

OVER THE VALLEY

Phone: Mornings, Main 600 Mabel E. Morton, Valley News Editor Residence 1003J

Does Well—Mrs. Lee Chenault, of Catherine creek, who is patient at Hot Lake, is making a very satisfactory improvement. It is reported.

See Many Deer—Jay Breshars of Lower Cove, reports seeing many deer in the locality of his home. Of a band of 21 of the creatures, the first of the week there was not one buck, but seven fawns and 14 does. This seems to be true in all of the bands which have been seen. Lee Children of the same district reports having seen a band of 40 deer in the vicinity of his house. The animals are coming down from the hills, and outside of robbing the pastures of covered feed, they are doing little damage, so these men report.

Visits Sister—Mrs. Lizzie Patrick, of near La Grande, is making an extended visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Scott who lives at Muddy creek.

Does Well—Her many friends in this valley are interested in the progress made by Mrs. Stanley Armbits, who is in a hospital in Portland, and where it is reported she is doing well. Mrs. Armbits is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. West, of Pumpkin Ridge.

Broken Arm—Mrs. Mary Ruckman, of Imbler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ruckman recently fell and broke one of her arms. She was skating on roller skates at the time the accident occurred.

To Enterprise—Mrs. Lee Smith, of near Island City, has gone to Enterprise where she is visiting with her daughter, Miss Benita Smith. She made her visit at this particular time in order to attend the high school play "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which Miss Smith has been coaching.

Club Members to Compete—The second annual news writing contest for 4-H club boys and girls, sponsored by the Oregon State Editorial association, began yesterday and will continue until May 1. Although no definite check can be made on the number of clubbers who will compete for the prize, a scholarship to the club summer school in Corvallis in June, club reporters from many sections of the state have signified their intention of working for it. According to L. J. Allen, assistant state club leader, Earl Jolley of Washington county won the scholarship last year with a "string" of 116 inches of printed material. Leonard Nichols of Malheur county ranked second with 102 inches.

Banquet Plans—Mrs. Frank Wright, of the Valeria district, Pomona, is planning a banquet for the Pomona economics chairman reports that plans are moving along nicely for the banquet which is to be held on Monday evening, February 1, as a part of the program for the Eastern Oregon school for grange lecturers. All of the granges in the county are helping with the plans. Mrs. Wright and her committee formulated the menu for the banquet. The menu includes the L. D. S. recreational hall and the granges are furnishing the items included on the list.

HEPPNER MAN DESCRIBES PROCESS OF FEEDING WHEAT TO LAMBS; IS SUCCESSFUL

Feeding wheat to lambs is a subject which was discussed by R. A. Thompson, prominent sheep man of near Heppner at the recent meeting of the Oregon Woolgrowers association held at Pendleton. The theory seems to hold in some sections that wheat cannot be fed, uncut, successfully, but Mr. Thompson describes his plan, in detail as follows: "I will try and carry out the wishes of those arranging this program and tell you of my experiences in feeding wheat to sheep. While I realize that there are many factors which might come up that will alter all cases and change the results, in my opinion we should feed all of the wheat possible to our livestock, especially sheep. The difference between the so-called surplus of wheat coupled with the results we have obtained in feeding wheat to sheep is evidence enough to convince me that the feeding of wheat to sheep should be tried out by every one, following the advice of the Oregon State college extension service in so far as they care to make recommendations and under the best of conditions and good livestock management in addition.

On November 15 in 1930 we selected 300 Rambouillet lambs which were what we considered very common feeders, weighing 100 pounds, put them on wheat chaff and one pound whole wheat, 1-10 pound cotton seed cake for 30 days, then alfalfa and wheat and cotton seed cake for 80 days. After 110 days this entire group of lambs averaged 95 pounds and we shipped 35 to Portland and the balance to Chicago, where they sold higher than other lambs near their weight. Results of this trial were quite encouraging and I was determined to make further trials along these lines when the next opportunity presented itself. I had always been told that the feeding of wheat alone to sheep was very dangerous as it was apt to throw them off feed and that other harmful effects would come from it. Our experiences have been such that I do believe that this is true in every sense of the word and while it may have been luck on our part I believe that wheat can be fed almost 100 per cent in the diet if the proper precautions are taken for a full feeding period without many harmful results.

