Mrs. Bohnenkamp Is Hostess At Bridge-Luncheon

At a delightful bridge luncheon, the Clio afternoon club was entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Chuse Bohnenkamp. Luncheon was served at one o'clock at small tables, each of which had a lighted red taper as a centerpiece, carrying out a valentine motif.

Members and guests for five tables of bridge were present, and the high score among the guests was made by Mrs. William Siegert, while Mrs. R. F. Murphy received the club prize.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stange will entertain the Clio dinner club next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Founders' Day To Be Observed Here

Founders' day will be observed by the parent teacher associations of the city on Feb. 6, and a tea is being planned to be held from 2 to 5 o'clock, with Mrs. Frederick Gehring, president of the La Grande City Council, in charge. Chairmen are being appointed for sub-committees to handle the details, she announces.

A candle lighting ceremony will be one feature of the ceremony in La Grande, which is a part of a national celebration. The La Grande City Council has been functioning for seven years, although the organizations in the schools have been organized for a longer time.

So Ne He Club Planning Program

Plans for the year's entertainment were made and it was decided to devote the meetings during the coming year to craftwork at a meeting of the So Ne He club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Graham. Mrs. Graham was assisted by Mrs. Teresa Patten.

Mrs. Marie Childers will be in charge of the next piece of work which the club undertakes in its new program, at the next meeting in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Clyde Sullivan.

Mrs. Belle Devine and Mrs. M. L. Whitney were guests of the club yesterday and enjoyed the games which were planned for the event.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the afternoon.

Entertain Bridge Club Last Night

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young entertained yesterday afternoon at one of their homes. Eight are members of the group and enjoyed the event.

Prizes at bridge were received by Mrs. Weldon Vedder, first for women, and Otto Pieper, first for men. A two-course luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vedder will entertain next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at their home.

More Appointed To P. T. A. Positions

The ranks of room representatives of the Riveria school, who were appointed as an aid to the president of the parent teacher association and to the teacher, were augmented yesterday afternoon when they met at the home of the president of the P. T. A., Mrs. O. B. Maxam. The duties of the room representatives are social and include calling at the homes of the children in their rooms and keeping a record of the calls as well as the number of parents who join and attend as a result of their calls.

Mrs. Maxam announces that the following have been appointed for each room: first grade, Mrs. J. E. Lane and Mrs. Henry Pieper; second, Mrs. Leslie Sinden and Mrs. C. L. Davidson; third, Mrs. Grant Swalberg; third A, Mrs. G. W. Gibson and Mrs. Orval Green; fourth, Mrs. E. Z. Holman and Mrs. O. M. Huff; fifth, Mrs. Albert Neukirshner and Mrs. L.

C. Morehead; sixth, Mrs. Frank Plantery and Mrs. Clyde Sullivan; seventh, Mrs. L. L. Burnett and Mrs. George Livingston; eighth, Mrs. R. L. Kurtz and Mrs. L. V. Spicer.

The Riveria association had representatives at the publicity meeting held on Monday, and Mrs. Maxam announced today that the publicity record book committee is composed of Miss Marjorie Stein, Miss Imogen Russell and herself.

Mrs. Charlton Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. Denver Charlton entertained yesterday afternoon at one of the most charming events of the day when she had as her guests 12 members of the Helonala club. Bridge was played with Mrs. Harry Hanson and Mrs. Jack Oliver receiving the prizes for high scores.

Luncheon was served in two courses at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Will McClure will entertain in two weeks.

Ah Delth Club Is Entertained

Guests for two tables at bridge were entertained yesterday afternoon when Mrs. H. M. Bradshaw was hostess to the Ah Delth club at her home. Mrs. Roy Enberg received the prize for high score.

Flowers were used for decoration about the rooms.

Mrs. Bradshaw served a light luncheon at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. Bull will be the next hostess in two weeks at her home.

T-C Pinochle Club Meets Wednesday

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Tucker was the scene of an interesting party last night when Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gekeler entertained the T and C pinochle club. Prizes were received by Mrs. Gilbert Hunter and R. H. Smith.

Mrs. Gekeler served refreshments at the close of the evening's play in which 16 participated.

Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald will entertain at the next meeting on Feb. 10.

"Radio Program" Will be Featured

A mock radio program will be the entertainment feature at the next regular meeting of the Young Women's Educational auxiliary, to be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Methodist church. Miss Annetta Johnson is chairman of the program and will have a committee to assist her.

Leap Year Party Held At Church

Several of the young men of the Baptist church received proposals from the "fair sex" last night at the leap year party at which the Baptist Young People's Union entertained at 8 o'clock at the church. The entire party was planned to carry out the leap year idea, and a feature was the love letter which each of the 20 guests wrote in a contest. Other games were played, all of which were arranged by Paul Finlay.

Miss Alice Ketcham was in charge of the refreshments which were served late in the evening.

Societies Meet With Miss Adler

The Queen Esther-Standard Bears groups, home and foreign missionary societies of the Methodist church, enjoyed a delightful six o'clock dinner at the home of their president, Miss Genevieve Adler last night. Hostesses were Misses Edna Brown, Maxine Shellworth, Bernita Pierson and Miss Adler.

