corporation" designed to give depositors in closed institutions some of their money without the long delays incident to receivership.

Among features of the Glass bill which seem to have encountered opposition is the restriction on the 15-day borrowing privilege, intended to curb the use of federal reserve funds for speculation.

Other provisions which have encountered objection would tend to increase the capitalization of the banks. Still another clause would transfer from the federal reserve banks to a central committee the authority over making foreign loans.

SIX-HOUR DAY BILL PASSED WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The house today adopted the Cresser resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate the feasibility of a six-hour day on railroads.

NOMINATIONS REPORTED WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate banking committee today reported favorably the nominations of Charles G. Dawes, Jesse H. Jones, and Harvey C. Couch to be directors of the reconstruction corporation.

Chairman Norbeck said the nominations probably would lie over a day and come up for senate confirmation tomorrow.

Meanwhile, a forecast President Hoover will turn to the far west for the third Democratic director of the corporation was made by Senator George.

George, after a conference with the chief executive, said he was "definitely disposed to think the president will go west for his choice."

SENATE INQUIRY CONTINUES WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate finance committee dug into the financial affairs of Cuba today and learned that a son-in-law of President Machado had a part in a $50,000,000 loan made to that country by the Chase National bank.

Carl J. Schmidlapp, a vice president of the bank, said $500,000 had gone to Jose Obregon as an official of the Chase company's Cuban branch for distribution to the banks that took part in the loans.

He said the relative of the Cuban president had only a minor part in negotiating the loan and denied he was employed for that purpose.

Herbert D. Brown, chief of the United States bureau of efficiency, testified a report he had made of conditions in Panama had been changed by officials of the National City bank. He said his report had pointed out a way by which the country could avoid borrowing, but that the bank went ahead and loaned it $4,000,000.

NORRIS BILL APPROVED WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate judiciary committee today approved the Norris bill restraining federal courts in the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes.

By 11 to 5, the measure providing for reaching revision of the federal statutes governing labor disputes and contempt proceedings was sent to the senate.

Five Republicans and six Democrats supported the legislation which hitherto has failed to get committee approval. Four Republicans and one Democrat opposed it.

The bill allows for trial by jury in contempt cases not occurring in a contempt case who is charged with an attack upon a judge in the newspapers or outside of the court room to demand trial by another judge.

For the first time a declaration of federal policy on labor is set forth. The bill would outlaw the "yellow dog" contract forbidding employes to join unions. The legislation has the strong backing of organized labor and has been in process of formulation over a period of years.

Those voting for the bills included: Senators Borah, Idaho, Republican; and Dill, Washington, Democrat.

MANCHURIAN NOTES IN SENATE WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The American government's diplomatic correspondence on the Manchurian situation, including expostulation against Japanese attacks on Chin-chow, was sent to the senate today in response to a resolution requesting it.

A hitherto unpublished memorandum to the Japanese government on October 11 said "the secretary of state cannot understand how the bombing of Chin-chow can be minimized or how it can be said to be of no importance."

The explanation given by the Japanese military authorities seems quite inadequate, it added. "The secretary of state is at a loss to see what right Japanese military planes had to fly over the town, thereby provoking attack, and to drop bombs."

SUPPLY BILL PASSED WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The house today passed the $175,000,000 making appropriations for the agricultural department and sent it to the senate.

Passage came a few minutes after the house had rejected a proposal to reduce by five per cent the personnel of the agricultural department.

As passed by the house the bill carried $176,408,814, over $10,000,000 below budget estimates and $60,000,000 below last year's appropriation.

An official at headquarters of the naval commander-in-chief at Portsmouth said the M-2 normally carries six officers and 48 men, but he could not say whether the full complement was aboard when she took the dive at 10:30 a. m.

state regulation is a farce if the utilities desire to make it so."

Thomas referred to the recent decision in the Portland street car case when his order reducing the 10 cent fare to 7 cents was thrown out by Judge O. P. Coshaw, master in chancery, appointed by the federal court after the Portland appeal from his decision to the district court.

"The street car company had the choice of two methods through which it could present its grievance," Thomas said. "It could appeal to the state courts and thence to the United States supreme court, or it could procure injunctive orders claiming confiscation from the lower federal court. The utility chose the latter course. As a result the commission was bound by the master's ruling which:

"First: Denied the commission's right to introduce the record taken before it.

"Second: Assumption and appropriation as a judge of a court each and every function of the commission which exercises a legislative authority.

"Third: Such rulings resulted in the case being tried on a different state of facts than the case before the commission and upon testimony in some points in direct conflict with the testimony of witnesses before the commission."

Thomas said that the California commission had also prepared a measure similar to the Oregon commission's bill, which Senator Hiram Johnson will present to congress. Some of the Oregon commission's proposals were included in the act.

Cowboy Music Is Featured At E.O.N. Assembly

A program of cowboy music, typical of the early days on the ranges of the west, was presented this morning at 10 o'clock at a student assembly at the Eastern Oregon Normal school.

