 49-50.

Mohair: Oregon 20-21. Domestic graded first combing 33-35; good carding 26-28.

EAST SIDE MARKET

PORTLAND, Jan. 15 (AP) — While offerings were limited during today's session of the east side farmers' wholesale market, they were in excess of what had been expected in view of the stormy period.

Practically all lines showed an active tone but with the exception of strengthening and some advance in the carrot and cabbage prices, little change in quotations was reflected.

Cabbage sold to $1.10 crate and was quickly moved at that for good stuff.

Carrots in a limited way sold 30c doz. bunches.

Celery was firm for limited offerings as were hearts. No change in the price.

Cauliflower sold at late prices with quality just fair.

Trading was moderate, but net gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous. The turnover approximated 1,600,000 shares. The closing tone was firm.

Farm implements were notably firm. Case pushed up about 3 points, and International Harvester half as much.

suming centers according to today's marketgram released by the U. S. C. extension service co-operating with the U. S. D. A. bureau of agricultural economics. Dairy Products Market Appears As Taking Rest

PORTLAND, Jan. 15 (AP) — Dairy products market appears to be taking a rest insofar as the movement of prices is concerned. Recent sharp lowering of practically all lines created more or less increase in consumptive volume and resulted in somewhat better undertone in the trade.

In regard to butter this appears more true than in the egg situation. The public is buying butter more freely than for many months. With some of the leading retailers selling the better grade stock down to 35c lb.—which is a very close margin, and leaves little profit — the public is showing its appreciation by purchasing two pounds where it formerly bought but a single pound.

Burdensome surpluses of butter are thus worked off and gives a market a chance to rest.

There was no change in the butter-fat situation for the day.

There remains a very weak tone in the market for eggs but no further price changes were forced during the Friday trade. Receipts continue heavy with independents causing further wreckage by selling to retailers.

More or less neglect was noticeable in the market for live chickens during the day. This appeared the result not only of the liberal supplies arriving, but the great increases due during the past few days.

Prices continue on a very easy basis in the dressed turkey market here with much the same situation reflected generally through the United States according to a late survey made by the Journal. Most of the local supply is moving to coolers with the lack of outlet.

While offerings continue fairly liberal and somewhat greater than expected, the increased call is causing fractionally higher prices for cabbage here. Shipping demand has been rather good.

Heavier catches of Columbia river smelt are reported by gillnetters but prices are held mostly at a nickel a pound here owing to the recent organization of fishermen.

With receipts from the Columbia very limited a wide demand is showing for fresh steelhead salmon with sales to retailers mostly 15 @ 16c lb. California appears much interested in offerings at the moment.

Abundance of Idaho and other winter mountain cheese which is offered at prices sharply below the extreme low level of the local product, creates further depression in the coast situation and especially in California.

Notes of wholesale trading: Lettuce market is again lower for all offerings with too much stuff in from the south.

Florida beans are being offered at 30c lb.

Eastern hothouse cucumbers offering at $2.75 @ $3.00 doz.

California artichokes are again fractionally higher.

Country killed veal, hogs and lambs unchanged. Few of the latter up to 11c lb.

Cabbage price is perhaps 1/2c lb. higher.

All citrus fruits are unchanged in price for the day.

Potato market remains slow, onions just steady.