Jean McKennon played a piano solo which was followed by a talk on the Orient, by Lenora Headley, illustrated by pieces of Oriental art.

Another candy sale will be held in the church basement on Monday, Feb. 22, Miss Adler announced.

The next meeting is to be held Feb. 10, with Miss Arla Lawrence at the Sacajawea Inn. Miss Lawrence is leader of the group.

K. D. Club Meets With Mrs. Starmer

An informal afternoon of sewing and contents was enjoyed yesterday by members of the K. D. club when they were entertained at the home of Mrs. Minnie Starmer. Mrs. Oliver Crawford assisted the hostess.

Prizes in the contests were received by Mrs. Eula Webb, first; Mrs. Laura Winburn, second; and Mrs. Jack McGeehan, third. Refreshments were served after the games by the hostess and her assistant.

Two women were present, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Alta Winburn, Mrs. Hazel Winburn, Mrs. Ella Baker, Mrs. Blanche McGeehan, Mrs. Maud Neff and the hostess.

Mrs. Neff will be the next hostess on Feb. 10.

O. E. S. Begins Its Program of Year

The first regular meeting with the new officers at their stations, presided over by Miss Stella Bloch, added interest to the business session of Hope Chapter, O. E. S., last night.

An old-fashioned "sing," such as Oregon residents have enjoyed since pioneer days, was one feature of the program which followed. Mrs. P. S. Robinson was accompanist and E. R. Ringo directed the singing. The singing of an old time round added to the enjoyment.

Books by Oregon authors, which are in the La Grande public library, were exhibited by Miss Mabel Doty. Among the authors are several known to members. Novelists represented were: Sheba Hargreaves, Anne Shannon Monroe, Alexander Hull, Kay Cleaver Strahan, Edwin Marshall, Ernest Haycock; poets: Mary Caroline Davies, Hazel Hall, Grace Hall, Anthony Ewer, Ethel Homig Fuller, Howard McKinley, Corning, Sam Simpson, Joseph Miller, Edwin Markham; historians and journalists: John Horner, Ben Hur Lanpman, Harvey Scott, Fred Lockley, Philip Parrish; pioneer literature: Cummins, T. G. Geer, and Davenport; Oregon authors in the boys' and girls' department: Theodore Harper, Dan Poling, Alfred Powers, Sabra Conner. Two other books by Stanton Lapham, a former La Grande resident, and by S. Stephenson Smith, were also included in the exhibit which aroused much interest and comment.

Girls Make Choice Of Names, Symbols

Names and symbols were chosen by the members of the Dorian Camp Fire when they met yesterday at the home of their guardian, Miss Margaret Milne. The meeting was called at 4 o'clock with the following present: Misses Frances Millering, Dorothy Waldroff, Annette Turn, Nancy Rechlin, Fern Hungerford, Nancy Lee Lindsey and the guardian, Miss Milne. Miss Milne will be the hostess for the next meeting, the date of which has not been announced.

Kernels of Corn

The number of rows of kernels of corn ordinarily ranges from 8 to 20, with numbers sometimes running as high as 20 or more.

Pioneer Piano Makers

The first piano made in this country was made in Philadelphia in 1775 by John Behrent.

Bar Alien Actors? Hollywood Isn't Worried, But Such a Law Would Wreck Its Star Ranks

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If a law were enacted barring foreign players from the United States, a surprisingly large number of the biggest stars of Hollywood would join the unemployed army.

Movie celebrities who are crossing the screens every day in every city of the country never would have helped make Hollywood the world's film capital if legislation banning alien actors, such as is sponsored now by Congressman Samuel Dickstein, had been passed a decade or so ago.

Among the outstanding stars of foreign birth are Mary Pickford, Norma Shearer, Charlie Chaplin, Marie Dressler, Ronald Colman, George Arliss, Dolores Del Rio, Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Maurice Chevalier, Dorothy Mackall, Stan Laurel, Ramon Novarro and Lupe Velez.

There are several hundred others, prominent and otherwise, among the actors, directors, writers and executives who were born outside the United States.

The bill concerning actors, given to the house immigration committee for consideration, originally provided for exclusion of foreign musical artists. Representative Dickstein of New York, committee chairman, sponsored the amendment extending that ban to foreign motion picture and stage stars.

Because the business of entertainment always has been international, the thought of attempting to establish geographical boundaries affecting it amused Hollywood and especially its huge foreign contingent.

Arlliss To Defense
Few of the many foreign players here regard Dickstein's exclusion bill a matter to lose sleep over.

One, George Arliss, a British subject, came to the defense of his fellow-workers from his own and other lands.

Calling attention to the large number of pictures which have to be produced here every year, Arliss said he thought it would be a mistake to exclude all alien talent, and here's his reasons for so believing: "Although an experienced playwright," Arliss said, "is credited with writing 'the plays' of the stage, there are not enough good plays being written, or good stories invented, to supply the demand, and producers frequently have to fall back on the stars to raise interior material to commercial success."

"Hollywood needs more stars than the United States can supply, and the producers have to look abroad. . . . I trust Mr. Dickstein will remember that one imported star will create work for hundreds of domestic supporters who might otherwise be without work."