The same program had been presented previously before the La Grande Neighborhood Music club. Mrs. George Birnie reviewed the origin and growth of cowboy music, placing it among the folk songs which are written by the people for their own amusement and entertainment.

Like all folk songs and legends, the cowboy songs have been evolving for many years, with new versions and new verses added so that it is difficult to trace the authorship of the original.

"Home on the Range" and "Press Along, Little Cowboy," two typical cowboy songs, were sung by a men's quartet, composed of George Birnie, Sherman Williams, Paul Knautz and E. E. Hurley, accompanied by Mrs. Birnie.

The Blue Mountain Wranglers were presented, featuring Raymond O. Williams and Kermit Ragain as soloists. Mr. Williams sang "When the Work's All Done Next Fall" and "Strawberry Road," while Mr. Ragain sang a sad and lugubrious number, "The Gamblers Blues." The Wranglers played a group of cowboy numbers with musical choruses.

C., to appear before the board of army engineers Monday, Feb. 1, to urge the development of the Columbia river by the federal government.

Mr. Peare expects to return this evening to La Grande.

Fresno Thallium Poisoning Case Fatal to Fifth FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 27 (AP)—One more death from thallium poisoning had mounted the total to five today, as autopsies uncovered the fact that 45 Mexican laborers had partaken of tortillas, containing the deadly substance for which there is no known antidote.

The fifth death occurred yesterday. Mrs. Nicholas Nunez, 32, mother of four children who preceded her as victims, succumbed at the Fresno county hospital.

Three more persons, all Mexicans, were taken ill at Tulare, and were found to have eaten tortillas made from the poison grain. They were Felicio Guerrero, 19; Mrs. Tony Blau, 42; and her 19-year-old son. Medical authorities held no hope for recovery of the three.

Seven of the persons afflicted with the poisoning are in a hospital here, while two more, who have symptoms, refuse to leave their homes. The remaining partakers of the lethal food have not as yet become ill enough to seek medical assistance, officers said.

It was announced that Dr. J. C. Munch, noted poison expert and consultant of the U. S. department of agriculture, had left Philadelphia, Pa., for this city. Officers of a firm of chemists with which Dr. Munch is connected declined to comment on the purpose of the trip.

"Is he," asked Paul Schenck of defense counsel, "living or dead?" "He is dead."

"Where did he die?" "He died at Bisbee, Arizona."

"At what age?" "He was 27 years old."

"Do you know the cause?" "It was reported to us he died a suicide."

"What was the common report in the family regarding him?" "It was generally considered by the family that he died insane."

He named, as had his wife, who testified before him, two second cousins of Winnie Ruth, one of whom died in an insane asylum at Peoria, Ill., and the other of whom, not now confined, was considered by the family to be "queer."

The elderly, grey-haired mother of Mrs. Judd laid the foundation for the insanity plea yesterday afternoon. Slowly, and with frequent outbursts of tears, the mother revealed the erratic career of her daughter which was climaxed with the alleged murders of two women who had been Mrs. Judd's closest friends.

Mrs. McKinnell laid bare family secrets—the youthful hallucinations of Mrs. Judd that she was a mother, her daughters' affairs with young men and the fact that there had been insanity within the family.

"The two major goals of my administration," the governor continued, "have been and will continue to be the development of cheap water power and the reduction of our tax levy until it is the lowest in the United States. The accomplishment of these objectives will stimulate industry, promote agricultural prosperity, relieve the present unemployment depression, attract commercial enterprises to our state and generally make for the welfare and prosperity of our people."

Willard L. Marks, president of the state senate, will be acting governor during Meier's absence.

solution has been demanded by Japan. By The Associated Press Two thousand American and British marines stood by to defend the international settlement at Shanghai today as five times that many Chinese soldiers were deployed to defend the city from Japanese occupation.

Word from Harbin told of a battle between Chinese factions near that Northern Manchurian city, giving alarm to both Russian and Japanese authorities.

Meanwhile, at London the British government gave serious consideration to the situation in Shanghai as the result of conversations in Washington between Secretary of State Stimson and the British ambassador.

By Morris J. Harris SHANGHAI, Jan. 27 (AP)—A force of about 3400 United States and British marines prepared today to take over the defense of the international settlement in Shanghai as approximately 10,000 Chinese troops were deployed, apparently determined to defend the city from occupation by the Japanese.

Late in the afternoon Japanese consular officials said a representative of Mayor Wu Teh-Chen called at the consulate and stated unofficially that a reply would be issued accepting the Japanese demands in their entirety.

At the same time, however, it was learned that Japanese authorities today began to evacuate their nationals from nearby places in the Yangtze valley.

The force of American marines numbers about 1200 and has been here since 1927 when Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist northern drive menaced Shanghai. The British have a similar force.

The United States troops began to erect barbed wire entanglements along the boundaries of the settlement during the afternoon. British and American authorities emphasized, however, that the action was "purely precautionary."