1500 Lambs Fed "On July 16 last, we put 1500 average run range lambs on uncut wheat which probably would have yielded from 4 to 7 bushels per acre on the average had it been harvested. These lambs were shorn before they were put on the wheat and only permitted to eat for four hours, however, on the fourth day they were turned in about 4:00 o'clock in the evening and left there until approximately 8:00 o'clock. The following morning when they were started on the trail to water which was some three quarters of a mile away. In the afternoon they were started back to the field at about 4:00 o'clock and left in the wheat over night. The surprising thing to me was that the

Have New Son—The birth of a baby son to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hug of Pumpkin Ridge the past week, was reported.

Visits—Joseph Scott, of near Elgin who has been so seriously ill for a long time, enjoyed a visit recently from his grand children, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scott, who live in the Rock creek neighborhood over the line in Baker county.

Returns Home—Mrs. John Dahlstrom has been enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. C. L. Scott, whose home is in Union. Mrs. Dahlstrom's sister, Mrs. Charles Meyer, is also visiting at her home in Union and with relatives in the valley. Mrs. Meyer will be remembered better, hereabouts as Miss Lola Scott. Since arriving at her old home she has announced her marriage to Mr. Meyer, a resident of Portland where she, too, has been living for several months.

Has Quilting Party—Mrs. E. B. Long, who lives north of Summerville, gave a quilting party one day recently and invited in Mrs. Wayne Park, Mrs. E. Sanderson, Mrs. Frank Woodell, of Summerville, and Mrs. C. Welch, of Imbler, to help her with the handwork, and to have a day visiting at the same time. At noon Mrs. Long served a sumptuous dinner and the men folks came to keep Mr. Long company, C. C. Welch, Art Weaver, Frank and Frank Woodell. All enjoyed the day immensely.

Home From Eugene—George Royce, who has been attending the university this year, returned home from Eugene recently. He has completed the winter term's work and will remain in the valley to help his father, Mike Royce, of Pleasant Grove, until after lambing season.

Pleasant Grove Grange—It seems as though Pleasant Grove grange can report only good times and wonderful meetings. At the regular meeting last Saturday evening, January 16th, fifteen candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the third and fourth degrees of the order. Glen McKenzie, Dale Standley and Rena Cheate's names were added to the list of twelve names sent in during December. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hulse, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Selk and Jack Sloss have applied for membership. Brother Wicklander, state deputy, and Mrs. Wicklander, Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdale, and several members of Blue Mountain grange were also present. Visitors are always welcome to Pleasant Grove grange. The home economics committee served lunch after the meeting. Old time dances are still proving enjoyable. They are given every Saturday evening excepting the first and third weeks of the month.

Another Sign—Before this last blustery spell we noted in these columns that squirrels had been out over in Lower Cove and a number of the residents of that neighborhood saw them. Now we learn that about the same time, they were having a play with the Hoopla place. The last stormy periods however put a quietus on further prospects of spring.

Entertaining Club—Mrs. Paul Berryman, who lives on what is called the "Glenn" place, between Imbler and Summerville, will entertain the members of the Priscilla Sewing club tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Visits Daughter—Mrs. C. F. Piesman, of the Grange hall neighborhood, is making a visit this week up in Wallowa county where she is the guest of her daughter, Miss Bethel, who is one of the county teachers.

Grandson Visits—Mrs. Ed Combes, of Summerville, has as her guest this week, her grandson, Arthur Sanders, whose home is in Elgin.

At Hospital—Her many friends and relatives in the valley will be interested to know that Mrs. John Neiderer, of La Grande, entered a hospital the first of the week and submitted to an operation on Tuesday.