"This is apart from the thought," Arliss continued, "that possibly without new blood from abroad we might sink into a rut that would result in stagnation."

"Hollywood supplies the universe. It should be allowed to draw from the universe, almost every country of it."

England has the largest representation. In addition to Chaplin, Colman, Arliss, Miss Mackall and Laurel others include Reginald Denry, Claude Allister, Clive Brook, David and Ernest Torrence, Ralph Forbes, Leslie Howard, John Loder, Montagu Love, Victor McLaglen, Elissa Landi, Allison Skipworth, Colin Clive and Boris Karloff.

Mexicans in the movies include Miss Dol Rio, Miss Velez, Jose Mojica, Raquel Torres, Novarro and Armida. From France: Chevalier, Lily Damita, Renee Adoree and Jeta Goudal; Ireland: Tom, Owen and Matt Moore; Maureen O'Sullivan, Oreginton Hale and J. M. Kerrigan; Canada: Miss Pickford, Miss Shearer, Miss Dressler, Fifi Dorsay and Ned Sparks; Sweden: Garbo, of course, Miss Asther and Warner Oland.

Rumania gave the films Edward G. Robinson; Poland, Pola Negri; Denmark, Jean Hersholt; Germany, Miss Dietrich, Lil Dagover and Camilla Horn; Russia, Olga Lebedeff, and Hungary, Vilma Banky, Paul Lukas and Bela Lugosi.

Six-Mile Ditch Project Begun

new ditch water will replace the water formerly taken from the Love reservoir, which some years ago did not furnish sufficient water for the land. The land to be irrigated was included in the original Lower Powder irrigation district for which the present Thief valley dam is being built.

The Basche-Duncan ditch starts from the Thief valley dam and continues on down the river to the Baker-Cornucopia highway, six miles from the Love bridge. The new ditch will make contact with the old ditch at the highway, cross the road and continue down the south side of the highway to a point opposite the Love bridge.

L. R. Stockman, engineer in charge of the work, stated that the farmers will do the labor on the ditch, but will have the tunnel built under contract. The tunnel will cost approximately $10,000. The ditch will carry about 600 inches of water.

There is practically no frost in the ground so the farmers can plow the ditch at the present time.

No Rent, No Taxes In Havana Suburb; It's 'City' Built Up By The Homeless

HAVANA (AP)—Ousted from house and home in Havana, one still has somewhere to go.

The newest Havana suburb, "Barrio Cubano de las Yaguas," counts now some 400 houses and a total population of 1,170 persons, although its existence dates only from nine months ago.

As is the case with several similar but smaller settlements, notably that known as "Hegya y Pon" ("freely, come in and put it down"), the "Barrio de las Yaguas" is open to all who have been ejected from their homes for non-payment of rent.

This is the only requisite for residence certificate of ejido.

Four streets, named the Avenue of Independence, Avenue of the Widows, Avenue of Progress and Central avenue, run through the "city." And those streets are kept clean.

Tiny shacks, most of them built of "yagua," the fibrous tissue at the top of the royal palm tree, line the avenues. It is from the building material that the suburb takes its name.

Few of the residences are larger than four by five meters, although

Moon To 'Blot Out' Six Stars Of The Pleiades February 14

By Robert H. Baker
(Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois)

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—A fine opportunity to watch the moon occult stars will be offered on the evening of February 14.

In two hours' time during that evening the moon will pass over six of the brighter stars of the Pleiades in the western sky.

For observers at Washington this interesting spectacle begins shortly after 9 o'clock, when the first star disappears behind the dark edge of the advancing moon. It ends soon after 11 o'clock, when the last star of the cluster to be hidden appears again at the bright western edge.

But the scheduled times are different for different parts of the country. To avoid missing some of the occultations it is well to begin watching at an early hour. If a field glass is available, it can be used to advantage.

At nightfall on February 14 the familiar cluster of the Pleiades or "seven sisters" can be found a little way south of the zenith. The moon, then at the quarter phase, will appear to the west of the cluster, moving toward it.

In its eastward motion among the constellations the moon passes over its own diameter in about an hour, and it proceeds in the direction at right angles with the line separating its bright and dark halves. Keeping these facts in mind one can estimate roughly when the occultations will begin.

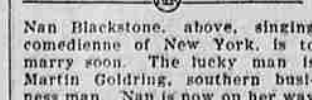

The stars will not, of course, disappear at the "ragged edge" of the moon. The poet who pictured a star between the horns of the crescent moon overlooked this fact. Such a sight can never be seen in the heavens.

The stars will disappear when the dark edge of the moon reaches them. An hour later, or less, they will come into view again at the bright edge.

It is interesting to notice that the stars do not grow dim and red as the moon approaches. There are no atmospheric effects of the sort that we observe in the setting sun. The disappearance is sudden. Thus we are convinced that the moon is not surrounded by an extensive atmosphere.

The sudden disappearance of stars behind the moon shows also that, despite their enormous sizes, they are reduced by distance practically to points of light. Otherwise they would fade gradually, like the sun in eclipse.