The Chinese forces showed a determined attitude to bottle up the city, and began open efforts to meet a possible invasion. They established military patrols outside the city in a long line entirely surrounding the foreign and Chinese areas. The line began on the southwest at the Garrison headquarters on the Whangpoo river, some five miles outside the city limits continuing in a northeasterly direction west of the city and terminating at Woosung where the Whangpoo empties into the Yangtze, enveloping Shanghai between the line of troops and the Whangpoo.

The number of troops was not accurately known. Estimates ran from 6000 to 15,000 but 10,000 was considered more nearly correct.

Authorities of the foreign settlement recommended foreigners to keep away from the roadways where the Chinese troops were patrolling and to stay within the settlement boundaries, feeling such restriction was desirable to prevent possible incidents such as the killing of Albert Porges, American express manager, last Sunday.

A peculiar problem of command arose in the settlement as authorities considered turning the control over to the marines. A mutual agreement places the command in such cases in the hands of the senior foreign defense officer, who at present is the Japanese Admiral Shiozawa.

settlement authorities considered him disqualified, however, because of his concern in the dispute, and hope was expressed that it would be possible to bring Admiral D. W. Taylor, commander of the United States Asiatic Squadron from Manila, or Admiral Kelly, commander of the British Asiatic fleet from Hongkong, either of whom is senior to Admiral Shiozawa, and thus solve the problem.

Barbed wire entanglements and sandbag barricades were erected throughout the afternoon by the Chinese, along the 15 miles of their line, and a few patches of trenches were dug. Except in a few places, where it passes 100 yards from the settlement, the Chinese line was a long distance away. At the spots where it is nearest a small stream separates the line from the settlement border.

Besides the various foreign military detachments in the settlement there is an international volunteer corps made up of Shanghai business men of all nationalities, including Chinese. These volunteers stood ready during the day to establish patrols in the foreign business quarter if the need arose.

The French authorities alongside the international settlement also indicated they were ready to protect their concession.

ECONOMIC BLOCKADE COSSIDERED TOKYO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Japan's tentative plans for dealing with China include the possibility of demanding that Nanking dissolve anti-Japanese associations throughout China, it was authoritatively stated today.

Such a step hinges apparently upon the outcome of the Shanghai incident, and it was said the Chinese mayor of that city probably would make a definite reply to Japan's demands by tomorrow night.

Among other measures, an economic blockade of Shanghai harbor has been considered.

JAPANESE, KOREANS CLASH HARBIN, Manchuria, Jan. 27 (AP)—Rengo news agency reported today that two Japanese, one of them an army officer, and 15 Koreans had been killed in anti-Japanese demonstrations in this vicinity.

Local authorities declared martial law, effective at midnight. A number of Korean homes near the Japanese quarter were attacked and their occupants beaten. All Koreans and Japanese in the city were being guarded by Japanese police.

TUNG CHAO WINS ENGAGEMENT TOKYO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Tung Chao, former ally of Marshal Chang Hsiao-ping, m. tomorrow to reply.

Liung, appeared to have won an engagement of Kirin, near Harbin. Rengo news agency dispatches said today.

During the engagement one Chinese faction brought down a Japanese scouting plane which had been flying over the area without participating in the battle. One of the men aboard hurried to Harbin and brought a crew of Japanese engineers.

They planted a mine under the wreckage of the plane and fell back. When the Chinese approached the engineers exploded the mine and 20 or 30 Chinese were killed.

Ting, it was said, has promised allegiance to the Japanese but asserted he has no intention of submitting to the Kirin provincial government headed by Hai Hsia.

It was said authoritatively that the Japanese are not considering sending troops to Harbin unless the trouble spreads and endangers the 6,000 Japanese who live there. The nearest Japanese forces are at Taisihar and Changchun.

1225 MARINES ON GUARD WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Behind the barbed wire entanglements surrounding the Shanghai foreign settlement are 1225 United States marine and officers, commanded by Colonel R. S. Hooker, ready to meet any eventualities should Japanese and Chinese troops clash.

The fourth regiment has been quartered at Shanghai since 1927. Other marines also are within call, at Peking and in the Philippines.

Admiral M. M. Taylor who has been mentioned for taking over the post of senior foreign defense officer, is commander in chief of the navy's Asiatic fleet at Manila.

Should the situation warrant, he may be asked to proceed to Shanghai on his flagship, the Houston. The navy has only one vessel, the destroyer Truxtun, at Shanghai. At Manila are 13 destroyers, a flagship and a tender. Five other destroyers are now in waters along the Chinese and Japanese coasts.

The navy also has seven river gunboats on its Yangtze river patrol.

NEW NOTE GIVEN CHINESE SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 27 (AP)—Kuramatsu Murali, Japanese consul-general Harbin, a new note to Mayor Wu Teh-Chen today demanding unconditional acceptance of the Japanese demand for dissolution of anti-Japanese organizations in Shanghai.