Have Hard Walk—Monday, January 18, saw many children of the primary room of Pleasant Grove school, absent. The morning was very stormy and the roads proved almost impassable. Mr. and Mrs. Anabel Cantrel walked through the blizzard two miles to be present at school. These two are of the seventh and sixth grades, respectively. There are not many boys and girls who would do that. The Pleasant Grove region is most unfortunate in keeping open roads this winter. Anyone in the valley wishing to see "real" drifts need only to drive through this district along the new market road.

Alleged Aid—There were about 25 women present Thursday at the regular meeting of the Allee Ladies Aid society which was held at the home of Mrs. Everett Walker in the Valeria district. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Wainwright and Mrs. Frances Wells and Miss Emma MacAnish. Mrs. Ed Jasper, president, conducted the devotional, using several songs, led by Lena Fuller, with Mrs. Mayme Speckhart at the piano and Mrs. Jasper playing the violin. For entertainment the hostesses had arranged a number of contests which proved to be quite interesting, and the winners were Mrs. I. E. Chenault, Mrs. Harry Wells, Mrs. L. E. Standley and Mabel Morton. The afternoon was concluded with the serving of a tray lunch.

Club Programs—Members of 4-H clubs in the valley, their leaders and others who are interested in club work will be glad to know that next week over station KOAC a number of features planned especially for them will be given, and on a number of different evenings. Director Paul V. Marks of the extension service at Oregon State college, will speak January 25, next Monday, at the regular weekly 4-H club program over station KOAC on the subject of "4-H Club Work of the Extension." Other speakers on the program will be Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant state club leader, who will outline the 4-H club home making and home improvement projects, and Margaret B. Korlake, former prominent 4-H club member of Multnomah county, freshman at Oregon State, who will speak on the subject, "How 4-H Club Work Helped Me." Miss Korlake received the 1930 Union Pacific scholarship of $100 for the most outstanding 4-H club member in Multnomah county. An Oregon State campus 4-H club member will give 4-H club news from over the state.

To Remain Longer—Mrs. Frieda Fries, who is at the Hot Lake sanatorium, will remain there for two weeks, to undergo treatment. During her absence from home, Henry Fries is helping Leona and Bill with the chores.

Given Shower—Mrs. Herbert Speckhart and Mrs. Louie Standley, of the Union district, gave a very lovely shower Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Loren Tucker, as the Tucker home. There were forty women present who shared in a very happy afternoon and who brought Mrs. Tucker many very beautiful gifts. Included in the program which had been arranged, in addition to the social features, there was a song by Mrs. Chris Miller, violin music by Mrs. Clarence Gilstrap and Miss

Legumes Cut Costs Dairying

Concentrates required to balance grain hay in a dairy ration cost $162 more than the grain to balance a legume hay in computing the feed required to feed a herd of 20 dairy cows for six months on a dairy farm in Eastern Oregon. It has recently been reported. A grain ration was made up for a cow producing 40 pounds of milk per day to balance alfalfa hay, wheat and vetch hay, and grain hay. Ground barley, ground oats, bran and oil meal were used and figured at local prices. The grain mixture to balance the alfalfa hay cost eight and one-half cents a day, for wheat and vetch hay 11 cents a day and for grain hay, 13 cents a day.

Director's Experience Is Reviewed

Following announcements made early this week of the new director at the Eastern Oregon experiment station, to succeed the late Robert Withycombe, a bulletin from the extension service of the Oregon State college has been issued which gives information regarding the experience of the appointee, Dale Richards. Those who are especially interested in the station will be glad to have this information of the director-elect, who up to this time, is a stranger in this section of Oregon. The bulletin reads as follows: "In the selection of Dale E. 'Dick' Richards as superintendent of the Eastern Oregon branch experiment station at Union, stockmen of Oregon have been given a leader in research work who will start with an intimate knowledge of the state's livestock problems, believe men of the college staff here who are well acquainted with the new appointee. Mr. Richards will succeed the late Robert Withycombe as superintendent of the Eastern Oregon branch experiment station and the one primarily devoted to investigation of the problems of the cattle sheep and hog industries of the state. His appointment has been confirmed by the state board of higher education. Born and raised on a Montana stock ranch, Richards decided to come to Oregon for his college training in animal husbandry, getting his degree in 1916. He entered the service soon afterwards and returned to the college after the war to become instructor in the animal husbandry department. In 1920 Richards became county agent in Lake county, then went into the stock business for himself for a time, and in 1925 returned to county agent work in Grant county, where he served until offered his present position in his home state. While in Grant county, the heart of the Oregon cattle country, Richards sponsored a number of successful projects in co-operation with the stockmen, one of which was the introduction of an improved vaccine for control of the leg disease. No definite time has been set yet for him to take over the work at Union, but in the meantime E. L. Potter, head of the animal husbandry department, has gone to the Eastern Oregon station temporarily to look after the livestock experimental projects in progress there. Mrs. Richards is a graduate in the department of animal husbandry at O. S. C. They have two children of grade school age.

A SEASONABLE RECIPE

CORN OYSTERS One egg. One can corn. One teaspoon milk. One teaspoon baking powder. One teaspoon flour. Flour to make batter as for pancakes. Beat the egg well. Add the milk and salt. Add the corn and stir well. Add the flour and flour and baking powder and beat. Fry as cakes and serve with maple syrup.

Forecast Points To More Hogs Hog numbers and supplies of pork products in both the nation and the northwest are expected to show a substantial increase during the next 12 months, according to F. A. Givans, assistant extension economist. This trend is seen in the falling pork exports, decline in consumer purchasing power brought about by the depression, and continued low price of wheat and corn. For the year ending July 1, 1931, total exports of all hog products from the United States were the lowest since the year 1910-11, amounting to 44 per cent decrease in the exports of pork and a 39 per cent decrease in those of lard. While the number of hogs slaughtered in the marketing year ending Oct. 1, 1931 was smaller than usual, the decrease in the export movement was slightly larger than the reduction in slaughter supplies. A larger proportion than usual of the country's total pork production has been forced on the domestic market as a result of the reduced foreign outlet, at a time when consumer purchasing power was greatly reduced due to the decline of the general price level forced on the business depression. Consequently hog prices have been severely affected and averaged about a third lower than those of the previous year, despite a material reduction in the slaughter supplies. The movement of pork into domestic consumption channels has been relatively heavy since last August and storage stocks are about the same as a year ago. The relatively low price of corn and wheat since early in 1930 which has continued almost to the present, has made the feeding of these grains to hogs more profitable than selling for cash. Farmers respond to the favorable ratio between corn and hogs as they have in the past, there will be a material increase in the number of hogs going to market in 1932. This December pig survey of the federal government already indicates an increase of 19.7 per cent in hog numbers over the figures for the previous year.

LADD CANYON PERSONALS By Mrs. Charles Grandy (Observer Correspondent) LADD CANYON (Special) — Sickness is prevalent in the neighborhood. Portland, Jan. 23 (AP) — Demand for potatoes is very slow on the east side farmers' wholesale market. For the weekend season offerings were restricted but there was no keenness in the call. Prices remains sluggish at the low point. Onions are steady but show little snap in the buying. Spinach is steady to firm with only a scant supply of quality stock. Apple offerings remain liberal with low prices the rule. Bunched vegetables continue in favor at full prices with bulk stock equally firm. Squats are held steady; mostly 90c to $1.00 box.

OMAHA LIVESTOCK OMAHA, Jan. 23 (AP) — (U. S. D. A.) — Sheep 60; compared week ago: lambs 50 to 75c lower; sheep and feeders strong to 25c higher; culling bulks; fed woolled lambs 65.25 @ 85.50; feeding lambs 44.25 @ 44.85.

son, Earl William, drove over from their home in Union and spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ewin. The Get-together club had a very happy meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Pool Thursday afternoon. The attendance was small as there were only 12 members and one visitor, Mrs. Alta Winburn. Mrs. Alec Ferguson conducted an interesting contest, awarding Mrs. Elliot Austin the prize. The newly elected officers had charge of the meeting and the out-going officers had the usual treats (mints and candy) for the new officers and all those present. The placing of the afternoon was spent in picking quilts, social conversation and partaking of a lovely two-course luncheon, served by Mrs. Pool. Mrs. W. O.
